AIR RACER CRASHES; 2 DEAD

...ALKER BEGS ...ITIZENS' HELP TO END GRAFT

Mayor Vows to Run Guilty Out of City.

New York, Aug. 27.—[Special.]—In the face of charges of graft and irregularity that have been piling up for many months, Mayor James J. Walker today called in the heads of more than one hundred civic and business organizations, admitted that graft was widespread and called upon them to help his administration stamp out corruption.

The mayor's talk followed a mystery announcement that invitations had been sent to heads of civic groups. Many of the invited guests, who knew nothing of the nature of the meeting until they heard the mayor's speech, mentioned the mystery by saying they knew nothing that they could do in response to the mayor's appeal for aid.

The mayor asked that the citizens aid in ferreting out corruption and bring the evidence direct to him.

Promise to Run Down Reports.

"If you will do that," he said, "I will put special investigators on the job. And I will guarantee to run the men who are guilty out of the service and out of the city."

While the mayor was talking official inquiries were being speeded up. The state attorney general's investigation of the case of former Magistrate George F. Ewald was expanded to include two Supreme court justices, a General Sessions judge, another member of a high court, and an additional city magistrate.

Roosevelt Authorizes Inquiry.

The attorney general, Hamilton Ward, is acting under authority of Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, who subpoenaed the Tammany district attorney, Thomas C. T. Crain, after the Crain grand jury failed to return indictments in the case.

At first it was understood that the attorney general's inquiry would confine itself to investigating the story that Mrs. Ewald had paid $10,000 to Martin J. Healy, Tammany district leader who resigned a few days ago as first deputy commissioner of plants and structures, to insure his appointment as magistrate by Mayor Walker. The mayor has denied that money figured in the appointment.

Although there is some doubt about the extent of the attorney general's power it is clear that he intends to delve not alone into the Ewald case, but any and all other judiciary appointments. All the ten jurists already under scrutiny are Tammany appointees.

Another Tells of Payments.

Jacob Clark, former city marshal, has testified that he also paid Healy $2,000 for his appointment. He declared today that his payment was only an incident in a plan of Tammany leaders to exact $100,000, or $5,000 apiece, from twenty aspirants for jobs as city marshals.

Clark brought the names of George F. Unger, John F. Curry, and John H. McCooey, comprising one of the most powerful triumvirates of the Tammany organization, into his story.

Guns of Gangs Blaze.

Gangland's guns spread death in Brooklyn again today. In the new outbreak of warfare between rival slot machine racketeers and in a personal feud, one man was fatally wounded and three others are lying near death.

Harry Hoffenberg, gangster, died this afternoon in the Coney Island hospital, refusing to reveal the name of the man who shot him. Hoffenberg was shot through the head as he was talking with three men in Villa Lewis restaurant, Coney Island. One of these three men, the police believe, was George Pallito, 19 years old.

Pallito was found lying wounded in the street in uptown Manhattan some time after the Brooklyn shooting. Police assert he was thrown from an automobile corresponding to the car in which three men rode away following the shooting of Hoffenburg.

...wo Men Are Killed in Indiana Air Crash

Rockville, Ind., Aug. 27.—(AP)—Albert J. McKay, 35, and Leland Burton, 26, of Indianapolis were killed today when their airplane fell 200 feet over the Turkey Run airport, near here. Witnesses said they believed Burton, who had intended taking flying lessons, was at the controls.

Editor, Pilot Die in Fall.

AMERICANS BEAT BRITISH ATHLETES, 9 EVENTS TO 5

United States athletes last night defeated Great Britain, 9 events to 5, in the international track meet at Soldiers' field. A crowd of 40,000, a record for Chicago, saw the Americans win all six field events and three relay races.

Pittsburgh routed Charley Root in the first inning yesterday and pounded Petty to whip the Cubs, 10 to 8, at Wrigley field. The Chicagoans held their five and a half game lead, as New York lost to Brooklyn. Score:

GIRL, 12, MISSING WEEK; MOTHER FEARS KIDNAPING

Twelve year old Mary Nartinka, next to the eldest of seven children of Mrs. Anna Nartinka of 2235 Clybourn avenue, has been missing for a week and Hudson avenue police have been unable to obtain any trace of her, it was learned yesterday.

The theory is she was kidnaped. She disappeared last Thursday morning. She and her 10 year old brother, Frank, had been skipping rope at the Wrightwood playground at Wrightwood and Greenview avenues. Her mother had sent for her to come home for luncheon. She told Frank she was going to the locker room to tidy up. She never came out. He waited an hour before starting search for her.

'PORTER' ORDERS SPECIAL CAR AND RIDES IN STYLE

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 27.—(AP)—Posing as a Pullman porter a Negro rode in style from Memphis to St. Louis as the sole occupant of a Pullman attached to an Illinois Central train yesterday.

Yesterday morning a man called the Illinois Central in Memphis.

"This is the assistant superintendent of the Pullman company," he said. "I want the Kescog attached to train 126. It will deadhead to St. Louis and a porter will go along."

The car was coupled with the train. A Negro who represented himself as a porter got aboard, rode to St. Louis, and left the train at Union station before his deception had been discovered.

Young Quits; Hunt New U.S. Reserve Head

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27.—[Special.]—Appointment of a financier of outstanding reputation as head of the federal reserve board is believed to be contemplated by President Hoover, who today was given his first real opportunity to exert his influence in its affairs.

Acceptance of the resignation of Roy A. Young as governor of the board was announced at the White House today. Mr. Young becomes the governor of the Federal Reserve bank of Boston at a salary much greater than the $12,000 compensation of the governor of the federal reserve board.

Letters made public by President Hoover and Secretary of the Treasury Mellon indicated that there was no discord surrounding the departure of Mr. Young, who has coöperated with the administration in its program in connection with the business depression and drought relief.

Succeeds W. P. G. Harding.

Mr. Young takes the post to which the late W. P. G. Harding, war time governor of the federal reserve board, was sent when the late President Harding wished to eliminate him from its affairs following the clamor over the board's agricultural deflation policy of 1920 and 1921. The Boston bank governorship has been vacant since the death of Mr. Harding some months ago.

President Hoover, it is believed, welcomes the chance to turn his attention to credit policies and thus take a more active hand in the financial situation, which, as a result of last fall's stock market crash, has proved the most distressing feature of his administration. Policies of the federal reserve board have been under fire as a result of its inability last year to prevent excessive stock market speculation and investigations are in contemplation in congress this winter.

May Have His Man Picked.

As he has done in a few other instances, notably in his selection of the $100,000 a year Alexander Legge for the $12,000 chairmanship of the federal farm board, the President is expected to make every effort to secure a conspicuous figure in American finance to direct the federal reserve board. It is considered possible that he may already have found such a man.

Suggestions that the President might name his close friend, Henry M. Robinson, Los Angeles banker, were discounted by the inhibition in the law which prevents the selection of two members of the board from the same federal reserve district. Adolph C. Miller, who has been on the board ever since its creation, comes from California.

The same clause eliminates S. Parker Gilbert, who recently completed his service as agent general of reparations in Germany. Mr. Gilbert lives in the same district as Edmund Platt of New York, vice governor of the board.

No Chance for Chicagoan.

Selection of a Chicagoan would be an impossibility, as the seventh federal reserve district, which embraces parts of Illinois, Wisconsin, Michigan, Indiana, and Iowa, is represented by E. H. Cunningham of Iowa, the "dirt farmer" member of the board.

Districts from which the President might select a new governor are those which center at Philadelphia, Cleveland, Minneapolis, Richmond, St. Louis, Kansas City, and Dallas.

Mr. Young was appointed by President Coolidge three years ago after Daniel R. Crissinger had resigned following controversy over the board's arbitrary action in forcing a reduction in the rediscount rate of the Chicago federal reserve bank.

Law Directs Choice.

Under the law the President, in making appointments "shall have due regard to a fair representation of the financial, agricultural, industrial and commercial interests and geographical divisions of the country."

President Hoover in accepting the resignation said that Mr. Young had "made a great sacrifice during the last three years."

"You have the right to feel that you have rendered real public service," said the President in a letter to Mr. Young. "You brought to the position of governor sound banking judgment based on many years of experience and a comprehensive knowledge of financial, industrial, and agricultural conditions throughout the country and of our national banking systems. In very difficult times you have performed the important duties of your office with excellent judgment, tact, and courage, and I shall find it difficult to replace you."

HIT BY STOCK CRASH, MINIATURE GOLF HAS REGAINED HER INCOME

New York, Aug. 27.—[Special.]—In the early day last fall when the financial slump sent stock prices to subbasement levels, Mrs. Gertrude Anderson of Sydney, O., who had retired as an executive of the Pioneer Auto Body company, discovered the source of her income had disappeared.

Last January Mrs. Anderson came to this city and took a job as an office worker in the miniature golf courses of America, which maintained a small office in West 42d street. Within six months she had risen from the position as stenographer, bookkeeper, and general office assistant in an obscure business to the secretaryship of a corporation, which supplies the country with materials for putting and slicing on miniature greens.

Mrs. Anderson now has a private office and is the "czar" of the financial arrangement of a business that grew within a few months from obscurity to gigantic proportions.

NAVAL OFFICER AND SPECTATOR KILLED; 12 HURT

35,000 Spectators See Tragedy.

A navy pilot and a spectator were killed and 12 other persons were slightly injured yesterday when the pilot's plane fell 50 feet to Curtiss airport at the close of a race in which the navy pilot was taking part.

The accident occurred in view of 35,000 race fans watching the program of the fifth day of the 1930 National Air races. It was the first serious accident of the race meet.

Falls Clear of Stands.

The plane fell fifty feet from the end of the bleachers at the south end of the field and landed in an open space between two concession booths. The fact that all were watching the finish of the race and saw the falling plane in time to run to safety prevented further casualties. The dead:

The injured, all of whom were treated by the Chicago Rapid Transit company hospital unit physicians, found to be only slightly hurt, and sent home, are:

Stanley Adams, 206 22d avenue, South Chicago.

Mrs. Stanley Adams, 206 22d avenue, South Chicago.

A. B. Bash, 5670 Ridge avenue.

George Good, 3543 Douglas boulevard.

C. Gustafson, 3853 Palmer avenue.

J. R. McCloy, 4353 North Ashland avenue.

Mrs. J. R. McCloy, 4353 North Ashland avenue.

Eugene Odenwald, 1427 Elmdale avenue.

Mrs. Rae Odenwald, 1427 Elmdale avenue.

Mrs. A. L. Reddeford, 703 Jackson street, River Forest.

Leif Wallam, 3956 West 72d street.

De Shazo was one of the 17 "Red Rippers" who took part in the race for navy planes around the triangular course at the race field. It was a spirited race in which the navy planes fought for position on the pylons. De Shazo was third to finish.

Lieut. D. S. Cornwell was first to cross the finish line and following him was Lieutenant Commander J. H. Campman in second place. As the commander of the group finished he brought his plane up into a steep climb and began to turn east away from the race course.

Turns Plane Over on Back.

De Shazo, following close behind, rolled his Wasp-powered Boeing fighter over on its back as he crossed the finish line as a salute to the crowds. Just as he reached the inverted position he was apparently caught in the slip stream of the propeller of Campman's plane pulling up ahead of him.

Navy officials and pilots who saw the crash said it was apparent that the blast of the plane ahead tipped the wing of De Shazo's ship and, because of his inverted position and his nearness to the ground, the pilot was unable to right his plane again.

The plane, turning over on one wing, landed on its back and a moment later burst into flames. The pilot was killed instantly. Winert, who was conducting a concession stand during the races, was apparently struck directly by the plane.

5 Killed, Three Hurt as Train Smashes Auto

A small sedan, bearing eight persons home from a cemetery visit, was demolished by a freight train late yesterday at 111th street and the Baltimore and Ohio-Chicago Terminal railroad tracks, 4 miles west of Mount Greenwood. Five of the occupants were killed outright and one is expected to die. The dead are:

Mrs. Anna Sawicky, 35 years old, 2251 South Halsted street.

Olga Sawicky, 8 years old.

Emily Sawicky, 3 years old.

Mrs. Magdaline Grozinski, 40 years old, 5346 Shields avenue.

Fear Girl Will Die.

Mrs. Sawicky's third daughter, Ruth, 11 years old, suffered a skull fracture, internal injuries, and a broken leg and has but slight chance of recovering, according to surgeons at the Little Company of Mary hospital.

Mrs. Grozinski's husband, Joseph, 47 years old, also a grocer, who has been blind for many years, suffered a possible skull fracture. He may recover. With his son, Frank, 11 years old, who escaped with minor injuries, Grozinski was taken to the St. Francis hospital, Blue Island.

The sedan party and six others in another car, including Cicenas' wife, had spent the day at a family picnic in Palos Park and, returning home, stopped to pray over and decorate the graves of their dead at St. Kazimeras cemetery at 111th street and Crawford avenue.

Accident Is Mysterious.

Police and the train crew said the accident was inexplicable. The sedan, after leaving the cemetery, was moving east on 111th street about 5 p. m. and the tracks ahead were plainly visible across the open prairie for a half mile either way. The crossing is protected by a flash signal and a gong. The train of 70 cars, being handled by the Indiana Harbor Belt line, was chugging south about 30 miles an hour.

"I saw the sedan coming and, from its moderate speed, I believed the driver would have no trouble stopping at the crossing," said the engineer, George Vaughn. "Although I whistled three times I saw before we struck them that the crash was coming. I gave the brakes every ounce of pressure that I had."

An instant before the crash the grocer tried to swerve his car, but the locomotive struck it broadside. The train's momentum carried the wreckage half a mile down the track.

Auto Toll Rises to 651.

These five deaths and one other increased the county motor toll this year to 651. Robert Schmidt, 65 years old, 5008 North Ashland avenue, a lithographer, was struck by a car as he crossed Ashland avenue in front of his home. The motorist, Frank Schuyler, 1503 Bryn Mawr avenue, took him to the Edgewater hospital, where he died.

Walter Sewiski, 52 years old, 3234 South Racine avenue, died yesterday at St. Theresa's hospital in Waukegan as a result of injuries incurred on Aug. 22 in an accident near Grays lake in Lake county.

Walter McWane, 35 years old, described as a chauffeur for Charles V. Barrett, Republican leader and chairman of the board of review, was killed yesterday when he fell from the running board of a moving automobile at Phelps, Wis., according to an Associated Press dispatch.

Train Crushes Auto; Four of Family Killed

Plattsburg, N. Y., Aug. 27.—(AP)—A passenger train that ploughed into an automobile at a blind, unguarded crossing north of here tonight killed four persons. The dead are Mr. and Mrs. Harold S. Labounty of West Chasey, N. Y., and their 12 year old daughter, Ruth, and Mrs. Albert Labounty, their daughter-in-law.

LINDBERGHS IN OHIO ON WAY TO RACES HERE

Famous Flyer Due at Field Today.

BY ROBERT WOOD.

News that Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh were on their way to the races in the monoplane they flew on their record coast-to-coast flight is expected to attract additional crowds at Curtiss airport today. Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh landed at Columbus, O., early last evening and are to take off early today for Curtiss field.

When Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh hopped off from Hasbrouck, N. J., yesterday afternoon it was reported that they would make Chicago their day's destination. This report was broadcast to the air race crowd, and throngs stayed on the field until dark in hope of seeing the famous colonel and his wife.

Germans Arrive Saturday.

Capt. Wolfgang von Gronau and his three companions in the Dornier-Wahl plane in which they have just flown from Germany expect to arrive around noon Saturday, adding to roster of famous visitors at the races.

Giving one of the chief thrills yesterday, Col. Arthur C. Goebel, last of the five flyers in the Los Angeles-Chicago nonstop Derby, set down on Curtiss field at 5:31 p. m., while 35,000 cheered. However, his time of 9 hours 21 minutes and 9 seconds was 13 minutes slower than the time set Tuesday by Wiley Post of Oklahoma City, who was declared the winner of the $7,000 first prize money.

Goebel was awarded second prize of $4,000, and Lee Schoenhair of Akron, O., speed record holder, was third.

Five Only 49 Minutes Apart.

Only 49 minutes separated the five contenders, all of whom piloted Lockheed cabin planes streamline, with tin pants on their wheels and engine cowlings, indicating that all kept close to a direct route over the 1,760 mile journey.

"I kept Post's elapsed time in mind all the way across, but I couldn't keep up to it," Gobel said on landing. "I fought head winds almost all the way and was forced to wander about considerably trying to get through several thundersqualls. I lost most of my time in a storm 300 miles west of Chicago."

William S. Brock of the famous flying team of Brock and Schlee was fourth and Col. Roscoe Turner of Hollywood was fifth.

Cancel 2 Women's Events.

Two women's events, a cabin plane race and a dead stick landing contest, were canceled from yesterday's program for lack of entries, although there was no lack of women flyers parading in the crowds, who are kept wondering what each new day will bring forth in the line of women's flying apparel.

Of interest to air race followers yesterday was the sportsman pilots' race for planes of approximately 150 horsepower. The winners in this spirited race were pilots whose flying is only a hobby. Finishing first in the 25 mile race was C. B. Allen, aviation editor of the New York World, who stepped out of the press box for a half hour to fly his Bearwin Kenroyce around the pylons.

Flying high to take advantage of a westerly wind, he won his race on the turns. Hoot Gibson, cowboy movie actor, flying a Swallow, was second, and C. B. Burmood of Moline, Ill., was third. Allen's average time was 110.02 miles an hour.

Ban Stunting Over Crowds.

The foolhardy flying over the crowds was stopped yesterday. Race officials banned all stunting over the stands, which has proved a sure hit for the flyers who mistake dangerous flying for skillful piloting.

The Frenchman, Marcel Doret, in his brief performance yesterday was told to stay out over the race field and away from the crowds. Lieut. R. L. R. Atcherly, got a good hand for his skillful handling of his Lincock fighter in inverted flight. His inverted falling leaf, one of the latest wrinkles in stunt flying, and one of the most difficult, was adjudged masterful flying by pilots who know something of the delicate handling needed for such a performance.

Pietro Colombo, the Italian army star stunt flyer, was seen in a series of steep turns and complicated maneuvers, which were the more commendable because of the fact that his training ship is much slower than the planes of the other flyers on the international team.

Flight of Diesel Plane.

New and different in yesterday's offerings were the flight of a Diesel powered airplane, the first demonstra-

August Shoe Sales End in Three Days

Farmers' ears are small. Some are even worse off and haven't any. In fact, the corn crop this year is the smallest since 1901. The drought has also ruined pastures and the water supply. And steers, sons of cows whose business in life is to grow fine physiques, do it on corn, grass and water. The live stock authorities say that many half developed steers will have to be marketed for lack of sustenance. For one thing, that means the hides of steers won't grow as large as usual, and therefore shoe leather will be less plentiful. Well informed opinion is that higher shoe prices are certain. And with the tariff now working on imported shoes, cheap foreign footwear can't be sold here. Prices are not up at the Chicago stores. The regular prices have been cut sharply for the August sales. For three days more, unusual bargains are to be had in footwear.

It's a good time to buy shoes.

STOP AT COLUMBUS, OHIO

Columbus, O., Aug. 27.—[Special.]—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh arrived in Columbus tonight from the Peterboro airport near Englewood, N. J., on their way to the national air races in Chicago. When Col. Lindbergh landed in Columbus he was in a jovial mood.

He jumped from his special Lockheed Vega plane and flung a greeting to the airport attendants, who rushed to aid him.

The Lindbergh baby was getting along fine, both the parents quickly assured the reporter.

The famous flying pair declined to make any definite announcement about their trip to Chicago tomorrow morning, saying that they probably would take off for Chicago about 10 a. m. They said they probably would land at Curtiss field.

While in Columbus the Lindberghs occupied the President's suite in the Deshler Wallick hotel. The plane was ordered to be serviced and ready at 8 a. m., airport officials said.

Delayed by Business.

Col. Lindbergh had originally arranged to go to Chicago last Monday, but business matters necessitated a postponement.

MASTER TO HEAR ARGUMENTS ON EVANSTON FILMS

The question of whether Evanston will have Sunday movies was referred to a master in chancery yesterday after Circuit Judge David Brothers had heard a petition for an injunction to enjoin the police from interfering with the Sunday shows. The petition was filed by the Union Bank of Chicago, receiver for the Varsity Theater building, an Evanston motion picture house.

After a recount of the ballots cast in last April's referendum it was found that the movies had won by 56 votes. The city council, however, failed to amend the city ordinance under which Sunday shows are banned because Mayor Charles H. Bartlett held that the slender margin of 56 votes was not sufficient to permit changing the law.

Arguments on the petition will be heard next week by Master Julius Meiner. Mayor Bartlett said Corporation Counsel William Lister will be instructed to oppose the petition.

AIRMAN FINED FOR FRIGHTENING BASEBALL CROWD

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 27.—(AP)—Hugh O'Daniel of Buechel, an aviator, was fined $50 in County court here on a charge of flying his plane at a low altitude over a baseball game near Shepherdsville. O'Daniel denied a charge that he was sent to break up the game because fly balls had been knocked into the Watterson flying field. Baseball bats and stones were thrown at him when he flew over the diamond, he said.

Polish Flyer Killed on First Lap of Military Air Race

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WARSAW, Aug. 27.—Three Polish and one Czech planes crashed today on the first lap of the Little Entente aerial circuit inaugurated from here this morning. Only the observer on one of the Polish planes was killed owing to his becoming entangled with his safety belt. All the other flyers landed in parachutes. Poland, Rumania, Czecho-Slovakia and Jugo-Slavia each entered six military planes. The first lap was from Warsaw to Belgrade, a jump of about 564 miles.

Cafe Near Air Race Field Raided by Drys; One Held

The Lake Avenue tavern, Glen View, said to have enjoyed a lucrative trade since the air races began, was raided by prohibition agents yesterday. Charles Klein was arrested. The raiders said they found beer and whisky.

Pierces Haze at Formal Dedication.

Boring into the early autumn haze that hung thick above the city, the mighty Lindbergh air beacon shot its blue-gray beam into the skies at 9 o'clock last night, on President Hoover's signal, and began its official service to night flyers. Short ceremonies on the roof of the Palmolive building, the beacon's station, preceded the President's touching of a button in the White House.

World famous aviators were present. Others, including Admiral Byrd, wired their regrets, but Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, the ex-airmail pilot whose name is perpetuated by the light, was not present and no communication from him was read.

Invited by James Simpson.

At the dedication, it was reported that Col. Lindbergh was actuated in absenting himself by a desire to avoid reporters and news cameramen. He was invited here in a long telegram sent last Thursday by James Simpson, a negative reply being received two days later. Members of the committee sponsoring the celebration were told of the Lindbergh attitude by his secretary, it was said.

A dinner was served at 8 o'clock last night on a terrace below the aluminum covered steel tower that supports the powerful beacon and a lesser light beneath it which points to the municipal airport. Attending it were Rear Admiral Moffett of the navy's air forces, Maj. Gen. Frank Parker, Sixth corps area commander; Sir George Hubert Wilkins, the explorer; Capt. Fritz Loose of Germany, who is here for the air races, and many others whose names are known in aviation.

Charles S. Pearce, president of the Colgate-Palmolive Peet company, welcomed the guests and presented Merrill C. Meigs, chairman of the civic committee in charge of the dedication. Meigs in turn introduced City Attorney William D. Saltiel, who accepted the light in behalf of the city. The speechmaking closed a few seconds before 9 o'clock.

All Eyes on Light.

Lights were dimmed on the lofty roof and all eyes turned to the tower above, topped by the light platform which stands 602 feet above the street. Just at 9 p. m. a bell tinkled.

From the platform two beams of light shot out through the murk. Above, the immense two billion beam candle power lamp cut its dark blue swath through the haze in a reflected ray sixty inches in diameter. Below it, the eleven hundred million candle power light, thirty-six inches in diameter, but weak in comparison to its brother, was trained on the municipal air port and will remain fixed to point the way for night air visitors.

For a few seconds the big light was held stationary, pointed to the southwest, then it began a leisurely turn, touching the loop skyscrapers as it went. The new Merchandise Mart, already blazing with lights, was given added brilliance by the beam; the Mather tower loomed out of the darkness as the shaft brought it into view, and a degree or two further east the beam gilded the flag staff of the Tribune tower and illuminated the mosque-like dome of the Medinah Athletic club.

But it was no night for a display of the light's power, the engineers said. In good weather it is claimed that the beam will be visible to aviators 250 miles away and will form an aerial guidepost for all of Chicagoland.

Built and presented to the city of Chicago by the late Elmer A. Sperry, the gift commemorates, in the words of the printed program, "the heroic flight of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh from New York to Paris on May 21, 1927."

LOOK FOR NEW LIGHT

Chicagoland last night kinked its neck for a view of the Lindbergh beacon, whose upper beam sends a finger of light across the sky. But sightseers on the top of a six story building at Michigan City, 35 air miles across the lake, reported they were unable to distinguish it.

Pilot David L. Behncke of the Boeing Air transport, flying the United States mail in from Omaha, arrived at the Municipal field at 9:40 p. m. He was about 100 miles out when the light was turned on, but he did not pick it up until he had arrived directly over the field, which is 13 miles southwest of the loop.

Climbing to the crow's nest of an 80 foot observation tower at the Curtiss airport, Glenview, twenty miles northwest of the loop, Maj. Schroeder reported that the beam was visible, but—

"It is canted too high. It should be lowered," he said.

The major was put into telephone communication with the electrician in charge of the light and was informed the upper beam was at an angle of 2 degrees plus.

"It should be placed at zero," said the major. "Otherwise when it is needed most it will be useless. Flyers coming into Chicago in heavy weather through a blanket of mist or fog hug the ground. They are never higher than 300 feet. At such an altitude they would never be able to pick up the beam."

Tests will be conducted tonight to correct the incident. The light will be turned full on Curtiss airport and Maj. Schroeder, at the other end of a telephone, will inform the operators when it is at the precise angle to perform its best service for airmen.

Brief Glimpses of Aviation Notables

Capt. J. O. Donaldson, winner of last years "Rim of Ohio" Derby, flew in from Newark, N. J., in his Travelair, and met Paul Bear, Chicago pilot, for the first time since they went to ground school together at Cornell university. Capt. Donaldson was a captain with the 32d squadron in France and has eight enemy planes and one balloon to his credit. Bear was with the 14th squadron in the French section of the front and had seven planes to his credit.

G. S. de Shazo of Washington, brother of Lieut. J. P. de Shazo, the navy flyer who was killed, heard an announcement broadcast over a radio which gave the number of the plane wrecked, although the name of the pilot was not then known. De Shazo, recognizing the number of his brother's plane, wired officials of the navy here to wire him the condition of his brother.

Lieut. Curt Prillwitz, German ace, now at Detroit, flew in and plans to take part in events Saturday and Sunday.

Ralph Barnaby of Washington, who dropped out of the dirigible Los Angeles in a glider at Lakehurst, on Jan. 31, attended the races yesterday. He learned how to fly in 1909 on a glider of his own construction. He is here with Mrs. Barnaby and his stepson.

Rob Osborn, designer of the Curtiss Tanager which won the Guggenheim safety contest, flew in from Roosevelt field.

Flight Lieut. R. L. R. Atcherley, British flyer, met an old friend yesterday, Lord David Burghley, who is here with the British empire track team.

Mrs. Anna B. Hays, mother of Mrs. May Haizlip, who was injured on her way to enter the Dixie Derby when she crashed, arrived yesterday from St. Louis to see her daughter take part in women's contests during the races.

Igor Sikorsky, who as a young man built planes for the czar, and was a contemporary of Anthony H. J. Fokker, was seen at the field yesterday talking to Eric Nelson, army around-the-world flier.

Results of Air Race Contests

Chicagoland flyers scored in the contests at Curtiss field yesterday at the national air races. Art Chester of Joliet won the men's balloon bursting contest. Bart Stevenson of Moline, Ill., was first in the men's 275 cubic inch race; C. B. Burmood, also of Moline, was second, and John Livingston of Aurora was third. The results of the contests follow:

Primary duration glider contest—Won by W. R. Burken of Maywood, in a Waco; time, :1:04 1-5.

Soaring plane duration contest—Won by P. C. Skeels of Herkirmer, N. Y., in a Bowles; time, :2:16.

Men's dead stick landing contest—First, Danny Fowler of Morris, Ill., in a Monocoupe, 8 feet from the flag; second, Lieut. W. A. Krantz of Cincinnati, O., in an Aeronca, 21 feet from the flag; third, Art Davis of East Lansing, Mich., in a Waco, 24 feet from the flag.

Men's balloon bursting contest—First, Art Chester of Joliet, in a Travelair; time, 25 4-5 seconds; second, J. B. Storey of Kansas City in a Kenroyce, time 26 1-5 seconds; third, H. Neumann of Elmhurst, in a Travelair, time, 40 3-5 seconds.

Men's 275 cubic inch cabin race—First, Bart Stevenson of Moline, Ill., in a Monocoupe; second, C. B. Burmood of Moline, Ill., in a Lambert Radial; third, John Livingston of Aurora, Ill., in a Lambert Radial. Winner's average speed, 114.4 miles per hour.

Men's open ship race [450 cubic inch]—First, W. G. Moore of Kansas City, Mo., in an Inland Sport, Warner powered; second, Les Bowman of Hempstead, Long Island, N. Y., in a Waco F, Kinner powered; third, C. W. Meyers of Cleveland, O., in a Great Lakes, Cirrus powered. Winner's average speed, 128.85 miles per hour.

Civilian sportsman pilots' race—First, C. B. Allen of New York, in a Bearwin-Keuroyce; second, Hoot Gibson of Los Angeles, in a Stallow; third, C. B. Burmood of Moline, Ill., in a Monocoupe. Winner's average speed, 110.02 miles per hour.

United States navy race [Boeing fighters]—First, Lieut. D. S. Cornwell; second, Lieutenant Commander J. H. Campman; third, Lieut. J. P. De Shazo. Winner's average speed, 125.69 miles per hour.

Los Angeles to Chicago nonstop Derby—First, Wiley Post of Oklahoma City; second, Art Goebel; third, Lee Schoenhair. Winner's elapsed time, 9:09:04.

Parachute jumping contest—Won by R. D. Rae of East Lansing, Mich., who landed 72 feet 8 inches from the flag.

avenue, waiter in a refreshment stand, saw the falling plane and shouted for a number of women standing by to run. He was struck a glancing blow by the wing of the plane, but was not injured.

Crowds swarmed to the scene of the accident, but were held back from the flaming ruins of the plane. The field fire department extinguished the flames and the injured were taken to first aid stations. The injured victims had been struck by small parts of the plane or burned by hot oil which splashed into the crowds as the plane crashed.

Hold Inquest Today.

Coroner Bundesen and Deputy Coroner Reed Landis, in charge of aircraft accidents, immediately ordered that the bleachers at the south end of the field opposite the finishing pylon be removed and banned all stunting by planes finishing races.

A double inquest will be held at Glen View this morning. A jury was impaneled last night and Dr. Bundesen stated that he would personally preside at the inquest.

An hour after the navy pilot crashed Fighting Squadron 5 went into the air to take its scheduled place on the program. Lieut. de Shazo's plane was missing fro . the formation.

Cousin Tells of Ambition.

Lieut. de Shazo realized his boyhood ambition when he enrolled at the naval academy at Annapolis, his cousin, J. L. Cross, 5514 Kenwood, said last night.

Mr. Cross said he grew up with Lieut. de Shazo and his two brothers on their father's farm at Montevallo, Ala. As boys, each of the three De Shazo brothers longed to grow up to be army or navy officers, and each of the three attained the goal, Mr. Cross said. The other two brothers, Thomas and Sidney, were graduated from the United States Military academy, while Jack chose Annapolis.

The boys spent their early life on the farm, "hoeing cotton and eating watermelon," Cross said. Their mother died in their early youth, making it necessary for them to take care of themselves while helping with the farm work. Their father died later.

Mr. Cross said the brothers were en route here to take the body back to Montevallo for burial beside the father.

NATIVE OF ALABAMA

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27.—[Special.]—Lieut. Jack de Shazo, killed at Curtiss field, was born in Bridgeton, Ala., in May, 1901, and graduated from the naval academy in 1925. Later he served on the battleship New Mexico and with the east coast destroyer squadrons. After his sea duty Lieut. de Shazo was assigned to the Pensacola flying school, where he studied aviation and combat. He was assigned to the 5th flying squadron, U. S. S. Lexington, aircraft carrier, Dec. 6, 1928, after completing his course at Pensacola.

He joined the Caterpillar club in 1929, when he was forced to descend in a parachute into the Pacific. De Shazo was one of the most famous stunt flyers in the navy, and for the last two years he has been a member of the trio of battle fleet stunt flyers known as the "Unholy Three."

De Shazo's home is at Montevallo, Ala.

SOLDIERS FIGHT PICTURE TAKERS AT CRASH SCENE

Illinois National Guardsmen made violent but unsuccessful efforts yesterday to keep newspaper and news reel photographers from securing pictures of the fatal crash during the air races at Curtiss airport. The guardsmen laid hands on cameramen of two evening newspapers. The plates of a TRIBUNE photographer were wrested from him but later returned.

One news writer, who has also held a lieutenant's commission for five years in an observation squadron of the National Guard, saw five guardsmen attempting to jerk a news reel camera off a truck and ordered them to stop. The reporter was attacked.

Unsuccessful efforts were made to reach Maj. Gen. Roy D. Keehn, commander of the guard. The newsman-lieutenant who was slugged declared he would file charges against the guardsmen for assaulting him.

WOMEN PILOTS AIR GRIEVANCES AGAINST RULES

Hope to End Debate Over High Power.

By KATHLEEN McLAUGHLIN.

The torrid temperature predicted for the initial business gathering yesterday of the "99" club of women pilots at the Drake hotel turned out cool as a summer breeze. Instead of the bickering that had been rumored the "fly-birds" indulged in a session aptly described by a feast of reason and flow of soul, followed by a luncheon at which they positively cooed.

Individually, statements of various members indicated, it remains a moot point among them as to whether women should be permitted to pilot high powered planes, especially in racing events. But officially the "Nine-Nines" remain silent on the topic. Behind a resolution adopted from which they succinctly intimated, that the public could draw its own conclusions.

Committee to Be Named.

Briefly, the resolution provides that a committee be appointed to confer with the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce of the United States, to make recommendations covering the competitions for women in the 1931 national air races. Exactly what the recommendations will be is left to the committee.

"Restrictions imposed on the women entrants by national officials," averred one of the famous aviatrices, who was unwilling to be publicly quoted, "undoubtedly have held down the number of feminine pilots entering the events here. One technicality after another has been leveled against us. It isn't that we're peeved at any one. We're not. If we can't compete, we won't—that's all.

"But when there are only twenty women transport pilots in the first place, as against some 10,000 men, it hardly seems fair to keep barring more and more of them on one pretext or another. It seems like anything but progress.

"For instance—last year there were only about thirty women pilots who could have competed in the national derbies, and nineteen entered. This year, under the rules laid out, 200 were eligible, but only twelve signed up. You can draw your own conclusions."

The conclusions, it was obvious, would be that women pilots were not satisfied with the conditions of the contests applying to them.

Amelia Earhart, America's premier aviatrix by reason of her Atlantic flight, was disinclined yesterday to discuss these matters, but did reiterate her belief that women, given the same opportunities and experience as men, were fully as capable of piloting any horsepower plane.

Miss Earhart Tells Stand.

"Quite a lot of the difficulties involved in these air races as regards the women entrants has been laid at my door," she smiled, "though I don't think I felt any different about it than other members of this club. But perhaps Louise Thaden and myself have been more vocal than other members. Next year we hope everything will be settled so that women will get a better show in the contests, and aviation for women generally will be much accelerated.

"You see the viewpoint of the woman is tremendously important. Because if mother doesn't want father or the rest of the family to travel by air—they just won't. We've got to make women airminded. And it's important to remove as many obstacles as possible in order to encourage that touch."

Special Race Monday.

It was pointed out by Mrs. Gladys O'Donnell that the race officials have arranged a special $5,000 sweepstakes for the women for Labor day, in which all types of planes and powers of motors will be eligible.

Mrs. Louise Thaden of Pittsburgh presided at the meeting as national secretary. There is no president of the "99" club, she said in correcting the statement that it was headed by Miss Earhart. It is ruled by a board of governors from various sections of the country. The governors present yesterday were Mrs. Marjorie Lesser of Albany, New England states; Jean La Rose of Kansas City, midwestern; Mrs. O'Donnell of Long Beach, southwestern; Mrs. Edith Foltz of Portland, northwestern, and Mrs. Dorothea Leh of Allentown, Pa., mideastern.

Eight members of the "99" club went to the air last night in one of the larger passenger planes for a few spectators of bridge up among the clouds.

Canada Parliament to Hold Session to Help Jobless

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 27.—With the avowed objective of providing against unemployment and revamping Canada's economic structure, the Canadian parliament will open its emergency session on Sept. 8. The date was officially announced by Acting Premier Sir George Perley today.

WOMEN FLYERS DEMAND FULL FREEDOM OF AIR

PIONEERS OF AIR RECALL HEYDAY OF PUSHER PLANE

Early Birds Tell of Old Days.

The pioneer days when Newton's law held greater terrors for flyers than it does now were recalled yesterday when more than 100 Early birds —men and women who risked their lives in the pusher planes, box kite crates of aviation's infancy — assembled at the Congress hotel for their annual convention.

The meeting held in conjunction with the air races brought famous flyers and aircraft designers from coast to coast. All of them learned to fly during the first ten years of aviation, or before the world war.

Mrs. Floyd Smith, wife of the parachute designer, told of her leap in a 'chute back in 1912, the second woman of record to attempt this feat.

Tells of Parachute Leap.

"I had one of the old attached type of parachutes," she said. "We were in Los Angeles and the jump was made 650 feet above the harbor. My weight broke the cord of the 'chute, but it didn't open until I had fallen 350 feet. I thought I was going to land in the water, but I managed to manipulate the 'chute over to an island. A movie man was so excited he forgot to turn the crank."

Maj. George E. A. Hallett of Detroit, selected as pilot of the Curtiss-Wannamaker flight to Europe, which was called off because of the war, was one of the Early birds.

"I probably wouldn't be here if we had ever started on that flight," he said. "We had a two engined flying boat called the America, and when I think of the preparations made today for Atlantic flying, I shudder at our temerity. It gave me a thrill, though, when Lindbergh made the crossing."

Miss Stinson Is Speaker.

"There was no windshield or cockpit and the pilot perched on a stool in the open," she said. "The two rear propellers were chain driven and a 30 horse power engine supplied the power. Forty miles was the speed."

Among the Early birds present were Earle Ovington, first air mail pilot; Capt. Horace B. Wild, "first Chicago flyer"; Anthony Fokker, designer of the Fokker planes; Walter Brookins and Frank Coffyn, first pupils of the Wright brothers.

GETS COURT WRIT TO TIE UP GIFTS HE GAVE WOMAN

An injunction restraining Miss Mary Clark, 30 years old, of 1157 Diversey parkway from disposing of an automobile, two diamond rings, and a mink coat given to her by James Becker, an employé of Sears, Roebuck and company, was granted yesterday by Circuit Judge David Brothers. Becker, who is 46 years old and lives with his 90 year old father, said in his petition that he met Miss Clark a year ago when she invited him to go riding in her auto.

3 SAILORS TELL WEIRD TALE OF ESCAPE FROM A SINKING SCHOONER

Atlantic City, N. C., Aug. 27.—[Special.]—Three weather beaten sailors out of Halifax staggered out of the surf at Atlantic City this morning, told a strange and incoherent tale of a sinking schooner, from which they had rowed and swum sixteen miles to reach the beach.

Coffee and food were given to the men in police headquarters, where a retelling of their story sent coast guards for boats on the way to open sea and the floundering Francis T.

At last accounts the search for the craft and the four remaining members of the crew supposed to be on board was still under way.

The sailors said they were part of a crew of seven men on the schooner, bound for Bermuda, when a terrific storm lashed her, opened her seams, and flooded her hold.

Hours of toil at the pumps followed, and then the trio took the only dory to row to shore in search of help.

That was the last night. Through the long hours they rowed through the tumultous seas until the dory capsized. They swam for shore, with little hope of making it, they said, and after what they think was eight hours in the ocean they staggered up on the beach.

START $800,000 LAWSUIT AGAINST BORDEN COMPANY

The præcipe of an $800,000 damage suit charging violations of the Clayton anti-trust act, was filed in the federal district court yesterday against the Borden company and the Borden Farm Products company, milk distributors.

The suit was filed on behalf of Mrs. Hilder F. Ellison Peterson, widow of the founder of the Clover Leaf Milk company, Carl M. Ellison.

Thorwald and Gunnar Gregersen, former officials of the Clover Leaf company, also are made defendants. According to a statement issued by Attorney Francis W. Marshall, Ellison left his share of stock in the Clover Leaf concern to his widow. The lawyer charged that the Gregersens and the Borden company then conspired and exerted "moral duress" upon the widow to sell her stock for $535 a share, while it was worth $1,000 a share.

Attorney Marshall said the Borden company absorbed the smaller concern, eliminating competition and creating a milk monopoly.

An Opportunity
One of California's oldest and largest manufacturers of a staple food commodity is increasing its organization strength. The kind of additional man power it is seeking is suggested below:
Merchandising Manager in Charge of Consumer Distribution
His primary interest will be building brand strength and good will. He must be thoroughly familiar with consumer merchandising; understand its demands and opportunities; able to organize and direct sales campaigns, including detailed crew work; accustomed to dealing with difficult buyers and bringing them into cooperation with the aid of the broker. In a word, one who knows how to build sales volume under brand strength. The task is big —compensation will be commensurate.
If you feel confident you possess the necessary qualifications, write frankly and fully. Your communication will be held in strict confidence.

SHIP AND SCOW COLLIDE, SINK; 2 MEN MISSING

New York, Aug. 27.—[Special.]—The Mallory line steamship Neches, a 2,609 ton freighter, was sunk in the lower bay at the entrance to the Narrows, near Fort Wadsworth, at 11:05 tonight after she had been in collision with a mud scow, which also sank. Capt. L. P. Estes of the Neches went down with his ship and an unidentified barge man is missing.

Twenty-five of the 26 members of the crew of the Neches were known to have been saved, 21 of them by the police launch Gypsy and four by two coast guard cutters.

Another Chapter Is Added to the Saga of Kid Weil

Whether or not the trail of Joseph R. (Yellow Kid) Weil has meandered into Elgin developed into a debate yesterday, with Herman W. Hecht, automobile dealer at 54 North Grove street, assuming the negative. He has been trying for a month to recover $3,000, it was disclosed.

"I don't want any publicity," said Mr. Hecht. "I wasn't victimized. Four men came to my agency to talk about buying a car, and that's all I remember. They doped me. When I came to, my $3,000 was gone."

Chief of Police Frank J. Ramsey of Elgin said the records at the station showed no report had been made of the loss.

"This is the first I've heard of it," he said. "I am amazed."

Mr. Hecht visited the Joseph H. Jones Insurance company, with which he has theft and burglar insurance. An official of the company said he was given to understand that "Hecht was looking for Kid Weil."

After a reporter had questioned him for some time yesterday, Mr. Hecht suddenly made the cryptic remark:

"Well, I'm not the only one in Elgin. I know one business man that's out $5,000, and another $7,000."

George Lutz, veteran aid of Weil, walked from the courtroom of Judge John A. Sbarbaro yesterday a free man, because Joseph Kindleberger, Kalamazoo, Mich., manufacturer, would not appear to prosecute him. Part of the $15,000 said to have been taken from Kindelberger by Weil and his associates has been returned to the manufacturer, it is reported. He has been threatened with prosecution on a charge of compounding a felony.

Assistant State's Attorney Frank Mast told Judge Sbarbaro that every effort has been made to induce Kindleberger to help put Weil back into the penitentiary, but that he had refused to coöperate. Weil was only recently released from the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, and at that time he vowed to "go straight." At the state's attorney's office it was said that no legal method had been found of forcing a resident of another state to prosecute a criminal in Illinois.

Another complaint against Weil, that of Fred H. Bartels, Glen Ellyn grocer, was not issued because the complainant failed to appear in court to sign the application for a warrant. He reported that he was defrauded of $4,000.

Suicides in England Show Slight Gain; 4,980 Last Yr.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 27.—Suicides in England have shown a slight increase. According to the registrar general's statistics issued tonight 4,980 persons committed suicide last year, against 4,882 for the previous year. Gas poisoning took 1,285 lives; drowning, 875, and hanging, 876.

GERMAN FLYER SEES REGULAR OCEAN FLIGHTS

Hesitates to Say When Service Will Start.

By Capt. Wolfgang von Gronau.

[World Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times company. Copyright in Germany by Ullstein A. G. All rights reserved.]

New York, Aug. 27.—[Special.]—Our flight, I think, has simply served to emphasize that over ocean flying is much more difficult than the average person believes. One is never sure of the weather; one can never be sure of the difficulties that may arise.

In spite of reports from ships and radio shore stations of favorable weather conditions along our route, we frequently found, in our 4,600 mile flight from the little Isle of Sylt to this great New York, that wind and rain and fog beset us and that weather conditions seemingly could not be predicted with any certainty.

Nevertheless, I think that some day in the future—I won't say in the near future—there will be regularly scheduled flights across the oceans. I think such service will begin on the South Atlantic, for that is the easier route. When will it start? Who can say. It may be in two years if Prof. Junkers or somebody else brings out an invention for saving petrol, or it may take ten, twenty or even more. One cannot predict in such matters.

Aviation Progress Rapid.

But one thing I am sure of; the ocean will be conquered by air some time. Progress has been so tremendous in aviation. We may be sure it will go on. The world moves so quickly now that it thinks each year without some giant achievement is a year of life lost. The world is impatient, but it takes time for research; for investigation and development.

We are very keen, very, what you Americans always are, busy on that problem of trans-oceanic flying today. We are limited in funds, you know, but we work on as well as we can.

But I myself have come to the conclusion that a regularly scheduled crossing of the ocean in land planes will never be a successful or easy venure because in such a plane motor failure means death to the crew. The proposed seadrome of which I have read so much, is not practical, because it would not be sufficient for landings in bad weather. Yes, I think the seadrome will be quite unsuccessful. The seaplane is with doubt the best type of plane for an over water journey today.

Airship for Passengers.

The amphibian is what you call a hybrid. It has no highest performances, because it is a combination of types, and one must have highest performances in crossing the oceans. As for me, I think that in the future the airship will always be the thing for passengers, and the plane for mail. The superiority of the plane over the airship is that it can get out of storm areas more quickly. But then, the airship, though slower, is more comfortable and has a much bigger lifting power.

That will be just opposite to ships, you see. On the surface of the sea the passengers travel in fast ships and the freight in slow; in the air above the oceans the passengers will travel in the slower airships and the mail in the fast planes. That seems strange, nicht wahr? But it is logical, for the airships have more comfort.

The two problems of the future which aviation must solve before it can hope to span the waters of the world are more efficient motors and high altitude flying. More efficient motors mean less gasoline consumed and thus greater pay load. High altitudes mean greater speed and ability to get out of storms.

Fuel Consumption Too High.

The engineers and inventors must get an engine which will not consume fuel so quickly or they must devise motors which will burn gas or oil of much less weight than petrol. The raw oil motor, I think, is a step in the right place, or, perhaps a motor that will burn gas, blau gas, as the Maybach engines of the Graf Zeppelin do, or some other mixture. The fuel must give a higher efficiency. It should be a more rapidly burning fuel, which will give more power. We may help that time along by devising some new type of carburetor which will give us a better mixture.

When we get this we can fly far, for then we will not have to use so much of the plane's power in lifting petrol as we do now, and the pilot need not be afraid of motor failure.

The high altitude flying is very important, too. If the old Whale could have climbed up out of the fog that was with us on half our trip; if it could have pulled itself up to 30,000 feet above the storm and rain and wind off Greenland, we would have gotten here much quicker, and certainly Egwart Zimmer, Franz Haek, and Fritz Abbrecht and I would have felt much better. At 30,000 feet one can travel twice as fast as at ordinary altitudes. And, of course, one is always above the storms and disturbances. There is wind, but it is not too strong and is always from the east.

In Germany we have all been working on this job of high altitude flying. Junkers in particular has led the research with an airtight, inclosed cockpit for the pilot and a similar inclosure for the motor. Both the pilot and the engine are fed by compression. The pressure on the pilot's body is kept at the same level as if he were on the ground. Therefore it is not hard for him to breathe. He does not become exhausted so quickly because his skin does not "breathe" oxygen as it does when a man is subjected to great decrease in pressure.

Inclosed Cockpit Used.

Before, when we climbed up to great heights, the pilot had to breathe oxygen from a tank, and that was exhausting. Now, in the inclosed cockpit it is the same as if he were on the ground. The cockpit, of course, must be strongly constructed or it will burst apart. It is all still experimentive, but it lights the way.

On our northern route the cold did not seem to affect the engine much, so I don't believe it would in high altitude flying. We had a special radiator put on before we left List. It was smaller than the usual one and had flaps that could be closed to prevent the motor from getting too cold.

Of course, the big thing once man has conquered the upper air is the navigation. One must know where to come down, for the pilot will be far above the clouds and landmarks will do him no good. But the navigation will be all by radio. Sextants, I think, will be of no use then. Radio will direct all.

It is hard to say which airways man will use over the seas. The northern route that we took in the old Dornier-Wal from the old country to the Faroe islands, to Iceland, to Greenland, to Labrador and then down the coast is practical, I think, if a tremendous amount of ground preparation and organization lights the way. There are some good harbors all along the coast of Labrador. We saw them after we took off from Cartwright Sunday—little bays and fiords in the rocky coast, Battle harbor and many other places good for seaplanes. But I think perhaps a different way across Greenland and then on to the foot of Hudson bay would be better.

There is a little haven on the eastern coast of Greenland called Anmagsalik, and because the coast juts out much at this place it is much closer to Iceland than the way we flew. And from Anmagsalik one could fly direct across the great Greenland glacier which fills up all the center of the island to Godhaab on the western coast. Godhaab is in a good climate; it is away from the ice and is milder than Ivigtut, though more north.

Might Land on Ice.

From there it is not far to the foot of Hudson bay, and one could land in the middle of Canada. The trip across Greenland makes less over water flying and if a forced landing were necessary it should be easy on the smooth glacier ice. Perhaps the planes could be equipped with small motor driven sledges in case of such emergency; who knows?

And this way would leave out that portion of our route where the Bremen flyers and all of us who got that far had trouble with our compass. That is off the Newfoundland coast. We found a ten degree error there on Sunday and the needles of our compass turned and turned for a little.

Predicts Better Compasses.

But we expected that. It said magnetic deviations on the chart, and it is a well known thing along there. It is probably because of iron ore in much quantity. The future compasses will be improved, and the pilot will be able to set an automatic steering compass so he won't have to keep his hands on the stick, and can attend to navigation and other things. That will be another greater security development.

And so our fight is over; the flight for which I have planned and dreamed so long. And we have learned good lessons from it and Fritz and Franz and Zimmer and I will always remember it and the way New York has received us. We have some things, I think, besides memories. My log book, "Log buch fur D—1922," is full of observations of wind and weather and sea conditions all the way across, and I shall forward some of my assembled data to the hydrographic office at Washington. And it is full, too, of the customs stamps of many nations, of Iceland, of Greenland, of his majesty's customs in Cartwright, of Halifax, and finally of big New York.

Made Secret Takeoff.

All except the stamp of the Faroe Islands. We didn't get them there because I wanted to sneak off without people knowing where I was going. And, yes, before I say "Auf Wiederschen" I want to tell you about that landing at that tiny northern, windswept island, because that lives in my memory as the bad landing of the trip.

It was raining torrents and was black and dim with fog when the old "Whale" flew up the fiord to Transesvaag. I came in before a tail wind. It was strong I did not know how strong it was until I throttled down to land, but I could not turn to head into the wind because the fiord was too narrow and there were steep cliffs on either side and the mountain tops were hidden in mist.

So I set her down and we skipped across the water, once, twice, three times and bumped right hard before we settled down. A sea plane with floats would have turned over but the flying boat is strong and steady.

GERMAN SEA FLYERS HOP SATURDAY FOR CHICAGO AIR RACES

New York, Aug. 27.—[Special.]—Capt. Wolfgang von Gronau and the three young adventurers who accompanied him on his daring flight from Germany to New York will fly their old Dornier-Wahl plane to Chicago for the air races next Saturday.

According to present plans, the plane, with Capt. Gronau at the controls, will take off from the North Beach, L. I. airport Friday morning and fly to Buffalo and Niagara Falls. They will spend Friday night at Buffalo, hopping for Chicago Saturday morning.

They hope to arrive over the Curtiss-Reynolds airport around noon. The program is to circle the air field a time or two and then set the machine down at some point on the lake front.

On Monday, the flyers will make a farewell appearance oveer the airfield on their way to Cleveland where they plan to visit the James Gordon Bennett balloon races.

Capt. Gronau today went down to the customs house to satisfy the formalities required by the government in connection with his arrival from a foreign port. A manifest was submitted, and Capt. Von Gronau took the Master's oath.

BUENOS AIRES VOTES 4 LINKING SUBWAYS; WILL COST 130 MILLION

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 27. — The mayor today signed an ordinance granting a concession to a Spanish syndicate to construct four subways connecting with each other and linking the business district with the principal suburbs at a cost of $130,000,000. The syndicate is given 60 days in which to deposit $850,000 as a guarantee that they will complete the contract.

Buenos Aires already has one subway ten miles long, which carries 5,000,000 passengers monthly. An American engineering firm is constructing another, financed by American capital. The subway already in operation is unique among the rest of the world's subways, because of the unusual cleanliness, light, and air.

Subways appear to be the city's only solution to a traffic problem, which is a heritage from the old Spanish government's jealousy of colonial possessions. A royal edict was issued prohibiting streets exceeding a certain specified narrow width, which is entirely inadequate for modern traffic.

BAND OF 8 SEIZED AS HIJACKERS OF TOBACCO TRUCKS

A band of eight tobacco hijackers, of whom three are reputed intimates of the notorious desperado, Fred Burke, were rounded up last night by Capt. Michael Grady, commander of Kensington police district.

The prisoners, Capt. Grady said, are involved in three recent robberies of tobacco trucks in which the Insurance Company of North America had posted $16,075 in rewards. Capt. Grady asserted the men named as their prospective fence a suspect who figured in a recent search for Burke in Michigan.

The men arrested are Edward Androwski, 34 years old, 6432 Drexel avenue; James Burns, 30 years old, 1306 East 62d street; George Kelly, 35 years old, 714 Oakwood boulevard; Abe Schultz, 35 years old, 4527 Drexel boulevard; William Montgomery, 34 years old, 1308 East 62d street; Montgomery's wife, Marie, 28 years old; William Necker, 36 years old, 3706 Lake Park avenue, and George Smith, 36 years old, 1744 West 79th street. Montgomery, Necker, and Smith are described as pals of Burke.

ALCOCK TO STOP OBEYING COURT ORDERS BY PHONE

Takes Action in Dispute on Gambling Prisoners.

Acting Police Commissioner Alcock is going to do no more business with the courts over the telephone. Yesterday he asked First Assistant Corporation Counsel James W. Breen if he had to pay attention to telephone calls from the judges. Attorney Breen said he informed the commissioner that he did not have to obey telephone commands or requests from judges and that he would write him a legal opinion to that effect today.

Phone System Used Previously.

The action of the commissioner is the result of the criticism by some of the judges of the new police policy of locking up men arrested in gambling raids without placing charges against them at the time of arrest. Under this system prisoners remain in jail, because they cannot give bail until booked.

The telephone policy was inaugurated by the Criminal courts some years ago, when the police complained against the judges keeping them busy in coming to court to answer writs.

The system was worked out so that when an application for a writ was made, the commissioner's office was notified over the telephone and the police could then determine what they wanted to do with the prisoner in question.

Thirteen Released on Bond.

The department policy in gambling cases was the subject of a speech by former Judge Bernard P. Barasa yesterday when he appeared before Judge William R. Fetzer, representing some of the men arrested.

Thirteen men arrested in a raid on an alleged handbook at 10 North Clark street, late yesterday, were booked and released on bonds last night at the South State street station after Municipal Court Judge Francis Borrelli threatened to cite Desk Sergeant P. J. Doyle for contempt of court if he did not book the prisoners.

FORMER BANKER IS SUED BY WIFE AS UNFAITHFUL

Lester B. Cook, former banker of Norwood Park, was sued for divorce in the Circuit court yesterday by Mrs. Gladys L. Cook, 5810 Nina avenue. The bill drawn by Attorney Harry X. Cole charges cruelty and misconduct. Cook was formerly vice president of the Jefferson Park Trust and Savings bank and is now proprietor of the Norwood Inn, a cafe at 6127 Northwest highway.

Mrs. Cook asserts her husband has maintained an apartment for a woman named as Miss Violet Mosier. Between December, 1929, and last April, while Mrs. Cook was staying with her mother, Cook brought Miss Mosier to his home, permitted her to use his wife's clothing and to act as head of the household, the bill states.

Mrs. Cook asks alimony and the custody of their daughter, Joyce Louis, 5 years old.

PA AND MA FERGUSON TELL TEXAS THEY ARE DONE WITH POLITICS

Austin, Tex., Aug. 27.—(AP)—In an editorial in the Ferguson Forum, signed "Pa and Ma," James E. and Miriam A. Ferguson said today they "never expect to seek public office again." The Forum is a Ferguson political newspaper.

"Every day," the editorial said, "we are asked what of our plans. Our answer is that, while we never expect to seek office again, we will always be at the command of our friends as private citizens with our bit and mite to battle for the interests of the people."

It was the first statement of the Fergusons since Mrs. Ferguson was defeated for the Democratic nomination for governor by Ross S. Sterling of Houston last Saturday.

PROBE REPORTS OF ZUTA'S GIFT TO MAYOR'S FUN

Reveal Him as Guest on Victory Trip.

Reports that Jack Zuta, murdered lord and gang leader, had contributed a large sum to the campaign fund of Mayor Thompson were under investigation yesterday.

The investigators learned that Zuta had been a guest on the victory trip taken by the mayor and hundreds of his friends immediately after his election. The party traveled on the S. S. Cape Girardeau down the Mississippi to New Orleans.

Zuta's name is shown on the official list of guests who attended Mayor Thompson on the tour, which ran into the disastrous Mississippi river flood of April, 1927, and stayed the mayor on his flood control program.

Report Trip to Kentucky.

It was also reported that after the tour, Mayor Thompson had accepted an invitation from Zuta to visit Middlesboro, Ky., the gangster's home town, and that a gala celebration was staged in the Middlesboro home of Col. Ike Ginsburg, uncle of Zuta.

Although Assistant State's Attorneys Charles F. Rathbun and James E. McShane, and Pat Roche, chief investigator for State's Attorney Swanson, refused to comment on the reports, the gossip concerning a reported contribution by Zuta to Thompson campaign fund got into general circulation.

It was stated that Zuta, early in the Thompson campaign, had declared the Thompson platform for an honest town would make for better times. Zuta's gambling, vice and booze enterprises, and that with this thought in mind he contributed a large sum to the campaign fund.

Mayor Now in East.

Mayor Thompson, who is in Massachusetts on a vacation, could not be reached for a statement yesterday because he is on a fishing trip.

Arthur H. Rhorer, former counsel prosecutor at Middlesboro, who has been quoted in dispatches to Chicago as the authority for a statement that Zuta had entertained Mayor Thompson at Col. Ginsburg's home there last night denied that he had ever made such statements.

Rhorer, counsel for Col. Ginsburg, who is one of the odd thousand Kentucky "colonels," said he did not know Mayor Thompson, had ever been in Middlesboro or not.

Kin Denies Making Statement.

Ginsburg himself likewise denied having any knowledge of a campaign contribution from Zuta to Thompson.

"I have said nothing to anyone about Zuta's activities," Ginsburg said. "I do not know any one here who can speak with any accuracy about anything which Zuta may have done. I have been asked by many people about Zuta's possible connection with officials of Chicago. I have made no such statements as reported and I do not know of anyone making such statements."

It was also reported that after this tour, Mayor Thompson had accepted an invitation from Zuta to visit Middlesboro, Ky., the gangster's home town, and that a gala celebration was staged in the Middlesboro home of Pal Ike Ginsburg, uncle of Zuta.

Another report that Nate De Lue, assistant business manager of the Chicago board of education, an old time friend of Zuta, had been named co-executor of Zuta's will was also denied by Attorney Rhorer and Col. Ginsburg. It was learned that the will, which was not witnessed in the formal manner, carried a statement that for further instructions the probate authorities might question De Lue and I. Goldberg, an old friend of Zuta's.

Peter Wall, a Chicago attorney who has been retained by interests involved in Zuta's estate, declined yesterday to comment on his phase of the matter.

BOYS INVADE DEN OF TIGERS IN ZOO —ONE NEAR DEATH

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 27.—[Special.]—Alfred Hill, 12, is in police hospital with a bare chance to live as a result of climbing with another lad into the tiger stockade at Luna park zoo.

Alfred did not know the tigers roamed loose in the tangle of transplanted tropical thicket until the great beast bounded out at him and Carl Sabina, 12. Alfred was knocked to the ground and scalped with one blow.

GRAND JURORS CALL RANDOLPH IN SECRET QUIZ

Swanson Unaware of Questioning.

Col. Robert Isham Randolph, president of the Association of Commerce and head of the "secret six," an organization formed by the association to combat crime, announced last night that he had made a "secret trip" before the grand jury. He said he received an invitation from the grand jurors on Monday to appear on Tuesday, but that a previous engagement prevented him from being a witness until yesterday.

It was reported that the jurors questioned Col. Randolph without any representative of the state's attorney's office being present. State's Attorney Swanson said he did not know that Col. Randolph had been called as a witness and that he did not know what the jurors wanted to question him about. Assistant State's Attorney William A. Rittenhouse, who is in charge of the routine of the prosecutor's office, said that he knew nothing of the appearance of Col. Randolph. Assistant State's Attorney Edwin J. Spiro, who has direct charge of the grand jury, could not be reached.

Col. Randolph said he was questioned about the formation of the "secret six," and as to whether in his opinion the jurors could do anything to aid in the fight against crime. The jurors were told how the "secret six" aided in the capture and conviction of the kidnapers of Theodore Kopelman, insurance broker, and the exposing of some bombers.

The jurors probably will finish their work for the month today. It is not expected that any more secret witnesses will be called.

GOVERNOR ROOSEVELT OF NEW YORK URGES INSURANCE ON JOBS

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 27.—[Special.]—Establishment of a state supervised system of unemployment insurance was urged today by Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt in an address before the convention of the New York Federation of Labor.

"I hope," he said, "that the next administration and the next legislature will take up a practical, definite study of unemployment insurance, avoiding, of course, any form of dole, and basing their investigation on sound insurance lines under which the state, the employer and the employé would all be joint premium payers."

Holding that the unemployment situation is more serious than at any time since 1893, the governor declared the example of other countries in undertaking a government program "to alleviate the distress of fluctuating employment" must be followed.

Cafe Porter Stabbed to Death; Woman Is Held

Fred Renn, 39 years old, a restaurant porter at 4636 West 22d street, was stabbed to death late yesterday in the basement of the home of his employer, Gloronno Moleterino, at 4716 West 20th street, Cicero. Mrs. Lillian Moleterino, 40 years old, wife of Moleterino, insisted that Renn was stabbed accidentally with a potato knife she had held in her hand while trying to wrest a bottle of moonshine from him. She was held for the inquest.

WITNESS TELLS OF PLOT TO KILL DIXIE GOVERNOR

Says Plan Was to Blame Capone's Men.

Jacksonville, Fla., Aug. 27.—(AP)—Testimony about an alleged conspiracy to assassinate Gov. Doyle E. Carlton and of counter moves by friends of the governor and an attorney for Alphonse Capone to obtain evidence was presented today at a preliminary hearing for three men charged with the conspiracy.

Clem Dowling, former roommate of Frank Ralls, one of the defendants, testified that Ralls told him of the alleged plot, and also named Henry Halsema and Fred O. Eberhardt, Tallahassee publisher, as conspirators. Dowling said he exposed the plot to prevent the murder of the governor and "to save Ralls from the electric chair."

Capone Attorney Investigates.

Vincent C. Giblin, former Circuit court judge and attorney for Capone, related that he came into the case as an investigator because Dowling said Ralls asserted that the slaying was to be laid to Capone's men.

Giblin said Capone asked him to look into the matter after Dowling related details of the plot to J. Fitzgordon, another Capone attorney.

Dowling said Ralls told him that when a new governor took office Eberhardt was to get control of the state road department, Ralls was to be state automobile license commissioner, and Halsema was to get the Jacksonville tag agency.

Hoped for Capone Aid.

Giblin testified that Ralls told him three men were "sore at the governor," and had planned to "bump him off." He said Eberhardt broached a plan to get control of several Florida newspapers and have Capone put up the money. He said he made an appointment with Eberhardt to go to Chicago and discuss the plan with the gang chief.

Giblin's recitation of his meeting with Ralls was mostly a detailing of gatherings in hotel rooms. At one conference, Giblin said, he told Ralls that, "if I could get the governor to remove the sheriff of Dade county and let us limit gambling to three or four places we could get an enormous profit."

The witness said he told Eberhardt of his gambling plan, but that Eberhardt was more interested in the control of newspapers. The attorney said he told Eberhardt he had $100,000 for the purpose of putting the gambling plan into effect.

8 Die, 6 Hurt in Mexico in Battle of Four Villages

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 27.—(AP)—A dispatch from Oaxaca states that eight persons were killed and six wounded in a battle this week between villagers of Santa Etla and Magdalena Apazco, on one side, and Asuncion and Santo Domingo, on the other. The battle was fought over a farm boundary dispute.

WOMAN SUES FIFTH HUSBAND FOR A DIVORCE

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 27.—[Special.]—Winner of three previous divorces and one annulment, Eugenie Bankhead Butts Lee today filed a plea to annul her latest marriage on grounds of fraud. Her present husband is Howard Lee, aviator and sportsman, whom she married in Reno Nev., shortly after securing an annulment from Lawson Butts, Nevada athlete.

She told Judge Morton that she married Lee after he falsely assured her he was an aviation company official, had a bank account in Los Angeles, and a fine residence in Dallas.

INQUIRY CLEARS OTHER CAPTAIN IN TANKER'S SINKING

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27.—[Special.]—Capt. Archie H. Brooks, master of the steamer Fairfax which last June collided with and sank the oil tanker Pinthis in Massachusetts bay with a loss of 49 lives, has been cleared of all charges against him, according to a report of the steamboat inspection service, made public today. The charges against Capt. Brooks were excessive speed in fog, negligence, and unskillfulness. The trial board composed of local inspectors at Norfolk, Va., stated in the report "after examining thoroughly 24 witnesses, this board failed to establish evidence substantiating any of the charges."

COUNTY TO GIVE PUBLIC DEFENDER PLAN A TRYOUT

Judicial Advisers Predict Speedier Trials.

A three month trial of the Cook county judicial advisory council's plan to speed justice and eliminate legal red tape through the appointment of a public defender to represent indigent defendants, was approved yesterday by a committee of the county board. On the sanction of the board the experiment is to begin Sept. 15.

Under the plan an outstanding attorney is to be appointed to the office, which is to be similar in dignity to that of the state's attorney. He is to have four assistants, a clerk and a stenographer. The public defender will represent all defendants who are unable to hire a lawyer. He will carry on their defense in a manner similar to that in which the state's attorney prosecutes. The experiment is to cost $25,000.

County to Save $1,000,000.

In return the county will save $1,000,000 through the system and the recent Supreme court decision, which allows an accused to waive a jury trial on a verdict of not guilty, Circuit Judge Harry Fisher said. The savings is to be effected in jury costs. In addition, the judge declared, such defendants will receive the benefit of a more efficient defense than in the past.

Under the present system such defendants are represented by lawyers appointed by the court. These are usually young lawyers seeking experience and invariably ask continuances to study the case and in the hope of ultimately receiving even a small fee. Continuances will be unnecessary under the plan, Judge Fisher said.

Sees Speedier Trials.

The council also suggested that a venire of forty-five men, instead of sixty-five men, be assigned to each judge. That will reduce the number of idle jurors, Judge Fisher said. The judge predicted that the appointment of the public defender will ultimately make it possible to reduce the number of judges in the Criminal court by speeding trials.

At the joint meeting with members of the council the commissioners present decided that the funds could be advanced from the contingent fund of the board. They opposed the creation of new positions before the end of the fiscal year, when the test shall have been made. Their recommendation will be voted upon at the next board meeting.

COMPLETE STEEL WORK ON WABASH AVENUE BRIDGE

The last piece of steel for the south span of the new Wabash avenue bridge was fastened into place yesterday in the presence of a number of city officials, marking the completion of the steel work for the entire bridge. City Engineer Gayton predicted the bridge and the viaduct over the tracks of the Chicago and North Western railroad will be in service in December. The bridge and viaduct will cost $2,500,000.

Scientists' Shop Talk Turns to Fight Against Criminals

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Dust from beer yeast and a black beetle found in the pockets of a murdered man led to the solution of a murder mystery in France.

A fiber of thread or bit of surface skin taken from the finger nails of suspect or victim may solve a rape case.

Blood stains, hair tests, heel marks, a slant in handwriting, a typewriter letter out of alignment, tire marks, what a person has been eating—nothing is too small to overlook in modern crime detection.

"No two things are ever alike," is the keynote of this science, as expounded in a symposium yesterday at Lincoln hall, on McKinlock campus of the Northwestern university law school, where a group of lawyers, police officials, and prosecutors of the Chicago neighborhood gathered to listen to the experts.

Bundesen Tells His Plans.

Chicago, it seems, is far behind European communities in these matters, but we are progressing. Coroner Herman N. Bundesen, who was referred to by Judge Andrew Bruce, professor of law at Northwestern, as "the father, in this part of the world, of science as applied to police work," told how private citizens helped him to start a laboratory in Chicago and what he has in mind for the future.

"In the first place I am trying to legislate myself out of office," said Dr. Bundesen. "I consider the coroner's office a useless appendage on the body politic. I hope to have it abolished and a medico-legal institute substituted."

As evidence of the work done Dr. Bundesen said that three men would soon go to the gallows, sent there by the aid of scientific examination of guns and bullets by Col. Calvin Goddard, director of scientific crime detection laboratory of Northwestern university.

Solving Gun Mystery.

"And here is a little story I have never told," added the coroner. "Shortly before John Scalli and Albert Anselmi, the brutal Chicago killers, were slain with Joseph Giunta in Hammond, we had found the evidence which would have put two of them in jail on gun carrying charges at least. I suspected them of being in the Clark street massacre mob and asked the police to pick them up, hoping guns would be found on them.

"They found two of them in a taxicab one day and brought them in. They carried no guns. The cab was searched and two .45 revolvers were found under a back seat. They disclaimed ownership, and as eleven other persons had used the cab that day it did not look like a good case for us.

"The revolvers were examined in the laboratory. We found lint in the barrels of the guns on one side where they had grazed the pocket of the owner. This lint was placed under the microscope. Then we sent for the trousers, as Scalisi and Anselmi were still in jail.

Fix Gun Ownership.

"The police brought them over and lint was taken from the pockets and placed under the microscope. It proved to be the same as that taken from the guns. This was scientific evidence that the guns had been in these particular pockets. We were about to present this evidence in court when the gangsters were killed."

Both Dr. Bundesen and Col. Goddard emphasized the need of educating police, public, as well as prosecutors and judges, in the nature of this kind of evidence, and particularly in the necessity of holding inviolate the area around a crime at the time of discovery.

How much good evidence has been lost in Chicago crimes through the bungling of police, or their ignorance, the crowding around of pseudo-officials and newspaper men, who finger things, take things, and blur marks left by the killers, they could only conjecture.

How Clews Are Destroyed.

At the Clark street massacre scene Dr. Bundesen took off his coat for a few minutes and then could not find it. It had been taken away by a newspaper man who thought it belonged to one of the victims and might contain clews. After the attempt to kill Jack Zuta in State street, a revolver, picked up by the police, was placed in a handkerchief by the first officer who had been trained in crime school methods. His superior snatched the handkerchief off and fingered the revolver, thus destroying finger print evidence.

Col. Goddard said that in a few months he hoped to have a staff of 20 or 30 experts at call, and said that his work had grown so that he had called in another ballistics man.

Dr. William F. Peterson, professor of pathology at the University of Illinois, suggested the organization of a state medico-legal institute, free from political control, as a branch of the state university.

The symposium will be continued today and tomorrow.

REJECTED SUITOR SHOOTS GIRL AND ENDS OWN LIFE

Miss Clara Novak, 26 years old, 4628 South Spaulding avenue, was shot through the head and perhaps fatally wounded late yesterday by a rejected suitor, William F. Marschalek, 30 years old, 1950 South Trumbull avenue. Marschalek then fired a bullet through his brain, killing himself instantly.

The shooting occurred at Miss Novak's home. Before lapsing into unconsciousness at the county hospital, where she was taken by New City police, the girl was able to give a partial account of the tragedy.

"For several years William and I had been keeping company," she said. "I grew tired of him, but he got more and more persistent. At last I told him I was through. I thought I had seen the last of him, but this afternoon he came out to my house. As we stood talking he snatched a pistol out of his pocket and began to shoot. That's all I know."

Miss Novak has slight chance for recovery, physicians said.

Both Miss Novak and Marschalek were employed by the Western Electric company.

JOYCE'S WIDOW GETS EXTORTION NOTE; NAB NEGRO

Chicago avenue police seized a Negro couple last night as suspects in an attempt to extort $2,000 from Mrs. James T. Joyce, widow of the late senator of the 29th district, who died mysteriously of poisoning on Aug. 16.

About 7 p. m. in a special delivery letter sent to her home, 207 East Chestnut street, Mrs. Joyce was instructed to bring $2,000 cash to 4547 South State street. The writer, who signed himself "The Killer," intimated that the senator's death was the penalty for ignoring a similar request.

Sergts. Emil Berg and Harry Johnson at the State street address found a Negro, Lyle Taylor, who was carrying a letter, also signed "The Killer," and instructing him to accept a package from a white woman, who would call, and turn it over to the writer at a corner drug store. With a decoy package Taylor was stationed in the drug store while the police watched from across the street. No one appearing within the next two hours, Taylor and his wife were locked up.

KILLS HUSBAND AS HE SLEEPS, THEN HERSELF

New York, Aug. 27.—[Special.]—Mrs. Frances Van Clief, who was acquitted in 1928 of killing her husband, Dr. Glen Kirkwood, was found dead in bed tonight beside the body of her third husband, Eugene Van Clief, in their home in Brooklyn.

A revolver was found on the floor at her side. Police believed she killed her husband and then herself. She had a bullet wound in the temple. Her husband was shot in the chest.

Van Clief had returned home on Tuesday night after having been missing a week and a half.

Mrs. Van Clief was married to Van Clief in August, 1929. She divorced her first husband, John A. McAvoy, to marry Dr. Kirkwood, a boarder in the McAvoy home. Dr. Kirkwood was stabbed to death as he struggled with her for possession of a carving knife. A jury acquitted her of murder.

Remove Open Safety Pin from Throat of Boy

Five year old Ernest Porazinsky, 1941 South Lincoln street, playing with a two inch safety pin yesterday, put it in his mouth and swallowed it. He was taken to the county hospital, where an X-ray showed the pin, open with the point up, about three inches down in the throat. Dr. Samuel Pearlman, assisted by Dr. C. S. Schaub, removed it.

LEADERSHIP COMES FROM SERVING THE CUSTOMER'S INTERESTS. MARQUETTE HAS THE LARGEST SINGLE UNIT PLANT IN THE INDUSTRY.

No mystery about why it checks loose Dandruff

IF your scalp itches or burns, if your hair is thinning or you are troubled with loose dandruff, begin using full strength Listerine, systematically, as an antiseptic shampoo. Simply douse it on and massage the scalp as vigorously as you can.

Literally tens of thousands who have rid themselves of a dandruffy condition with Listerine, are simply amazed by the speed with which it gets results.

Yet when the facts are known there is no mystery about its success.

Many dermatologists claim dandruff is caused by germs. They successfully combat it with a combination of frequent massage and the application of healing antiseptics.

Full strength Listerine, as you know, is so safe and soothing it may be used in any body cavity. And at the same time is so powerful it kills even the stubborn B. Typhosus (typhoid) and M. Aureus (pus) germs in 15 seconds.

At the first sign of dandruff, begin using Listerine. Simply douse it on the scalp full strength. Massage vigorously —moving the scalp itself—not the fingers. Results will delight you. But don't expect a miracle over night. It is important that you keep the treatment up, systematically, for several days, using a little olive oil if the scalp is excessively dry. Acid Stomach

Excess acid is the common cause of indigestion. It results in pain and sourness about two hours after eating. The quick corrective is an alkali which neutralizes acid. The best corrective is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention.

One spoonful of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia neutralizes instantly many times its volume in acid. It is harmless and tasteless and its action is quick. You will never rely on crude methods, never continue to suffer, when you learn how quickly, how pleasantly this premier method acts. Please let it show you—now.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drugstore.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

ASKS $100,000

ALTA BRINEMAN.

Miss Alta Brineman, 1111 Hyde Park boulevard, who on Tuesday sued Edward J. McCabe, vice president of the Kingsbury Beverage company, for $100,000 damages, yesterday swore out a warrant charging him with working a confidence game. Miss Brineman, who appeared before Judge John Sbarbaro in the Felony court, said that McCabe borrowed $3,500 from her, promising to repay her with securities which he has failed to do.

The damage suit charges breach of promise, according to Miss Brineman's attorney, David A. Riskind. McCabe, the attorney said, had promised to marry her after she obtained a divorce from her husband, Abe Kaplan, last December. Yesterday McCabe denied having borrowed the $3,500 and declared it was a blackmail plot. He was released on his own recognizance by Judge Sbarbaro who set the hearing for Sept. 3.

McCabe was formerly secretary to Timothy J. Crowe.

DRY BUREAU HAS ISOLATED POISON IN "JAKE" LIQUOR

Say It Is Chemical Used in Industry.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27.—[Special.]—Chemists in the bureau of industrial alcohol under Commissioner James M. Doran announced today that they had discovered tri-ortho-cresyl phosphate to be the poison causing the recent ginger "jake" epidemic which has swept the country.

They described the substance as a chemical preparation used in the lacquer and leather industries, a colorless and odorless ingredient and capable of causing paralysis and death in the cases of persons who have consumed it in alleged fluid extract of ginger, popularly called "ginger-jake."

Blame Alcohol Recookers.

The Doran chemists asserted that their examination had convinced them that alcohol with the paralysis producing adulterant has been used by underworld liquor manufacturers who hit upon it as a practical preparation for making ginger extract drinkable and cheap. They denied that it could have been used in government denaturants.

The report of the industrial alcohol experts differed from that made recently by the United States public health service, which also is making ginger "jake" tests. The latter report, although admittedly incomplete, pointed to the possibility of a poison denaturant. It also partially identified the substance as a phosphoric acid-ester of tri-cresyl. The health service has not yet issued a final report.

No Poisonous Herbs.

"Up to date," said a statement by the industrial alcohol bureau, "many theories have been advanced as to the substance which has caused this paralysis. Among these theories was the possible presence of cuare and other poisonous herbs.

"There has been no trace of such poisonous ingredients found. Production of ginger root is a large and definite agricultural pursuit, and it is practically impossible for any foreign root to become mixed with the crop.

"Tri-ortho-cresyl phosphate is one of the most stable esters used in organic commercial chemistry. It is a definite compound, used very extensively every day in the year in the leather and paint industries, and up to the present time is considered the best and most stable substance to be used in its class of chemicals. Its chemical formula is 3 (CH3, C6, H3OH) PO4. The exhaustive chemical examination of hundreds of samples of this paralysis producing ginger extract from all the stricken areas failed to show any denaturants whatever, and it is absolutely certain that it in no way is responsible for the epidemic."

U. S. TAKES RUM SHIP BUT FACES LEGAL BATTLE

New York, Aug. 27.—(AP)—Loaded to the gunwales with first rate liquor and malt valued at $220,000, the Canadian motor ship Nova V. was brought into the harbor today by the coast guard boat Cardigan after her capture yesterday within the twelve mile limit off Shinnecock, L. I.

Capt. William Kaulbach and his crew of nine were under arrest and will be arraigned on charges of smuggling.

A difficult legal problem was foreseen by customs officials in the statement of counsel for the prisoners that his clients had committed no crime because they were outside the three mile limit, had not had contact with the shore, and had not transferred their cargo to another vessel. The captain insisted he was en route to Bermuda and lost his bearings.

MENCKEN, STAR BACHELOR, WEDS EASTERN WRITER

Ceremony Takes Place in Church.

Baltimore, Md., Aug. 27.—(AP)—H. L. Mencken, scoffer at matrimony, became a Benedick today. Although his marriage to Miss Sara Powell Haardt of Baltimore and Montgomery, Ala., had been scheduled for Sept. 3, the editor-critic and his fiancée decided to escape zealous attentions of friends and were married by an Episcopal rector at an Episcopal church, that of St. Stephen the Martyr in this city.

Only their immediate families and a few friends were present, but as the newly wedded pair departed in an automobile for a short wedding trip, rice was scattered about the head of the man who had written of weddings as "barbaric rites."

The ceremony was conducted by the Rev. Dr. Herbert L. Parrish of New Brunswick, N. J., a long time friend of Mencken. The bride was given away by her brother-in-law, Charles Wickliffe Stevenson, and was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. John Anton Haardt of Montgomery, and her sister, Mrs. Stevenson. She wore a simple crêpe ensemble in summer brown and a small spray of orchids.

Also present were Mr. Mencken's sister, Miss Gertrude Mencken, and two brothers, August of Baltimore and Charles E. Mencken of Oil City, Pa., and the latter's wife.

Mr. and Mrs. Mencken have taken an apartment in this city. The bride, a graduate of Goucher college and a resident here several years, has written for periodicals and recently her first novel was accepted for publication.

In applying for a license Mencken gave his age as 49 and Miss Haardt's as 32.

BANKER ACCUSES A CO-OFFICER IN HAMMOND CRASH

Pleading not guilty to charges of embezzling $225,000 from the Northern Trust and Savings bank of Hammond, Boleslaw Salik, secretary-treasurer, whose confessed defalcations caused the closing of the bank, yesterday made a statement to authorities in which he said another official had knowledge of his peculations.

Salik was held under $50,000 bond and bound over to the Lake county Criminal court. Although pleading not guilty, he was advised by his attorney, Joseph Conroy, to make a full statement of his improper dealings at the bank. This statement was turned over to Harold Hammond, deputy prosecuting attorney for the city of Hammond, who said he had an appointment to meet the bank directors and officials of the state banking department at 10 a. m. today to determine what action is to be taken.

The bank has been closed since Monday while bank examiners check its books and records. They made known yesterday that a $15,000 shortage was added to the $210,000 which Salik had confessed. This consisted of three of Salik's own mortgages, which he had released as paid without depositing the funds.

In his statement to authorities Salik said another official of the bank had become involved in real estate transactions, in which Salik had sought to aid him by manipulating the sale of bonds. Salik said he finally started speculating on the stock market in hope of making some money "in case anything went wrong." Later, he said, this official informed him of being unable to meet a $25,000 obligation in tax collections and threatened to kill himself. Salik said he persuaded the other man from pursuing such a course by offering further help.

Finally, Salik said, the bank affairs become so involved that he confessed.

THE EDITOR of a powerful Chicago Newspaper before his death, challenged this statement of Dr. Keeley that "Drunkenness is a disease and I can cure it." He defied Dr. Keeley to cure the men whom he would send to the Institute. The results were so convincing that, through his great newspaper, he was personally responsible for thousands of men and women taking The Keeley Treatment for Liquor.

CABINET MEMBER HITS PACIFISM IN PEACE DAY TALKS

U. S. Wants Navy Ready to Defend Land, He Says

The second anniversary of World Peace day, recognizing the signing of the Kellogg treaty, was observed yesterday in Chicago. Advocates of world peace propose to establish Aug. 27 as an international holiday.

While defending the Kellogg pact and the London treaty, William R. Castle Jr., assistant secretary of state, attacked pacifism at the two principal Chicago celebrations. He first spoke at a luncheon in the Hotel La Salle attended by 500 peace advocates under the auspices of the Chicago World Peace day committee. Last night he opened the British-American field and track meet at Soldiers' field.

"Not a Pacifist Government."

"The American government is not a pacifist government, although it strives valiantly for international peace," Mr. Castle said at the luncheon. "The London conference did not accomplish all we had hoped for in the way of naval reduction. That is one reason why it is an agreement for five years only. We believe firmly that at the end of that period, when the nations have come to realize the pacific intentions of the others, they will not only be unwilling to give up what they have already gained in stability and peace but will gladly cut the figures even lower.

"There are pacifists who would do away with navies altogether and who, if the other nations refuse, would have the United States strip itself naked. The American government believes in a navy strong and ready to defend the country."

Mr. Castle said there are no war clouds on the horizon now.

Discusses Policy on League.

In his address at Soldiers' field, Mr. Castle discussed the policy of the United States toward the league of nations.

"We take part in many of the non-political activities of the league of nations. Under the courageous leadership of the President we shall take part in whatever hopeful movements there may be, whether initiated by the league or any one else, for the improvement of the economic status of the world, humanitarian causes, improvement of the lot of the laboring classes, control of drug traffic, or betterment of social conditions.

"But we shall not let ourselves become entangled in political issues that will make us the ally or the enemy of any nation in the world."

Get Message from Briand.

Among the congratulatory messages from European statesmen received by the peace day committee, was the following from Foreign Minister Briand of France, who was a leading figure in the Kellogg treaty negotiations:

"I associate myself with all my heart to the commemoration of an international act, the benefit of which will be felt forever by mankind, and I congratulate the Chicago World Peace day committee for the generous support of the general pact of renunciation of war."

PILSUDSKI CALLS POLAND'S BASIC LAW "ROTTEN"

Says Parliament Is Full of Rascals.

WARSAW, Poland, Aug. 27.—(AP)—When Col. Myedvinski, chief editor of the official Gazeta Polska, asked Premier Pilsudski what his plans were for the future the marshal did not mince words replying.

"What is your program?" the editor queried.

Says Constitution Is "Rotten."

Premier Pilsudski declared that he did not believe in the value of the so-called parliamentarianism, but neither did he wish to be a maid of all work.

"Anyway, the word, of foreign origin, is a stupid word," the marshal thundered, "and the people do not realize what labor is involved in governing Poland in accordance with the constitution and existing law."

The Polish constitution, he said, was a rotten piece of work" and bound to produce chaotic conditions.

Steal Taxpayers' Money.

Conservatively translated, the marshal said the members of parliament had lost all sense of decency. They seemed to think, he continued, that the people should bow down before the parliamentarians.

"These scoundrels don't work, but steal the taxpayers' money," he cried. "Is the state to depend on such rascals?"

When the editor asked the marshal what he thought of the present re-

"An end must be made of them!"

FOE OF PERUVIAN MILITARY RULE DIES IN GUN FIGHT

Wounded Rebel Envoy Kills Prefect of Tacna.

BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 27.—(AP)—An Arica dispatch today said that the prefect of Tacna was killed when he refused to line up with the southern military junta, which began the Peruvian revolt in Arequipa last week.

He was shot by Commander Beytia, a Tacna officer, who yesterday flew to Arequipa and placed himself under orders to Lieut. Col. Luis Sanchez Serro, chieftain of the revolt.

Beytia returned today in the same plane, accompanied by Lieut. Maldonado, delegate of the Arequipa Junta. They were met at the Tanca airfield by Col. Rivardo Luna, prefect of Tacna, and his aide, Lieut. Vizcarra. Commander Beytia presented credentials from Sanchez Cerro and demanded delivery of the prefecture. Col. Luna, indignant, shot and wounded Beytia, who fired from the ground five times, killing the prefect and wounding Vizcarra in the arm.

Revolt Chief Undisputed Ruler.

Arequipa dispatches say that Sanchez Cerro is undisputed ruler of the republic tonight, with the Lima Junta turning over its authority to the soldier from the south.

The dispatches said that Sanchez Cerro's Arequipa faction dictated an ultimatum to the Lima Junta, which was formed by Gen. Manuel Ponce following on the resignation of President Augusto B. Leguia early Monday, and that the Lima Junta had bowed to Sanchez Cerro.

Among the peace terms imposed by Sanchez Cerro and accepted by Ponce, dispatches said, was one stating that the Lima council should notify the commander of the cruiser Almirante Grau that he would be held responsible for the person of "the Tyrant, Leguia." Another was that the police be confined in barracks and that the maintenance of public peace and order be entrusted solely to soldiers of the army.

Battle Scarred Soldier Here.

LIMA, Aug. 27.—Lieut. Col. Luis M. Sanchez Cerro, a 41 year old soldier, who bears wounds from two previous revolutions and has battled the Riffs of Abd-Elkrim in Morocco, came to Lima tonight to take over the government of the republic. He was welcomed with an ovation such as likely no other man in Peru ever had.

The man who touched off at Arequipa last Friday the spark which started the revolution ending the Augusto B. Leguia régime arrived at 5:05 p. m., landing from a Fawcett line airplane at the Country club while thousands applauded.

Masses of Peruvians shouted "Long live Sanchez Cerro" when this slim man, meek looking, but with an undeniable fire in his eye, left the cabin of the plane.

The military junta headed by Gen. Manuel Ponce, which deposed Leguia Monday and took control of the Peruvian government, resigned today in face of the demand for Sanchez Cerro and turned the government over to him. A statement made by the officers of the military flying school at Las Palmas said all of the Peruvian army units recognized Sanchez Cerro as their only chief.

Meanwhile, former President Leguia facing trial for the alleged misdeeds of his eleven years of rule, was held aboard the Peruvian cruiser waiting for definite action by the authorities in Lima.

TEETH Mon. Tues. Wed. WHITER
3 Shades in 3 Days
when this ugly condition is removed

EVEN the most unobservant people notice Bacterial-Mouth and the most forgetful always remember its presence. For there's nothing more offensive to the eye than unwholesome gums and teeth that are stained an ugly yellow, cloudy, marred by decay. This condition is due to germs that sweep into the mouth and defy the ordinary toothpaste. They attack teeth and gums. Kolynos kills these germs and so removes Bacterial-Mouth with remarkable result.

Use the Kolynos Dry-Brush Technique for 3 days—a half-inch of Kolynos on a dry brush, morning and night. Then look at your teeth—fully 3 shades whiter.

In 10 days the improvement will be so marked you will never again say that white teeth are a gift received only by a fortunate few.

Dentists have long advocated the Dry-Brush Technique as the one way to use a dental cream full strength and keep brush bristles stiff enough to clean every tooth surface and massage gums properly. Only Kolynos permits this approved technique.

This highly concentrated, double-strength dental cream is unique in action. When it enters the mouth it becomes a surging, antiseptic FOAM that makes wetting the toothbrush unnecessary. You can feel Kolynos work. It foams into and cleans out every pit, fissure and crevice.

Germs that cause Bacterial-Mouth and lead to stain, decay and gum diseases are quickly killed. They vanish and the entire mouth is purified. Kolynos kills 190 million germs in 15 seconds, 424 million in 60 seconds.

This amazing Kolynos FOAM removes food particles that ferment and cause decay . . . neutralizes acids . . . washes away tartar and the unsightly mucoid coating that clouds teeth.

Easily and quickly, it cleans and polishes teeth down to the naked white enamel—without injury. And for 3 hours after each brushing this cleansing, purifying process continues.

So long as you use the Kolynos Dry-Brush Technique, teeth will remain gleaming white and sound, gums will be firm and healthy. Buy a tube of Kolynos from any druggist.

NOW!—New and Greater values in Goodyear Tires than ever before!

That headline is strictly true.

Two bed-rock reasons make it true.

One reason is, Goodyear Tires are better right now than they have ever been.

The other reason is, rubber is cheap and consequently Goodyear Tires are available at the lowest prices in history.

Their preference for Goodyears rests upon definite Goodyear superiorities in both tread and carcass, the two main parts of a tire.

Now is the time to get YOURS

The Goodyear Supertwist Carcass is superior in vitality and long life.

You are not asked to believe these statements without proof.

Any Goodyear Dealer will be glad to demonstrate the facts.

That is true of the people who buy new cars.

It is true of buses which carry passengers—more transcontinental, urban and interurban buses and coaches operate on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind.

It is true also of trucks—more Goodyear Truck Tires are made and sold than any other kind.

Year after year, throughout the world, the number continually increases. Millions more people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind.

U. S. Will Support State and Bank Credits.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27.—[Special.]—President Hoover's drought relief program was brought down to a dollars and cents basis today as the banking members of fifteen state committees and the heads of five federal agencies agreed upon methods of extending financial aid to stricken farmers.

Headed by Melvin A. Traylor of Chicago, representing Illinois, the bankers, at a conference with federal officials in the office of Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde, worked out details of a plan setting up a system of credit corporations in the drought areas, to function in coöperation with the federal reserve and intermediate credit banks.

Follows President's Outline.

The financial plan, in substance, is that tentatively outlined by the President and his advisers several days ago. It shifts to the local communities and the states the main responsibility for making money available to the farmers, and the federal reserve and intermediate credit banks backing up the local banks and credit groups through the rediscounting of the farmers' notes. Such a program, it was pointed out, will be flexible enough to be reduced or expanded as the emergency requires.

Two points were stressed in a series of statements made by participants in the conference at its conclusion. One was that there can legally be no direct handout of cash by any of the federal agencies to the farmers, and, secondly, that the credit system will not be based on charity, but on "sound business methods."

Traylor Heads Drafting Committee.

The decisions of the conferees were announced in a statement made by a drafting subcommittee, headed by Mr. Traylor. It summarized the lines of procedure, as follows:

"First, it is clear to us that the primary duty in the premises rests upon the local banker. He is most familiar in his community with the special problems of his customer. He should utilize first all his credit with his correspondent bank. Second, he should offer for rediscount such eligible paper as he may have or can be made to the federal reserve bank or the intermediate credit bank operating in his territory.

"Third, existing agricultural credit corporations should utilize their full available lines of rediscount with the intermediate credit banks. If necessary capital structures of such existing corporations should be increased in order to make available larger lines o' rediscount with the intermediate credit bank.

For Formation of Credit Bodies.

"Fourth, where no agricultural credit corporations exist and where other credit facilities are not available we urge upon bankers, business men, and farmers that they proceed at once to the formation of agricultural credit corporations. Such corporations should be capitalized upon as broad a basis as practicable and covering considerable areas, in order to attract and hold good management. Such corporations will prove to be valuable to the counties or groups of counties in which they are located not only as an emergency matter but as permanent institutions in aid of agriculture.

"While such corporations cannot and ought not to make unsound loans, yet they can perform a great service in aid of farmers and bankers in affording long term loans and in expanding the financial resources of the communities they serve. Through liberal use of the intermediate credit system this federal agency can be of great assistance in furnishing the cash under the terms of the law to the local agricultural credit corporations and through them to the farmers.

Federal Marketing Assistance.

"Fifth, existing coöperative marketing associations should avail themselves of the liberal financial assistance which is offered by the federal farm board. This can undoubtedly be most easily facilitated through increased membership of the local agency and by the creation of new agencies where none now exists for any particular crop."

The Traylor statement added that while the program outlined may not please those who had anticipated a direct outlay of government cash it nevertheless "covers the avenues of assistance now legally available," and that no one should expect aid except within purview of "existing laws and sound business practices."

Direct Aid Only Through Congress.

Prior to the conference statements were received from Secretary of Agriculture Hyde, Ogden L. Mills, undersecretary of the treasury; Gov. R. A. Young of the federal reserve board, Vice Chairman James C. Stone of the farm board and Paul Bestor, chairman of the farm loan board.

Mr. Mills stated concisely that no treasury money is or can be available for drought relief without congressional action, while Mr. Stone explained that the farm board can lend money only through coöperatives. Mr. Hyde stated that financial aid from his department is limited to the $800,000 balance of a seed loan appropriation to several states.

Both Mr. Bestor, speaking for the intermediate credit banks, and Mr. Young, for the federal reserve banks, agreed that their organizations can and will help through the rediscounting of farmers' notes. They made it clear, however, that the notes must have sound security locally.

GRAFT CHARGED IN $1,588,000 SEWER PROJECT

Lansing Village Officials Named in Suit.

Mishandling of public funds and other irregularities in connection with a $1,588,000 drainage system construction job in Lansing are charged in a taxpayers' suit against village officials and others, demanding an accounting, filed in the federal district court yesterday.

The petition alleges that the village board of local improvements paid out excessive fees from the special assessment fund based on the sewage improvements.

Charge Payments to Many.

It is charged that Attorney I. T. Greenacre of Chicago, who represented the board, received 4 per cent of all special assessment collections; that Harry Ashdown, engineer for the board, obtained 7 per cent; that Gustav Bock, as treasurer of the special funds, received 1 per cent, and that Henry F. W. Schultz, a Lansing banker, was paid 2 per cent for collecting the assessments.

Schultz is alleged to have deposited these funds in his own bank and to have made disbursements without turning them over to the village treasurer or without making a report every two weeks as required by law.

Attorney Seymour Cohen, who filed the bill on behalf of Etta Franks of Hammond and Max and Jennie Weinberg of Lansing, said the alleged shortages would exceed $50,000. The court is petitioned to order a return of whatever amount it finds due.

Charged Selling of Bond.

One of the alleged irregularities was the selling of a $500,000 indemnity bond required by the contractors, the J. J. Dunnegin Construction company, by Alfred Van Steenberg while he was president of the village board and chairman of the board of local improvements. Van Steenberg is alleged to have received $5,000 as his commission for writing the policy for the Indemnity Insurance Company of North America.

The village officials, the petition states, voted a $1,312,768 bond issue for the construction work, and this was $49,102 in excess of the amount allotted by the county court, which approved the assessment roll.

FOR A GREATER NAVAL RESERVE.

Assistant Secretary of the Navy Jahncke in a recent radio talk has made the admirable suggestion that the Naval academy be used to train officers available for the merchant marine. We think this an important policy which should be adopted now and not, for lack of foresight, wait until conditions are so urgent that it is forced upon us. If we have foresight we may foresee at this time that, with the limitation of the professional navy, the merchant fleet will increase in military importance. THE TRIBUNE has pointed this out repeatedly, but Assistant Secretary Jahncke has developed the idea in a practical way.

It should be obvious that if our professional personnel is constantly decreased, as it must be with the reduction of professional ships of war, we shall presently have a very small number of men trained for naval service in case of war. Yet preparation for naval service is a highly scientific and complicated process which cannot be performed impromptu and under stress of emergency. Our whole theory of defense is based on the principle of expansion in war, and if this theory is not to be a dangerous delusion we shall do more than we have in the past or are doing now to provide the means for expansion. Our citizens' training camps, our reserve officer training, and our organized militia represent our effort to provide for expansion in time of need. But Mr. Jahncke's proposal is, we think, a valuable addition. Our merchant fleet is growing and will continue to grow. If above the needs of the navy, young men could be given the very sound and thorough basic education and training which Annapolis offers, they would be very well prepared not only to be high grade officers in the merchant service, but would be ready to serve under war conditions with more immediate competence than if they lacked what Annapolis can give them.

This plan would be profitable either for war or peace. It would permit Annapolis to use its possibilities fully. It would prepare many more young Americans for both a useful civilian career and for the defense of their country. It would be a great advantage to the merchant marine in peace and it would bring to our naval defense in time of need thousands of officers with basic naval training who would soon become effective under war conditions.

We hope the naval affairs committees of congress will not postpone consideration of this very promising plan.

PARADOXES

The propagandists who have been busily telling the world that the diversion at Chicago was lowering the great lakes are just as busy these days announcing that an increase in the diversion cannot deepen the Illinois and the Mississippi rivers to render them navigable in time of drought.

The paradox does not end there. After thirty years of water diversion at Chicago the lakes are now higher than they were before the diversion began, although this year may be recalled in future as the year of the great drought. While sandstorms are swirling over the bed of the Mississippi, shore line property on all the lakes has been damaged severely by high water. This is supposed to prove that the lakes are going dry and that additional water is not needed to maintain navigation in the rivers.

THE PALESTINE REPORT.

The league of nations has received the report of its mandate commission bearing on the disorders between Jews and Arabs in Palestine. The commission takes the British government to task for not massing sufficient force in Palestine to prevent the trouble which it is said was certain to flow from the immigration of Zionist colonists into a land which the Arabs have peopled for centuries. This much of the report, at least, will be hailed by Zionists as vindication of their position. On the surface, at least, it appears to be an affirmation by a neutral disinterested body of the Zionist claim that the rioting and massacre could have been avoided. The British government has replied by defending its administrators against the charges of negligence and lack of foresight.

Whatever the merits of this controversy may be we think a word of warning might well be issued against the assumption that the investigation was as neutral and disinterested as might at first be imagined. It must not be forgotten that the league is dominated by the powers which for more than four centuries have been engaged in rivalry for colonial empire. What in the vocabulary of Versailles is called a mandated territory is scarcely distinguishable from what used to be called a colony. If Palestine were frankly called a colony no one would be astonished if the powers which did not possess it would charge the power which does with all the faults of omission and commission that could be supported by any sort of testimony. Before our revolution the French sought to reënforce their claim to the Ohio valley by denouncing a certain British colonial, George Washington, as a conscienceless murderer. The same tactics were pursued in the present century in the effort to weaken Belgium's hold in the Congo.

The league of nations presents a new forum for the making of an old speech. The purpose of that speech is to weaken the hold of one power on a piece of territory to permit the territory to be taken by another power. Whether the facts and conclusions alleged by the league's commission with respect to Palestine are true or not is another question. Neither in theory nor practice is the league the disinterested body whose findings in the matter might be generally accepted as impartial and accurate.

LAWLESS LABOR RACKETS.

Racketeering and strong arm methods in union labor tactics are not a recent fact or a recent discovery, and yet most of us who read that trucks bringing milk or other merchandise to the city from Kane county are in need of safe conduct through Du Page county must feel a new indignation. In wartime ships carrying merchandise have to be convoyed through danger zones, but are we to continue to submit to war conditions in business?

The picture of conditions in Kane and Du Page counties is identical with that of conditions in Cook, and it is the picture of communities not able to provide themselves with what Chief Justice Hughes the other day called "the primary safeguards of life and property against criminal assaults." Racketeering, union terrorism, plug ugly control of labor organizations have nothing to do with the legitimate objects of organized labor, the objects which win for it recognition in our laws and support in public opinion. The union ship, in far too many cases, has been seized by labor pirates who are not labor leaders but criminals. That they have been able to carry on their system so many years is more serious evidence of our ineffective administration of justice than the lawlessness of the illicit liquor traffic. It involves more innocent people and more fundamental rights.

VOX POPULI IN SPAIN.

One of the results of the return toward popular government in Spain is an order restoring the banderilla de fuego in bull fights. This device, a dart with firecrackers attached, was used to madden a bull whose innate disposition or failing strength disposed him not to fight. The fire darts were jabbed into his neck as a special inducement, and when the crackers began to go off it roused the animal to action. That it made him more belligerent we doubt, and Spaniards opposed to its use assert that it did not. A bull willing to fight did not need them, and a bull without the desired ferocity was merely panic-stricken.

In any case, the device was ruled out by the Marquis de Estella and his minister of home affairs, Gen. Martinez Anido, with the approval of King Alfonso. Another humanitarian order made it obligatory to put padded protection on the wretched horses that in the palmy days of the corrida were gored and disemboweled by the bull.

These measures for mitigating the national sport have not been popular and there has been persistent pressure to remove them. Under the dictatorship these efforts were unavailing, but the present régime is perhaps under special temptation to make itself popular and it is significant that it has given way.

But though the mass liking for gore supports the reaction to the good old ways, there is an economic factor which has undoubtedly provided the initiative and organized the direct pressure on the authorities. The Madrid correspondent of the London Times reports that there are 228 breeders of bulls and about 10,000 bull fighters and their assistants. There are 500 bull rings, to which 14 were added in 1929. In that year some 8,000 bulls were killed, 368 bull fighters wounded, and 8 killed. Formerly about 9,000 horses were killed in a season, but the padded coats have reduced the number to 2,000, a saving for the industry of about $250,000. The coats have not been abolished.

GINGER JAKE.

It now appears that the curious affliction of ginger jake may have been caused by the process of adulteration officially resorted to in order to prevent the surreptitious use of alcohol in beverages. As there is now said to be a disposition in the prohibition enforcement to mitigate its methods, so far at least as they may affect the law abiding, an inquiry would seem to be justifiable. We realize that to the zealous prohibitionist it may seem entirely desirable that partakers of the Kansas beverage should be left to the rigorous workings of the rule of caveat emptor. All are suspect in these days of the noble experiment and, as in the case of other citizens suspected of illicit conduct, whether innocent or guilty, must pay the penalty of error. If the poisoning of alcohol by the government is a lawful means of imposing teetotalism on those citizens who survive that amiable measure, we must assume that Kansas will be the last to protest.

THE OPENING TOUCH.

[Danville (Ill.) Commercial-News.]

In the Arabian Nights story the door was opened by uttering the magic words, "Open Sesame." You may read in hardware ads of doors that "open at a touch." But a new invention by the General Electric company is said to make this literally possible.

You simply walk up to a door and touch it in a certain way, which is your secret, and the door miraculously swings open to admit you.

The mechanism seems to be a new offspring of the vacuum tube family. We shall soon be controlling everything with vacuum tubes. They call this particular device the "thuratron," but they're not on the market yet.

It sounds interesting. A lot of us would like to play with such a contraption. And it might be practical for regular use. But we don't know. It's hard enough to remember the formula of a combination lock. How could we ever be sure of remembering exactly how and where to press on that door, in a way that no other person could do? A key is something tangible and simple.

The scientists at Schenectady recommend the device particularly for lodge rooms, insisting that "it would guarantee the exclusion of all but the initiated." We fear those learned men are not joiners. How could any lodge ever be conducted without a regular outer portal with a regular watchman and peephole and sign and countersign and everything? Machinery is no good for secret orders. You can't have real secrecy, unless you have people acting secretly.

FINGER TIP INJURIES.

DR. M. E. LICHTENSTEIN says infections and injuries of the last joint of a finger should be treated in a way that is peculiar. The bone does not taper to a small end. It piles up into something resembling a small spore mass. This is covered by periosteum, the usual covering of bone, but this membrane does not peel out of the tissues as is usually the case. It joints up with them. The pad of tissue which makes up the finger tip is composed of fat and bands of firm, fibrous tissue. This tissue is attached to the periosteum underneath and the skin on the outside. The blood and lymph vessels of this pad communicate rather freely with the bone below. The arrangement means that an infection which gets well below the skin of this last finger joint is quite apt to get into the bone and cause a bone felon.

Fortunately, the skin in this region is free from hairs and grease glands. Since most of the pimples, boils, carbuncles, and acnes result from infection which has entered through a grease gland or along a hair shaft, this part of the hand is free from these troubles.

Infections in and around the nails are not likely to get far below the surface. Were it not for accidents resulting from the exposed location of the finger tips this part of the anatomy would come out very well in the struggle for safety and fitness. An infected wound of the tip of the finger should be cleaned but not overly cleaned. It should then be wrapped in a gauze dressing wet with a mixture of equal parts alcohol and glycerine. Since alcohol evaporates rapidly, the dressings should be well covered. To apply heat is to increase pain and to promote the extension of the suppuration. In some cases heat gives relief but it should always be dry heat; and if pain is not relieved its application should be discontinued.

The finger pad is partitioned off by firm bands of connective tissue through which pus cannot readily escape. Therefore, drainage should be free else the bone may die and come away. Lancing may be required to save the bone. Lacerations of the fingertips are apt to be overtreated. They do best if not sewed but left alone under rather simple dressings.

CURE IS IN MENTAL TRAINING.

Mrs. M. R. writes:

For the last year I have been rather unusual. By that I mean, I am very easily irritated and would like to be alone all the time. Sometimes when I am lying down my whole body seems to stiffen and I could just scream right out at that time, but I can control myself. I am very lonesome at times, whether among people or not, and when I feel real lonely I start crying. I have no reason to feel lonely because I have plenty of people near me all day. I am losing weight slowly. I am 5 feet 4 inches tall, rather medium build, and weigh 120 pounds. Two weeks ago I weighed 136 pounds.

Could it be possible that worrying is the cause of my present condition? If so, how can I overcome this attitude?

REPLY.

Your trouble is mental. The remedy is mental training. For one thing, you are hysterical. Hysteria is an exaggerated emotionalism. You should be able to control the hysteria and greatly improve your emotional balance.

SURGICAL ATTENTION NEEDED.

Inquirer writes:

1. What are the causes and symptoms of water on the knee?
2. What is the treatment?

REPLY.

1. Injury leads other causes in frequency. Infection is a frequent cause. Occasionally the infection is tuberculous; usually it is not. Among the symptoms are swelling of joint, obliteration of lines and folds, puffiness in places, tenderness, some discomfort on use.
2. Strapping the knee is frequently of service; so is rest of the joint. Sometimes surgical attention is called for.

SYMPTOMS OF MUMPS.

Reader writes:

1. What causes mumps?
2. Is it contagious in grown-ups?
3. What are the symptoms?

REPLY.

1. Some sort of bacillus or virus.
2. Yes.
3. Swelling of the parotid gland [a saliva gland] of one cheek or both, and slight fever.

PROPERTY ENCROACHMENT.

Chicago, Aug. 27.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My next door neighbors have 3 inches in my property gangway. My sidewalk is 30 inches wide. Do they have the right to come onto my property to paint, repair, or put up a scaffold from their roof without my permission? Could they get any permit from the law to enter my property?

M. R.

They have no legal right to encroach upon your side of the boundary without your consent, unless the previous history of the title has been such as to give them an implied easement for a right of way.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

NO MORE SMOKE.

Chicago, Aug. 21.—[Friend of the People.]—I wonder if the bakery next to us on Sheridan could be made to abate its smoke nuisance. There are great clouds of smoke rolling into our apartment so that we can't have the windows open for fresh air.

A. N.

We have ordered the janitor to discontinue burning old boxes, rubbish and garbage from store so as to abate smoke nuisance to neighborhood forthwith.

The department will continue to follow this matter up until the nuisance complained of is abated.

Deputy Smoke Inspector.

PROPERTY CLAIM IN QUESTION.

Chicago, Aug. 27.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—The man who rents my farm land for crops has, without my knowledge or consent, established his aged and infirm father thereon. The old man pays no rent, and I ask if there is danger that he may claim the property as his own after a number of years, even though I pay the taxes as they become due.

If he can so claim, how many years' residence makes it possible? A. W. M.

If he has no paper title, 20 years adverse possession would be the minimum.

BY THAT TIME.

"A ray of light from the star group Centaurus will take one million five hundred years to reach the earth."—New York Times.

I wish I were a ray of light
That started out this very day
To journey way down to our earth
From old Centaurus far away.

The trip would take some little time,
So that when I landed here
I could look forward to sitting down
With a nice cool stein of beer.

If I were that little ray of light
And started off today,
I'd land in Chicago in time to see—
Work started on the subway.

And then I hope I would not hear
The moans and shrieks and squeals
Of those nerve destroying radios
They're putting in automobiles.

There'd be no dry sleuths deviling me,
No reformer would be found;
And peewee golf, I fondly trust,
Will be buried underground.

I'd find the peace that's not here now
(The same that old Centaurus has),
I'll be no longer driven mad—
By that time there'll be no jazz.

I'll smile as I walk down the street,
Where now I blush with shame;
I love baseball, and in a million years
The Sox will have won a game.

OUR FRATERNAL government has adopted a new shield a couple of feet high on which is painted, "Stop! U. S. Official! Bureau of Prohibition," which the dry sleuths will carry on their cars. We wish the government would also design a shield lined with bulletproof steel for us common people to wear when the dry sleuths shoot at our tires.

C. BASCOM SLEMP has been given a job as some sort of a director general to some sort of a fair that's going to be held in Paris. Shucks! That's the reason we were going to drive through Virginia on our vacation; we wanted to C. Bascom Slemp.

Anyhow, What About Coshocton?

"The Good Wife" bawls us out something awful because we said Washington Courthouse would be one of our ports of call when trekking in the family bus on our vacation trip across Ohio. "We're here in Springfield, O.," says she, "and believing you must have some reason for going to Washington Courthouse, and that it must be an old, historical sort of town we hitched up our gas hack last Sunday and went down there. Nothing doing, nothing to look at; just a town with retired farmers in their shirt sleeves sitting on their front porches reading the newspapers. What's the idea press agenting that place anyhow? Next Sunday we're going to play golf." All right, then we won't go to Washington Courthouse, Ohio. We just wanted to get the lowdown on that place. Thanks!

SENATOR JONES comes out with a flat denial that he wrote the Jones 5 & 10 law. Then it must have been two other fellers. But why deny it? It does look as though there is the beginning of something like a general scramble of 18th amendmenters for the tall grass and the uncut timber. Tck! tck! tck!

AND OLD Doc Spoke writes in to say if the 18th amendment is repealed if will take him six months to quit drinking.

"STOCKS IRREGULAR, due to profit taking."—Yesterday's market report. We're hunting a nice lonely place for our vacation and perhaps we couldn't do better than wander down Wall street in New York. There'd probably be a few brokers in the middle of the street playing miniature golf, and some of them matching pennies on the sidewalk, maybe two or three profit taking, whatever that is; but, otherwise, everything else must be as lonely as a country graveyard at midnight.

SWAMP SKETCHES.

II. MARY MANN.

She bears her children as an orchard bears
Fruit after healthy fruit, and gives away
Each one where it may fall. The common fears
Of loss, of death, or ruin and decay
For the sweet flesh she nourishes no more
Have never touched her. In her quiet eyes
Is the remoteness of the sea and shore
And the austerity of autumn skies.
Unbent beneath the decades of her toil,
Unbroken with her long fertility,
Victorious as the earth whose vanished spoil
Goes to enrich a greater treasury,
There is in her the power of the soil
And something of the beauty of a tree.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

AUGUST 28, 1914.

PARIS.—With the Germans forging ahead in northern France, the Belgians active in the vicinity of Brussels and Malines, and with the German center and left flank checked by the allies, Paris believes the conflict of millions at last is in progress. The Germans are now only ninety miles from Paris. In fear that they may break through the outer defense, the city is preparing for a siege. It is rapidly being turned into a vast intrenched camp.

PARIS.—The French retreated from the fortified city of Lille and abandoned Roubaix and Valenciennes, near the Belgian frontier. They have fallen back on Arras where a battle of great importance is expected hourly. Longwy also has fallen after a fierce bombardment by the Germans.

ANTWERP.—Louvain was burned by the Germans. The hotel de ville, the library, and other public buildings were destroyed.

ST. PETERSBURG.—The loss of East Prussia, which is the granary of northern Germany, is a severe blow to the kaiser. A sense of victorious security now seems to prevail in Russia.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Secretary of State Bryan cabled all American embassies and legations in Europe to urge Americans to leave Europe without delay.

LONDON.—The Times has a dispatch from Paris describing the part an aeroplane is said to have played in the early battle of Mons. This machine, a biplane, hovered at a safe height over the Franco-British artillery position and actually directed the fire of the German gunners.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

AUGUST 28, 1900.

WASHINGTON.—The latest official advices to the United States government on the Chinese situation were received in the following dispatch from Minister Conger: "No important movements since last dispatch. Military is trying to restore order. No representative of the Chinese government encountered yet. Generals decided not to enter imperial palace, believing it practically empty. Two thousand Germans arrived."

CHICAGO.—The battle lines of the civil war will reform today. The sunrise salute of thirteen guns at the foot of Monroe street on the lake front will arouse the veterans to prepare for the greatest parade in the history of the Grand Army of the Republic. Grand Marshal J. H. Wood estimates that 35,000 veterans will march.

LONDON.—The war office has received the following dispatch from Lord Roberts: "The Boers have been beaten back by Bruce Hamilton at Winburg. Gen. Olivier has been captured."

CHICAGO.—President Harper of the University of Chicago received word from Paris that the Grand Prix in the department of physics at the Paris exposition has been awarded to Prof. A. A. Michelson, head of the department of physics in the university.

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

AUGUST 28, 1865.

WASHINGTON.—An assistant commissioner of the Freedmen's bureau, who was sent to investigate the conditions of the freedmen in the lower counties of Maryland, reported to Gen. Howard that many complaints are made by a majority of the planters of indolence and impudence on the part of the Negroes, scarcity of labor and increase of crime, and of the pernicious influence of the Freedmen's bureau inculcating a spirit of insubordination in the Negroes.

CINCINNATI.—The action of the Democratic convention of this state in making Vallandigham its chairman has done more to retain the vote of the returned soldiers for the Union party than all the speaking of the campaign could have done. They cannot now blind their eyes to the fact that the so-called Democratic party is the same secession loving, traitor sympathizing band it was two years ago.

NEW YORK.—The proceedings of the Werz trial in Washington yesterday were exceedingly interesting though the details of cruelty were sickening. The evidence corroborates fully all that has heretofore been written or spoken of the horrors and sufferings of dreadful Andersonville prison. The captives were starved and tortured to death. Two hundred and seven died in one day of August, 1864.

THE MUSIC FESTIVAL.

Little Neck, L. I., Aug. 24.—I cannot refrain from expressing my appreciation of last night's music festival. As a lover of good music I was delighted with that portion of the program which reached me. The clarity and tonal quality of both instruments and voices was splendid; indeed I regretted the brevity of this fine entertainment. With most of the music I was, of course, familiar because of having been a regular attendant of the various symphony concerts played in and around New York City, yet I must say that never have I heard the "1812" overture played in a more impressive manner than that of last night. Truly it was a splendid climax to a glorious program.

THE TRIBUNE, together with the other newspapers whose combined efforts and public spirit made possible this educational and inspiring performance, deserves great credit and commendation. I cannot state what I really feel for words would only cheapen and not enhance the value of the benefit derived from hearing last night's music festival.

LESTER KERSHAW.

AN EXAMPLE TO THE WORLD.

New York, Aug. 24.—Chicago last night set a fine example to the world with its wonderful musical festival. A program such as that of last night should encircle the globe. It should shatter the foreign belief that we are only dollar hunters. There were too many good features to single out any one and we hope other cities will follow Chicago's example.

Chicago to the world at large is a tough spot. During my travels abroad the city was spoken of deprecatingly, but your crime, your gangland, and bombast of Big Bills and Little Bills spreads farther than your music. We could not see your stadium but we felt perfectly the atmosphere created by the throng there.

Your first great festival has been a success. Make it an annual feast. Thanks, CHICAGO TRIBUNE and the cooperative newspapers; repeat the program annually.

GEORGE BRUCE CRANSTON.

FROM A PARTICIPANT.

Chicago, Aug. 26.—Just a word to tell you how much I enjoyed the music festival last Saturday. Just to have been there was a privilege, but I want to thank you, further, for the opportunity to be a part of it—singing in the Hallelujah chorus. It was quite the most wonderful and magnificent cultural gathering in which I have ever participated. To say it was inspirational is putting it mildly. Best of luck and here's hoping for another.

ELIZABETH M. BARFKNECHT.

TWO VOTES.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Aug. 24.—Here are two perfectly good votes for an annual music festival.

CARRIE E. MITCHELL,
AMY L. MOFFETT.

THE BEST BROADCAST.

Ashville, N. Y., Aug. 25.—I was one of the thrilled millions who listened to the marvelous presentation of last Saturday evening. The six members of our home, all radio fans, agree this was the very best musical event as yet broadcast, and wish to extend hearty congratulations. Trust that your suggestion of making this a nation-wide competition may be carried out.

EARLE W. GAGE.

WONDERFUL.

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 24.—We are at a loss to find words to describe how wonderful your Chicagoland Music Festival program was.

MR. AND MRS. H. E. BOSTWICK.

FROM NORTH CAROLINA.

Jackson, N. C., Aug. 25—I am sending a word of congratulation on the success of Saturday's festival. I hope it will inspire your paper—and associated workers—to continue your good work. To me, a former resident of the south side, it was a source of pride.

RICHARD LLOYD.

NEXT SUMMER.

Springfield, Mass., Aug. 24.—I heard your most wonderful concert given Saturday at Soldiers' field in Chicago. I must say it was wonderful and clear, and I enjoyed the music beyond words of expression. I hope in the near future I will be able to hear more of such wonderful concerts from Chicago.

L. M. WARD.

NO WORTHY AMERICAN SONGS!

Gary, Ind., Aug. 25.—While not wishing to minimize the stupendous music festival I am desirous of commenting upon the fact that there is no single song that might be pointed to as being genuinely national in sentiment, American interpretation, and national in popularity. Among the songs selected for community singing, barring Sweet Adeline, none enjoyed a spontaneous response significant of popularity (and surely we would not care to point to "Sweet Adeline" as a representative of American music). Possibly America is too vast and geographically varied to permit a national song, but I do ask to what can we point as American in creation?

SIDNEY HYMAN.

THE DARK AGES.

Chicago, Aug. 23.—This is not intended as a diatribe against Lincoln park golf course officials; it is written as a lament, bewailing the loss of a spirit of fellowship for the one in need.

Friday evening I arrived too late to play. Since I had taken no money with which to sign up again, I offered the starter three street car tokens in lieu of twenty cents. They were refused. That she complied with the rules there is no doubt—just as did the policeman who refused to let me play because I was late. Both were within the bounds of the law. What hurt was that a strange youth offered me the fee while one of my own sex refused to accept what she herself could easily have converted into cash. As social beings we are in the dark ages if we are so drained of the milk of human kindness that we are unable to see beyond the pettiness of cash bound rules.

HILDEGARD SANDBERG.

APPEAL TO UNCLE BIM.

Saturday, Aug. 23.—For weeks we have been holding our breath with expectancy! Something is going to happen! But, alas, the widow gets her credit back, our pulse drops back to normal, and we are doomed for another six months of monotony. Uncle Bim will you kindly do something?

COOK DEMOCRATS MAP FIGHT ON TAX AMENDMENT

Sound Warning on Danger of Income Levy.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Having reluctantly held their fire on this subject at the state convention last week, Chicago Democrats yesterday prepared to make a strong attack on the proposed amendment to the revenue article of the state constitution which will go to a referendum of the entire state on Nov. 4.

At a meeting of the county managing committee there was an understanding reached that at the county convention of Sept. 11—to be held primarily to nominate judicial candidates—resolutions will be adopted denouncing the projected amendment as another downstate effort to make Chicago taxpayers bear more than their share of the load of the state government.

Modify Their Stand.

That was the sort of a plank that would have been put into the platform at Springfield if the Cook county delegates had determined to use their power, but downstate leaders persuaded them to be satisfied with a declaration that the Republican state administration — which fathered this constitutional move — has boosted taxes and has proposed no method of reducing them.

In the county gathering the amendment was referred to exclusively as the "income tax amendment" because it authorizes that sort of a levy and no other means has been suggested of providing a new source of revenue for the state.

That was the tack taken by Michael L. Igoe, national committeeman, who suggested that action should be taken at the judicial convention. He declared that the amendment would be beaten badly.

Igoe Attacks Tax Plan.

"How many of the voters," he asked, "do you believe are going to relish the plan of the Republican governor of the state to add an income tax to the already crushing burden imposed on the people, particularly upon those in Cook county?

"And yet that is the program of the Republican administration and if it succeeds Cook county will pay 90 per cent of the amount that is raised by the income tax.

"I know the argument has been made that it will decrease real estate taxes. That is not the history in other states that have income taxes in New York, for instance, the passage of the income tax had no effect on the real estate tax and, although the income tax has been reduced from time to time, there never has been any reduction in the real estate tax. If we have an income tax real estate owners in Cook county will continue to pay just as much as they do today and in addition will pay the new tax.

"You will not read the words 'income tax' in the proposal as it is submitted to you on the big ballot, but if you authorize the amendment of the income tax the governor will go through with his income tax proposition."

Hits G. O. P. Stand.

Earlier Committeeman Igoe attacked the Republican state plank on prohibition as a shallow pretense and pointed out that it did not mention the Jones 5 and 10 law establishing increased penalties for violation of the Volstead law.

Rumors of efforts to bring out a bone dry as a candidate for the United States senatorship brought from J. Russell Forgan, Chicago commander of the Crusaders, a statement that his organization would welcome such a step because it would provide definite proof of the strength of the bone dry vote in Illinois.

Planes Bomb Peiping

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PEIPING, Aug. 27.—Nationalist airplanes from their base south of Tsinanfu appeared over Peiping this morning and dropped bombs in six places inside the Chinese city. Only one bomb exploded. This fell inside the Chunghai gate in the former imperial park. Nobody was killed, but several houses were wrecked.

The airplanes avoided dropping bombs in the foreign quarters. Although the Shansi garrison replied with anti-aircraft guns, the airplanes flew very low, apparently not heeding the northern defenses.

Reds Attack U. S. Ships.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 27.—(AP)—Reds in the vicinity of Wusueh, Hupeh province, today attacked the American gunboat Panay, showering it with machine gun bullets. The Panay returned the fire. The damage inflicted upon the attackers was not determined. There were no casualties on the Panay, which is attached to the United States Yangtze river patrol.

REPORT TWELVE INDICTED IN 42D WARD VOTE QUIZ

Officials Named in Kirk-Joyce Race.

Twelve election officials of two precincts of the 42d ward were reported named in true bills voted yesterday by the grand jury. The true bills charge conspiracy to commit election frauds in the recent contest between Wallace F. Kirk and the late state Senator John T. Joyce for the Republican state senatorial nomination.

Several witnesses, it was reported, testified that votes cast for Kirk were changed in favor of Joyce.

In the Twenty-sixth precinct two clerks, three judges, and a precinct captain are named. They are: E. J. Deming, Republican clerk; Joseph G. McCauley, Democratic clerk; Sidney Nathanson, Democratic judge; G. Stewart Robertson, Republican judge; James Harley, Democratic judge; and James DeForanzo, Republican precinct captain for the late senator.

Tony Scardini, Joyce captain in the Fortieth precinct, is charged with having conspired with Angelo Bongiorno and Benjamin Caparole, Republican judges; Joseph DiBella, Democratic judge; Leonard Franzone, Republican clerk; and Frank Caperole, Democratic clerk. The Caperoles are brothers.

Before his death, Senator Joyce charged that men from the state's attorney's office had threatened voters in his ward.

Attorney Urban Lavery, representing the defeated Mr. Kirk, yesterday filed notice with the secretary of state in Springfield of a protest against the issuance of a certificate to Charles Peace, selected to fill the vacancy caused by Joyce's death, until the settlement of the recount.

SOUTH CAROLINA FACES RUNOFF IN SENATE RACE

Blease Leads Opponent by 12,000 Votes.

Columbia, S. C., Aug. 27.—(AP)—With three-fourths or more of the total vote in yesterday's primary accounted for, a runoff primary was assured Senator Cole L. Blease and former Congressman James F. Byrnes for the toga worn by the former since 1925. The second primary will be held Sept. 9.

Tabulation of unofficial returns from 1,186 of the state's 1,528 precincts gave Blease 84,294 votes; Byrnes, 72,160, and Leon W. Harris of Anderson 30,173.

In the governor's race supporters of Ibra C. Blackwood, Spartanburg, solicitor, and A. Frank Lever, former congressman, weighed the chances of the remaining ballots wiping out Blackwood's lead over Lever for the position of runner up to Olin D. Johnston, who led the field of eight by a wide margin.

The vote for Johnston climbed to 52,173 in the tabulation of 1,275 boxes. Blackwood had 38,764 votes to 35,475 for Lever.

Collins Wins in Mississippi.

Jackson, Miss., Aug. 27.—(AP)—Congressman Ross A. Collins of the Fifth district withstood attacks on his party loyalty, and retained his seat for a sixth term by overwhelming Robert S. Harrison, young Leake county legislator, in Mississippi's Democratic primary of yesterday.

The returns gave him a three to one victory, the votes being: Collins, 16,567, and Harrison, 5,563. These results were complete from half of the ten counties and the remainder were near completion with only small boxes still out.

Senator Pat Harrison and the seven other congressional representatives of Mississippi were unopposed.

Concedes Rolph Victory.

Sacramento, Cal., Aug. 27.—(AP)—Gov. C. C. Young conceded defeat for the Republican nomination for governor tonight and sent a telegram of congratulation to Mayor James Rolph Jr., San Francisco.

Complete returns from 9,747 precincts out of 10,283 gave Rolph 361,111; Young, 336,746, and Buron Fitts, Los Angeles district attorney, 282,997.

Idaho Conventions Held.

Selection of Ross followed nomination of Joseph Tyler of Emmett as candidate for United States senator to oppose Senator William E. Borah, who was renominated by the Republicans yesterday.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 27.—Six persons died in the British isles today owing to the record heat and hundreds more collapsed and were admitted to various hospitals. London baked in the hottest August day for seven years and the mercury touched 92 degrees Fahrenheit in the shade, only three degrees short of the all time mark set in 1911.

English office workers, always conservative in the matter of shedding their garments during torrid weather, appeared today minus coats and vests. Many in London sought refuge in the city's cold storage depots. All London's public swimming baths are being kept open tonight to accommodate thousands waiting outside to take a cooling dip.

Agriculture, which suffered from deluges of rain in the early part of the month, is now suffering from the heat throughout the British isles. Government observers forecast no break in the temperature for several days.

Record Heat in Paris.

PARIS, Aug. 27.—(AP)—A heat wave holding France in its grip for the last three days has caused several cases of sunstroke, most of them mild. Today's temperature was 93.2, the hottest this year. Among the victims of sunstroke was Etienne Clementel, the venerable statesman.

A group of 226 American Gold Star mothers, mostly from the middle western states, reached Paris this evening. All of them suffered from the effects of the excessive heat, but none of them was seriously indisposed.

Rome and Naples Bake.

ROME, Aug. 27.—(AP)—Rome and Naples, each with a temperature of 95 degrees, today were probably the hottest cities in Italy.

MANY STORES TO REMAIN OPEN ALL DAY SATURDAY

A number of the loop stores and shops which have been closing on Saturday afternoons during the summer months will remain open next Saturday afternoon, it was learned yesterday. One of the principal reasons for the decision by some of the store and shop owners to change their regular summer practice is the fact that next Monday is Labor day, and to close on Saturday afternoon would mean that their places of business would have to remain closed from Saturday noon until the following Tuesday morning.

The greatest of the world's railroad centers is bustling these last August days with onrushing families arriving from North—East—South and West. The air ports are humming with home gliding planes. The super-highways are lining four abreast with Chicago-bound motors. Even the lake is uncommonly full of traffic filled with vacationed families from Michigan and Wisconsin. Why? Because they've suddenly one and all become conscious of the fact that August is about to expire and with it expire the August Sales.

It's going to be an active winter—and all of the family need shoes from the August Sales. 42 PER 1,000 OF CHICAGO'S TOTAL ARE OUT OF JOB

Situation Downstate Is Some Better.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27.—[Special.]—Cook county on April 1 had 165,603 persons without jobs, able to work and looking for jobs, or approximately 4.2 per cent of the total population of 3,972,528, the census bureau announced today in a report covering unemployment figures for Illinois counties.

Previously the bureau had made public the state total showing 236,926 persons unemployed throughout the state, or 3.1 per cent of the population. For the entire country, the unemployment ratio was almost exactly 2 per cent.

Centers in Industrial Cities.

As shown by today's report, close to 60 per cent of the jobless persons in Illinois are in Chicago, indicating, as have the reports from other states, that the unemployment problem centers in the industrial cities. Unemployment percentages in the agricultural states were relatively smaller.

Outside of Cook county the highest percentages of unemployment were found in the coal mining regions in the extreme southern part of the state and in the counties which have the largest cities.

Three Per Cent Counties.

County—	Population.	Unemployed.	Per-cent-age.
Alexander	22,543	671	3.0
Edwards	8,303	267	3.2
Franklin	59,432	2,015	3.4
Jackson	28,004	1,281	4.6
Lake	103,397	3,785	3.7
Macoupin	48,705	2,906	6.0
Montgomery	35,268	1,559	4.4
Pulaski	14,823	593	4.0
Sangamon	111,800	3,545	3.2
Wabash	13,194	400	3.0
Winnebago	118,304	3,678	3.1
Williamson	53,873	3,020	5.6

Brown county was shown to have the least acute unemployment problem, with only 26 persons out of a population of 7,896 recorded as unemployed, or .3 per cent.

MAIL CARRIER DIES IN CRASH.

Two Surrender on Charge of Killing Labor Leaders

Charles Arthur Stein, secretary of his father's plumbing contracting concern, the Carl John Stein company, and Charles Courchene, plumbing superintendent on the new Lane Technical High school building, surrendered yesterday to the police after warrants had been issued charging them with the murder of Charles Mulcahy and Bernard Ruberry, officials of the plumbers' union. The two union officials were shot at site of the new school on Aug. 26. Mulcahy was killed instantly and Ruberry died a short while later.

Stein and Courchene refused to tell their side of the trouble. Attorney W. W. Smith, representing the accused men, informed Chief of Detectives John Norton he had advised them to make no statement.

Freed on $140,000 Bail.

Soon after their appearance at the detective bureau Stein and Courchene were taken before Judge John Sbarbaro in the Felony court, and when the prosecutors said they did not know what the evidence in the case was the pair were released on bail of $70,000 each, furnished by Carl John Stein, head of the plumbing company; William J. Lang of the Webster hotel; Henry P. Reger, 6939 Bennett avenue, and Thomas Hanley Jr. of the South Shore Country club.

Coroner Herman N. Bundesen ordered that the inquest into the deaths of the two union officials be resumed this morning. Attorney Smith said his clients probably will not testify at the inquest, although it was intimated they will claim self-defense if brought to trial in the Criminal court. They will not testify before Judge Sbarbaro either, it is understood, it being Attorney Smith's plan to await the full presentation of evidence against the accused men.

Tells Police of Threats.

Mulcahy and Ruberry went to the site of the new school building to call a strike, the elder Stein told the police, after they had made threats in Stein's office at 160 East Grand avenue. The younger Stein and Courchene disappeared after the shooting.

Yes, you can feel well!

IT sounds like a fairy tale, that you can feel well so easily. Isn't it lucky that you can prove it! Start Nujol tonight and take it regularly. If you are like most people your complexion will clear; your life will be filled with the sunshine of health; you will have new energy, pep, and vigor!

Crystal-clear Nujol is not a medicine. It is simply internal lubrication, which your body needs just like any other intricate machine. Your doctor will tell you how good it is for you.

Regularly as clockwork Nujol will clear the dulling poisons out of your system (we all have them), and leave you feeling fine. Too good to be true? Then why do so many millions of people keep well and happy and full of pep this very way?

Nujol is sold in all drug stores in sealed packages only, trademarked "Nujol." Insist on Nujol by name. It costs but a few cents, but it will make you feel like a million dollars! Now go prove it!

BRITISH ARREST "WAR COUNCIL" IN RAID IN INDIA

Blow Is Bitter One for Gandhi Followers.

BY WILLIAM SHIRER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BOMBAY, Aug. 27.—The chances for peace in India seemed to be fading away rapidly tonight.

The third bomb explosion in three days at Calcutta today injured four, one fatally. At Amritsar a bomb exploded just as the son of the village blacksmith was putting the finishing touches on it. He was seriously injured.

But the biggest blow to the Nationalists since Mahatma Gandhi was imprisoned was the arrest of practically the entire "war committee" 15 minutes after it had convened at Delhi this morning. This is the central organization, which has directed the home rule movement since Gandhi was arrested, and which has carried on, despite the arrest and imprisonment of five of its presidents in the last three months.

Nine Men Seized.

Never since the beginning of the civil disobedience campaign has the government ventured to arrest more than one congress leader at a time, and the wholesale move to wipe out the entire governing body of the Gandhi movement at one stroke is interpreted as meaning that the government has given up hopes of coming to terms with the "holy man."

Nine men, comprising the "war council," were arrested, including V. J. Patel, speaker of the legislative assembly last year; Pandit Malaviya, for 40 years a warm government supporter, who only recently turned Nationalist because he despaired of British promises for Indian home rule, and Dr. Ansari, president. Two women members were not arrested.

The jailing of the congress leaders is expected to put an end to the peace negotiations at Simla between Viceroy Lord Irwin and Sir Tej Bahadur and M. Jayakar, Indian moderate leaders. This trio conferred again today, and it was intimated that further conversations with Mr. Gandhi might be necessary.

Hide "War Council" Papers.

It is believed that the government's next move will be to suppress the provincial congress working committees. In anticipation of this, the Bombay congress today hurriedly removed its documents and stores to a secret hiding place. But the police failed to appear. A complete tie-up of business in Bombay has been planned for tomorrow as a protest to today's arrests.

Further arrests were reported today from Simla, where 15 congress leaders were arrested for forming a procession in celebration of Nationalist flag day. They were immediately sentenced to four months of imprisonment. Several were injured when the police charged the procession with clubs.

INDIA SELF-RULE BAD FOR BRITAIN, ECONOMIST SAYS

Williamstown, Mass., Aug. 27.—[Special.]—Srinivasi Ram Wagel, economist and financier, told the Institute of Politics today that self-rule in India or even a real measure fo self-government would automatically work great harm to Great Britain commercially. Accomplishment of part of the Nationalist program, he asserted, would reduce British exports to India, help India to become self-contained in lines now supplied by Great Britain, and would directly harm Great Britain for at least two decades before adjustment would be possible.

Mr. Wagel maintained that Great Britain required the taxes which it collected from India in order to support her home budget, and that if India attained self-government not only would Great Britain lose an important market for exports but she would have a new competitor for world markets.

Under the circumstances, "if any Englishman in India acted other than for his own economic interests," said Mr. Wagel, "he is either an angel or superman or an unmitigated idiot."

ILLINOIS BANK BANDIT KILLS HIMSELF WHEN POSSEMEN TRAP HIM

Omaha, Ill., Aug. 27.—(AP)—Within a few hours after Barney Caldwell, 36, had robbed the State Bank of Omaha of $375, he had been killed and a woman companion, Mabel Curry, was under arrest charged with being an accomplice.

Caldwell, surrounded in a wooded section three miles from here by a posse headed by Sheriff Hal Crunk, was either killed by a bullet from his own gun or shot by a posseman. Only one wound, a bullet hole between his eyes, was found. Officers believed he shot himself.

The woman captured by the posse refused to discuss the bank robbery or the slaying.

Officers said Caldwell was a former convict, having been paroled about two months ago from an Indiana prison. He formerly lived in Omaha.

About noon he presented a check at the window of the State bank. The cashier, a young woman, refused payment, believing it to be forged. Caldwell then drew a gun and forced the cashier to hand over $375.

Leaving the bank, Caldwell entered a motor car in which his companion was waiting. The posse caught up with them three miles north of Omaha on state highway No. 140. Caldwell then left his companion and ran about a mile, exchanging shots with the posse.

Last Friday, authorities said, Caldwell robbed the Ude service station in Carmi of $50. Officers had been searching for him since.

4 DIE IN CRASH OF GIANT ARMY PLANE IN FRANCE

DIJON, France, Aug. 27.—(AP)—A pilot, two noncommissioned officers, and the wireless operator of a military airplane were killed early today when their machine crashed near Courcelles-les-Monts, a few miles west of here.

Two other members of the crew saved their lives by jumping with parachutes. They escaped with slight injuries.

Ten military aviators have lost their lives in France within a few hours. Last night while in defense maneuvers six army flyers were killed when they cracked up at Chavannes, near Chartres.

BOY, CONFESSED BLACKMAILER, TO BE ARRAIGNED

Benjamin Markowitz, 17 years old, a Hyde Park High school student who has confessed attempts to extort money from well-to-do south side residents, will be brought before Judge Francis Allegretti in the Boys' court today. No formal charges have been placed against him as yet.

Lieut. Michael Woods of the Hyde Park police said it is planned to have young Markowitz examined by an alienist and formal charges probably will not be preferred before the court hearing this morning. The youth is the son of Morris Markowitz, a trucking contractor, who was shot to death four years ago, supposedly as a result of labor troubles.

Young Markowitz was captured on Tuesday night near 4444 Greenwood avenue, where he had gone to collect money from a south side woman whom he had threatened in an anonymous letter. He confessed he had demanded $4,500 of Mrs. Henry Klein, 4885 Greenwood avenue, and $3,000 from Mrs. Julian Manheimer, 4458 Drexel avenue, wife of an investment broker.

WOMAN SUICIDE CALLED INSANE.

A coroner's jury returned a verdict of suicide while temporarily insane yesterday in the case of Mrs. Celia Barrett, 52 years old, mother of two children, who swallowed a fatal dose of poison Monday at her home, 6456 Maryland avenue, after quarreling with her husband.

Now AT CURTISS-REYNOLDS AIRPORT

The Cream of Army, Navy, Marine Corps Aviation — with World-Famous Fliers — All A-Wing in the World's Most Thrilling Air Spectacle!

NATIONAL AIR RACES

Army, Navy and Marine Corps demonstrate formation flying and individual maneuvers.

See these Famous Knights and Ladies of the Air!

Frank Hawks and Jimmie Doolittle, with their sensational mystery ships; the International Team of Stunt Fiers: Atcherley, Colombo, Doret, Lohse and Williams, daredevils of the air; Earhart, Smith, O'Donnell, Omlie, ladies whose fame is world-wide; Pitcairn with his autogyro fleet; McDonnell with his Guggenheim competition Doodlebug; Chamberlin, first U. S.—Germany flier; and scores of others—here to achieve new laurels.

GO—TODAY—TO CURTISS-REYNOLDS AIRPORT! Here's the biggest thrill you've ever had—and the most spectacular sporting event Chicago has ever witnessed.

Racing planes, stunting planes, stately blimps, eccentric autogyros, giant bombers, fleet pursuit ships, multi-motored air liners, biplanes, monoplanes, amphibians, tiny flivvers—all the great array of this flying age doing its stuff—in action, to thrill and entertain you!

Come see the mammoth Army bombers and the stinging pursuit groups of the Army, Navy and Marine Corps in impressive formation stunting, in the trick maneuvers of wartime flying.

Here are the world's most famous fliers — for you to see in the very flying that has made them known the world over — men and women whose glorious daring has thrilled you even as you read about their exploits. Here they are at these races, in person, to achieve new and greater records for speed and skill.

At 150, 200 miles an hour, these aero-racers rip the air. With wing to ground, they bank around the pylons—out to win. In turns and rolls, loops and dives, startling aerobatics are on display. Gliders and parachutists, old pusher models and modern mystery ships vie in contests and stunts.

How to Get There

Chicago is fortunate in having the National Air Races staged at an airport superbly served by both steam and electric lines, providing easier access and more comfortable transit in the handling of the enormous audiences than where automobile transportation alone has been available.

BY TRAIN

Milwaukee R. R. direct from Union Depot to Airport every 15 minutes, 11:45 a. m. to 2 p. m., 35 minutes running time. Convenient returning trains. Round Trip, 75c.

BY ELECTRIC ROAD

North Shore Electric hourly to noon, every 15 minutes noon to 2 p. m., from regular northbound stations, Adams and Wabash, Madison and Wabash, Randolph and Wabash, Clark and Lake, Grand, Belmont, Wilson and Howard Avenues. Get off at Northfield, connecting with busses direct to Airport—convenient returning schedules. Complete round trip either line, 75c.

BY AUTOMOBILE

Curtiss-Reynolds Airport is in Glenview, 1 mile west of Waukegan Road at Lake Avenue. Drive out Waukegan Road to Lake Avenue, west on Lake Avenue to the southeast entrance of Airport. Or drive west on Dempster to Shermer Avenue and north on Shermer to main entrance.

If coming from the west, drive down Milwaukee Avenue to intersection of Lake, then east on Lake to Airport.

If driving from north of the Airport, follow Waukegan Road to Lake Avenue, or leave Waukegan Road at intersection of Shermer and go south on Shermer to Airport.

Petty Makes Debut in Opening Inning.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

It was let down day at Wrigley field yesterday afternoon. The Cubs went down under the ether and took a ruthless licking from the Pittsburgh Pirates by a score of 10 to 8.

Charley Root was wheeled out of the clinic before he had his mitt well filled on, which gave Jess Petty a chance to make his debut in Cub garment. Jess did only fairly well. Hal Osborn finished and wasn't especially impressive, either.

The Pirates made 20 hits for 24 runs off Mr. McCarthy's pitching trio. The collection included five singles in a row by Capt. Pie Traynor and four singles in a row by Pitcher Ervin Brame. Bartell made a homer with men on in the sixth off Petty, and Osborn knocked one of Osborn's pitches into Sheffield avenue in the eighth.

Hit Homers at End.

Fortified with a 10 to 4 lead, Brame loosened a bit in the eighth, and the Cubs were quick to take advantage of his lowered vitality. Dan Taylor and Gabby Hartnett made homers in the eighth and Woody English made one in the ninth. Gabby's was his No. 21.

The outcome, together with other happenings in the National league, further congested the pennant race. The Cubs continued 5½ games ahead of the second place Giants. The Robins moved up within a half game of the Giants. The Cards are within a game of the Giants and only a half game behind the Robins.

Dan Comorosky singled to center, scoring the Waners and putting Grantham on third. Traynor singled to center, scoring Grantham and putting Comorosky on third.

At this juncture it was decided Root wasn't himself, and he was replaced by Petty. Bartell singled into left, scoring Comorosky. Suhr bunted and forced Traynor at third. Blair threw out Hemsley and Brame fanned.

Pirates Add Two.

In the third inning the Pirates made the score 6 to 1. Suhr bounced a single over Petty's head, paused while Hemsley filed to Cuyler and went to third on the first of Brame's three hits. L. Waner grounded to Blair and Suhr was run down between third and home. P. Waner singled to center, scoring Brame, and went to second on the throw to the plate. Wilson's throw was wild and, when it evaded Petty and Hartnett, L. Waner scored and P. Waner proceeded to third. Grantham fanned.

The Cubs got themselves three runs in the fifth. Bell started off with a single and scored on Blair's single to center. English walked. Cuyler made a sacrifice fly to Sothern. Then Blair doubled to center, scoring Blair and English.

More Pittsburgh Runs.

Petty struck out Grantham again to start the sixth, and English threw out Comorosky. Then Traynor singled and scored ahead of Bartell's homer.

Traynor made his fifth single to start the eighth, but was forced by Suhr, who then stole second. Suhr reached the ball over the right field bleachers, and he and Bartell ran home.

In addition to the three Cub homers in the eighth and ninth innings, Cuyler got to second on Traynor's wild throw with two out in the ninth, and scored on Wilson's single to right.

Stand by Team, Plea of Loyal Giant Rooters

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 27.—Calling themselves the Loyal Giant Rooters, but otherwise unidentified, a group of citizens has issued a rather excited appeal to the people of New York to go to the Polo Grounds, at their own expense, of course, and stand by McGraw's Giants to the last.

Just why the people should stand by John McGraw's Giants any more devotedly than they should stand by John Wanamaker's department store, the appeal does not specify, and perhaps it would be stupid of me to ask. But I am stupid that way, at least, and considering that Wanamaker's employ several thousand local citizens whereas the Giants are out of town boys who cut for home the minute the baseball seaon is over, I should think the department store would have a prior claim on the loyalty of the people.

McGraw Might Stand By.

If a citizen needs a job, there generally is a fair chance of obtaining something to do in a big department store, but when the Giants want a ball player they order him by phone from their Boston branch or their Toledo branch.

Moreover, if any one ought to stand by John McGraw's Giants, John McGraw himself should set the example. Mr. McGraw did not stand by them nor anywhere near them during their present journey through the midwest country where, it is now understood, they lost the pennant to the Cubs when a fellow named Taylor stole home in the ninth.

It is quite possible that this Taylor would have stolen home even if Mr. McGraw had been present at visitors' dugout at Chicago, for I remember

SOX BEAT INDIANS IN COMEDY, 14-5, AND THRILLER, 5-4

Ted Lyons Scores 19th Victory in 2d Game.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cleveland, O., Aug. 27.—Two days of idleness worked wonders with the White Sox. As proof of this they went back to their labors this afternoon and captured both games of a doubleheader from the first division Indians. The first engagement was a mirth provoking affair in which the Chicagoans almost ran themselves breathless to win, 14 to 5, but the second game was a real battle in which Ted Lyons won his 19th victory of the season, 5 to 4.

Various things happened to make the first battle more amusing than thrilling. One was the reckless fashion in which the Sox attacked various pitchers for a total of 21 hits.

Second Game Is Thriller.

The Sox got a strangle hold on the second game by doing their shopping early. With a 1 to 0 count in their favor they rose up unexpectedly and impressively in the fourth inning and frisked four runs from a southpaw entitled Shoffner. Then their attack subsided for the day, but the Indians were still to be heard from. They were meek before Lyons for six innings, but in the seventh scored twice after an error gave them a foothold. Then they did the same in the ninth, when another fielding slip assisted them, but Lyons managed to stop the rally before the tying run arrived at the plate.

Four hits in a row enabled the Sox to pry open the first game with three runs. Kerr singled to left and Cissell did the same. Falk fumbled Cissell's hit letting Kerr go to third and Spider Bill to second. Reynolds sent them home by bouncing a double off the right field wall. A hit by Jolley scored Reynolds.

Then Thomas yielded four wallops in Cleveland's opening half and Bush yanked him in favor of Braxton after two Indians had scored.

Sox Pick Up Three More.

The Sox broke out in the second inning with another salvo of four hits, which produced three more runs. To keep the Indians interested, Braxton let them have a run in the third inning on a double by Porter and a single by Hodapp. This made a 6 to 3 score, which the Sox altered slightly with two runs in the fifth. Kerr drove these across by singling after Barnes had hit for one base and Kamm had doubled.

Jolley came up with his fourth successive hit in the sixth and thereby inaugurated a three run rally. Barnes survived on a fumble by Morgan. Kamm's single scored Jolley and a hit by Tate filled the bags. This was cause for the removal of Miller. His place was taken by Bean, who managed to retire the side after Kerr had driven Kamm and Tate home with a single. The runs gave the Sox an advantage of 11 to 3 and what happened subsequently was neither important nor interesting.

Sox Get Run on One Hit.

The next game reached the second inning before the Sox got down to the business of accumulating some runs for Lyons. In this session they nicked Shoffner for one tally on one hit. Watwood led off with a pass. The Indians expected Kamm to bunt, but he fooled 'em. He whacked a single to left, putting Watwood on third. Watwood scored while Kamm and Berg were being retired in a double play.

The four run disturbance that put Lyons on easy street in the fourth got under way when Fothergill singled. Watwood also hit safely, Fothergill going to third and Watwood to second on the throw-in. Although none was out, the Indians elected to pass Kamm purposely, filling the bases. Then

CARRYING THE STARS AND STRIPES TO VICTORY

Burghley Shows Chicago a Lord Can Be Regular Fellow

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Lord David Burghley was tossing sweaters, socks, spiked shoes, shirts, and miscellaneous garments into his bag last night just after he had run his last race in the international track meet at Soldiers' field.

It is quite possible that he would not have fitted in with the mental picture of a British nobleman which most Chicagoans have formed from vaudeville skits and musical comedies. For he had no valet to adjust his tie, nobody was waiting at his elbow with a dish of tea, and a careful look around established the fact that no fellow countryman was cautiously preparing a dash of stout and bitters to buck up his lordship after his fatiguing evening.

He Still Smiles Like Boy.

Lord David looked up from tying a shoe lace and brushed his straw colored hair away from his eyes before grinning boyishly at those who were coming in to ask his autograph or to congratulate him on his victory over Morgan Taylor in the final dash of the steeplechase.

And it was quite natural for Lord David to grin boyishly, for he's only 25 years old, and has not yet learned the various tricks by which the English peers of current fiction surround themselves with an atmosphere of austerity.

"Were you tired in that last spurt to pass Taylor?" he was asked.

"Did I look it?" he laughed back.

"You did not."

And He's Married.

The conversation wandered aimlessly for a moment, his lordship speaking in short dynamic sentences while he wrenched at his tie or ran a comb through his hair.

"Ask me if I'm married," he said

"All right, are you married?"

"You bet I am, and have been for a year and a half."

"And your wife's name?"

"Lady Mary Scott. We were married in Scotland."

"O, you visit Scotland occasionally."

"Yes, frequently—to shoot grouse. But that hasn't anything in with fox hunting. In the late fall and winter I go up to my father's place in Northamptonshire every time I get a day off and we ride to hounds."

"Your father has many fine horses?"

A Riding Family.

"He hasn't many, but those he has are splendid," Lord David answered enthusiastically. "You see five of us ride and that requires nearly every horse he has. My two sisters, my mother and father all go out with me on these fox hunts and we get in some great sport galloping across hills and over fences with frost on the ground and a tang in the air."

"You spoke of your day off, what

Britons Finish Relay Without Baton—and Win

The mile relay in last night's international track meet at Soldiers' field brought out a bit of good sportsmanship. K. C. Brangwin of England, who was the No. 1 man on the British team, dropped his baton, hesitated an instant, and then decided to go on. His moment of indecision gave the American team a lead, but the Britons eventualy won the race.

The officials talked things over for a few minutes and, as a runner who drops his baton is ordinarily disqualified, it seemed that the American team would be pronounced the winner. But, going on the basis that the fastest runners finished first, baton or no baton, the decision went to the visitors and their hosts made no protest.

The track meet had all the trappings of a big football game. The Kiltie band of the Stockyards post, American Legion, led the parade into the mammoth stadium, with their pipes sounding shrilly above the applause of the spectators. After them came the British team, then the drum and bugle corps from the Board of Trade post of the American Legion and finally the United States athletes.

William R. Castle Jr., assistant secretary of state, delivered an address before the parade began, but most of his oratory was wasted as the loud speakers had not yet begun to function clearly.

This was the first time most of the athletes had competed under arc lights. Some of the pole vaulters and high jumpers said the rays occasionally confused them just before taking off.

The best traditions of track meets were sustained. Eight records were broken.

Even a policeman learned something last night. Everybody was ordered off the field in preparation for an exhibition of discus throwing by Paul Jessup. A Canadian athlete was slow to get off and came to blows with a representative of the law. The policeman found out that the Canadian was an athlete.

There were two events which were entirely new to this country—the eight lap steeplechase and the three mile team race. The British took the first by a narrow margin but overwhelmed the American boys in the latter.

The system used in scoring was ideal, for it kept the crowd on edge throughout. At most track meets nobody knows who's ahead.

LOTT AND DOEG RALLY TO BEAT COAST STARS

Brookline, Mass., Aug. 27.—(AP)—George Lott and Johnny Doeg, defending champions in the national doubles title play, made a brilliant recovery here today to enter the semi-final round by defeating Ellsworth Vines and Keith Gledhill, young Californians, 1-6, 6-3, 4-6, 8-6, 6-4. Doeg played much ragged tennis, but steadied in the nick of time.

Wilmer Allison and Johnny Van Ryn, the Davis cup doubles pair, also took five sets to beat Sydney Wood and Frank Shields, the New York youths, 3-6, 6-3, 11-9, 3-6, 6-3. Tomorrow they meet Berkley Bell and Gregory Mangin in the lower half of the draw.

Bill Tilden and Frank Hunter, the 1927 national doubles champions, gained one of the upper semi-final brackets with a straight set victory over J. S. Oliff and F. J. Perry, the last of the three British teams, 6-2, 7-5, 6-4.

YANKEES SWEEP FIELD EVENTS; WIN 3 RELAYS

Crowd of 40,000 Sets Chicago Record.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Mark up another victory for the United States.

A team composed of the finest track and field athletes in America's history last night defeated a picked squad from the British empire, 9 to 5, before 40,000 fans at Soldiers' field.

It was the biggest crowd by 30,000 that ever has seen a track meet in Chicago. Only once before, in the Olympic tryouts on the Pacific coast, have that many patronized the sport in America. It was the first night meet held in Chicago.

This was the fourth meet between the two teams. The three previous meets were held in England following the quadrennial Olympic games. In 1920 the empire and the United States tied, 7 to 7. Subsequent scores were 11 to 2 and 8 to 6.

Meet Records Tumble.

America won the 400 yard relay, the 480 yard shuttle hurdle relay, and one mile medley relay last night. Meet records were created in the first two. American athletes also established meet records in the shotput, high jump, and hammer throw.

The empire's records were established in the four mile relay, two mile relay, and three mile team race. The empire's quartet of milers—William Whyte of Australia, Jack Walters of Canada, and R. H. Thomas and J. F. Cornes of England—came within one-fifth second of the world record in 17 minutes 22 4-10 seconds.

Russell Sweet of the Olympic club of San Francisco, Cy Leland of Texas Christian university; George Simpson of Ohio State, and Eddie Tolan of Michigan, were the American sprinters who established the 400 yard relay mark. The American runners, with a flying start, each averaged less than 9 2-5 seconds for the 100 yards.

The shuttle hurdle race over a 480 yard course was America's second victory on the track and assured the United States would triumph, for the six field events were considered as good as won.

Anderson Distances Burghley.

Lee Sentman of Illinois lost a yard to H. Q. Davies of South Africa in the first duel in the high barriers, but Hatfield of the University of Indiana, gave Charles Kaster a yard advantage, which he maintained. Then Steve Anderson, who twice has tied the world mark of 14 4-10 seconds, had Lord David Burghley of England as an opponent. Anderson jumped and ran to an easy victory over his titled rival. The time was 59 5-10 seconds, more than 2 seconds better than the previous meet record.

Lord Burghley, however, redeemed himself when he nosed out Morgan Taylor of the Illinois Athletic club, anchor man in the eight lap steeplechase.

Decisive Medley Victory.

America's most decisive victory on the track was the one mile medley relay. Reginald Bowen of Pittsburgh ran the quarter, followed by Tolan and Simpson, who each sprinted 220 yards. Edwin Genung finished with a half mile race. Tolan lost ten yards when he broke too soon and had to slow up to receive the baton. Simpson made up some of the distance, and then Genung outdistanced the English runner, Hampson, winning by 50 yards. Hampson previously had run a mile.

This victory assured the United States international supremacy, for at the time it seemed that the empire might capture the javelin throw. James De Mers of the United States injured his arm with his first throw, but the one toss gave him 198 feet ½ inches. This was third best. Stan Lay of New Zealand had a mark of 206 feet 10½ inches.

ROBINS DEFEAT GIANTS, 7 TO 2, IN FIGHT FOR 2D

Victors Within Half Game of Rivals.

New York, Aug. 27.—(AP)—The Brooklyn Robins came out of a seven game losing streak today to triumph over the Giants, 7 to 2, in the first of their four battles for second place in the National league. The victors, who had dropped from first place to a precarious third as they lost 15 out of 18 games before meeting the Giants, reduced New York's margin to a half game by today's triumph.

Jim Elliott pitched a good game for Brooklyn after he was called to the mound in the second inning to replace Bill Clark, ejected for arguing with Umpire Jorda over a called ball. Bill Walker opposed him on even terms until the fifth inning, when Johnny Frederick's home run with Elliott on base put the Robins ahead.

The Giants tied the score at 2-2 in the fifth, but dropped behind in the next frame, when the Robins scored two more runs off Hub Pruett. A three run splurge in the ninth with Joe Heving as the victim completed the Brooklyn triumph.

Cincinnati, O., Aug. 27.—(AP)—"Sparky" Adams, substituting for Frankie Frisch at second base for the Cardinals, was poison to the Cincinnati Reds today as St. Louis won, 2 to 1, to sweep the two game series. Adams tripled in the first inning, scoring on High's infield out. He walked to start the eighth, went to second on High's sacrifice, to third on Bottomley's grounder to Crawford, and scored on Fisher's pop single back of second. Flint Rhem gave but eight hits, two more than Eppa Rixey. Score:

COACHING SCHOOLS.

JUST ending at Northwestern university is a school for coaches which is said to have drawn the largest registration—nearly 300—of any such summer session, under the immediate direction of Athletic Director Tug Wilson, Football Coach Dick Hanley and the Purple staff in all sports. Services also were enlisted of Knute Rockne of Notre Dame, Pop Warner of Stanford, Judge Wally Steffen of Carnegie Tech, Jess Hawley, formerly of Iowa and Dartmouth, and other notables.

Beginning at 7:30, concentrated instruction was poured into the morning sessions, with an early afternoon lecture, leaving opportunity for the "students" to attend baseball games, air races, the British Empire-United States track meet and other scenes and events.

Sitting in incog at a smoker to the visitors, we talked with several of the attending coaches. Without exception they were enthusiastic over the quality of information they had received, stressing also the point that the proximity of a large city gave advantages they would not otherwise have.

Summer coaching schools have become a fixture at many large institutions. The layman might think an athletic coach would know all there was in his profession else he would not be coaching. These schools bring out the most recent trends in various sports and allow a discussion and analysis of the effectiveness of such trends, with comments and explanations by the most notable men in that business. One might say they are like research work or a trip abroad to a physician. Yes, collegiate sport from the coaching viewpoint is a serious ousiness.

"Touchdown" Plays.

Dick Hanley was relating his experiences at a coaching school held several years ago in the middle west. His part had been to explain reverse and double reverse plays which he thought he had done very well. As the school was nearing its close, a student approached and said: "These reverse, double reverse and double wing back plays you talk about are 'the hooey.' They're all right for soil tillers, but when are you going to bring out your touchdown plays?"

This left Hanley almost aghast as football strategists know that a majority of plays attempted on the gridiron really are touchdown plays if every one of the eleven men on the attacking side fulfills without flaw the duties assigned to him and every one of the eleven men on the defending team allows those duties to be performed against him.

Naturally such unanimity of attacking purpose is seldom accomplished without being frustrated somewhere along the line.

MOORE LEADS IN MATCH FOR U. S. JUNIOR CUE TITLE

Robert Moore, 13 year old Grand Rapids, Mich., boy, won his first two skirmishes at the Hyde Park Y. M. C. R. yesterday and last night against his 12 year old rival, Charlie Cacciapaglia of Rockford, Ill., for the national junior pocket billiard championship.

Moore, grouping the ivories like a veteran, won his first two matches by identical scores of 79 to 54, giving him a point lead of 158 to 108 in the 450 point series.

The afternoon match lasted 17 innings, Moore ending the match with an unfinished run of 14. He ran four more on the string in his victory last night.

MARVIN NELSON TAKES CANADIAN MARATHON SWIM

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 27.—(AP)—Marvin Nelson, Fort Dodge, Ia., swimmer, today won the 15 mile Canadian national exhibition marathon swim, defeating nearly 200 men and one woman, who plunged into Lake Ontario at 10:02 this morning.

Nelson covered the 15 gruelling miles in the unofficial time of 7 hours and 44 minutes and 26 seconds, to win the $10,000 first prize money. Second went to Isador Spondor of Port Colborne, Ont.

William F. Goll of New York finished third, approximately half an hour behind Spondor. He had a lead of about 90 yards over George Blagden of Memphis, who was fourth. Fifth went to Ernst Vierkoetter of Germany, who now makes his home in Toronto. Norman Ross of Chicago was sixth.

Rest Inspires Sox to Defeat Indians Twice

Lyons sailed a double past third, Fothergill and Watwood scoring and Kamm halting at third. He and Lyons came home on Kerr's single.

For six innings Lyons restricted the Indians to two hits, one a scratch, but his record wasn't quite so impressive after the seventh was completed. Porter, the lead-off man, was safe on a fumble by Kamm. Averill lined to Jolley, but Morgan hit to the right field fence for a double, Porter stopping at third. Hodapp's infield out let Porter score and a single by Falk moved Morgan across the plate.

Lyons Gives Indians Two.

The two Indian runs in the sixth were principally a gift from Lyons. With one out, both Averill and Morgan singled to right. Hodapp then bounced to the pitcher and an easy double play should have followed, but Lyons heaved the ball into center field. Averill scored and Morgan went to third. Falk's fly to center scored Morgan.

Forest Fires Don't Keep Small Mouth Bass from Biting

BY BOB BECKER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LAKE OF THE WOODS, Kenora, Ont., Aug. 27.—Although some deer, porcupines, squirrels, and waterfowl may have thought the end of the world was coming this afternoon when the sun was blotted out by a heavy pall of forest fire smoke, the small mouth bass were not intimidated by the situation.

They smashed, struck, and fought in brilliant style to give us another great afternoon of fishing experiences. The poundage moved up a notch because one of the pugnacious bronze backs which cracked one of our lures tipped the scale at 3 pounds 15 ounces more than six hours after it was caught. This 19½ incher, beautifully marked with splashes of black on green, might just as well have weighed an even four pounds if he hadn't been too lazy to eat a healthy lunch.

At that he represents at this date the topnotch small mouth black bass caught by any in our camp. Less than 30 minutes after putting this particular fish on the string we connected with another husky specimen. Keith Hook, paddling our 16 footer, was shoving the craft around a rocky point at the time. We tossed our lure, weighted with a quarter ounce dipsey, to make it travel down deep, and it had no more than gotten into action, spinners flashing, when there was a strike. It took us more than three minutes to land this beauty on light tackle.

When it came over the side of the canoe it looked just like a twin of the first big one.

IF YOU COULD SEE THE WAX IN OIL

If you were to examine in the laboratory many other widely-used oils, you would find wax—the same paraffin wax from which candles are made! And if you could see how this wax behaves in your crankcase, you would never buy anything except the New Waxfree Havoline. For wax, as a candle illustrates, becomes water-thin with heat; solidifies with cold. Entirely free from wax, Waxfree Havoline is the perfect all-weather lubricant.

For hot weather driving, it possesses greater heat resistance than any other oil of the same body at high motor temperatures! In winter it will not congeal, even at five below zero. Waxfree Havoline lubricates through a wider range of temperatures than other oils because it is the only paraffin-base oil refined by the revolutionary Govers Process. It is all pure unblended lubricant, rich and sturdy at all speeds, at all temperatures. If you want year-round freedom from lubrication troubles...more mileage, greater power when it's hot, easier starting when it's cold...always use the grade of Waxfree Havoline recommended for your car according to the season.

Chicago Finds Lord Burghley Reg'lar Fellow

business do you follow when not running?"

"Why, I'm a branch manager of an insurance house in London. I usually am free on Saturdays and take advantage of it to dash off to the country and enjoy myself."

"Have you lived in London long?"

"Only for a short time, though I was stationed there for a time while I was a member of the Grenadiers. I joined them when I was about 20 and stayed in until I was 23."

Racing for Six Years.

"Have you been racing for quite a while?"

"Since 1924. I didn't get anywhere in the sport while I was at Eton, but while at Cambridge I began to get up a little speed."

That speed has since carried Lord Burghley to the Olympic hurdle championship and to a similiar title in the British empire games.

"What are you going to do next?"

"Why I'm going to race again at Hamilton on Saturday, and Monday I sail for home. The American people have been magnificent hosts and the American athletes have been great sportsmen."

Hitchcock 4 Beats Reds in Polo Test, 16-9

BY TOM PETTEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Glen Cove, L. I., Aug. 27.—The tentative American international polo team rode rough shod over the Red four this afternoon at Piping Rock and won a fast practice game, 16 to 9, after giving their opponents a seven goal handicap.

Pedley, Hopping, Hitchcock, and Guest, who made up the White team today, were referred to by every one as the final American team, although the official lineup will not be announced until the night before Sept. 6, the date of the first match with the British.

A crowd of more than 5,000 polo enthusiasts jammed the sidelines and sat on the hillside to cheer the American stars. The British visitors watched the hard, at time rough, and always hell-bent for the ball riding of their rivals without a smile.

Ranged against the American first team was G. H. Bostwick, Cecil Smith, Jack Nelson, the Argentine internationalist, and Elmer Boeseke Jr. Ladie Sanford played at No. 1 the last four periods. The Red team fought every minute it was on the field, but could make little headway against the Hitchcock organization and its sledge hammer mallets.

Think Pedley Overtrained.

Pedley, the rangy Californian, was not shooting his goals with the rifle-like accuracy he has shown in the past. He missed close shots several times, and was ridden off by the rival No. 1 when he had an open field. Polo experts expressed the belief there was danger of his becoming overtrained.

Tommy Hitchcock apparently did not share this belief, for as leader of the squad he took Pedley to task for several missed shots. Hitchcock has a high voice that sometimes breaks when he shouts his orders across the field. There is nothing private about his coaching or his reprimands.

It was Hitchcock's day this afternoon, and he was driving the ball through the goal posts at seemingly impossible angles. Guest also was at the top of his game. The tall young star was at his best when mounted on Lovely Lady, the pick of his own string of ponies. Hopping, who made a sensational comeback last Sunday at Sands Point and ousted the two Texas contenders for No. 2 position on the Hitchcock team, was hitting a long ball today, but was missing more than usual.

Williams Kept Out by Injury.

Rube Williams, the Texan who starred at No. 2 in several of the test matches, was to have played on the Red team this afternoon, but was kept of because of an injury to his knee. For a while it looked as if Williams was a fixture at No. 2, but today a man close to the international squad remarked:

"Williams was never on the team. Neither was Smith. They will be reserve players. The idea was to give Hopping a chance to get in shape."

Hitchcock rode Katrina, one of the best mounts belonging to the United States Polo association string, during the fifth and sixth periods. Katrina showed unusual speed and helped Tommy to good shots several times, but it was Laura, another association pony, that figured in the scoring. Guest walloped the ball to within ten feet of the goal and Hitchcock bore down upon it to finish it off. It was Hitchcock's mount, Laura, however, that scored the goal. She kicked the ball right through the posts.

It was learned today that Barney Balding, who was called east from Chicago when the younger Roark went to a hospital for an ear operation, will again play at No. 1 on the British international team tomorrow when they meet the army four at Meadowbrook. Capt. Richard George, the regular No. 1, who has not been able to get going since his arrival from England, was reported ill. Pat Roark, the Irish star of the British team, with his bride of three months, watched the game from a perch on an automobile top this afternoon.

Yanks to Outweigh Britons.

An interesting comparison of the weights of the American first and second teams and of the British team was obtained from the polo officials.

Pedley weighs 184, Hopping 193, Hitchcock 180, and Guest, the tallest man on the team, 190. This gives the American four a total weight of 747 pounds. On the second string Bostwick tips the scales at 130, Sanford carries 170 pounds, Smith weighs 190, and Boeseke 185.

The British players are lighter. The elder Balding weighs 180, Barney Balding 160, Capt. George 165, Pat Roark 165, and Lacey 147. Taking the four that will play tomorrow—the two Baldings, Roark, and Lacey—their combined weight is only 652 pounds.

Eric Pedley	No. 1	G. H. Bostwick
E. A. S. Hopping	No. 2	Cecil Smith
T. Hitchcock Jr.	No. 3	Jack Nelson
F. W. C. Guest	Back.	Elmer Boeseke Jr.

Score by periods:

Whites	3	2	11	2—0 16
Reds	0	0	1	0—7 9

Substitutions—Stephen Sanford for Bostwick, Goals—Pedley, 4; Hopping, 4; Hitchcock, 6; Guest, 2; Bostwick, 1; Sanford, 1. Time of periods—7½ minutes each. Referee—Capt. Wesley J. White.

MRS. HILL BEATS MRS. JONES IN WOMEN'S GOLF

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 27.—(AP)—The courageous last nine rally of Mrs. Melvin Jones, Chicago, in her second round match of the twenty-eighth annual women's western golf tournament today will go down in the annals of the Western Golf association, even though it failed to unseat the defending champion, Mrs. O. S. Hill, Kansas City. Mrs. Hill won, 2 and 1.

Tomorrow, in the 18 hole quarter finals, Mrs. Hill faces another high ranking Chicago golfer, Mrs. Lee Mida, who today disposed of 16 year old Mary Elizabeth Ford, Kansas City, 3 and 2.

A former national champion, Mrs. G. W. Tyson, Kansas City, won the most decisive victory of the day, defeating Miss Helen Lawson, Los Angeles, 5 and 4. Tomorrow she plays Miss Florence Beebe, Chicago girl, who disposed of Miss Lucille Robinson, Des Moines, 4 and 3.

Mrs. Gregg Lifur, Los Angeles, runnerup to Mrs. Hill in 1929, eliminated Miss Rena Nelson, Chicago, 3 and 2. Miss Bruen won from Mrs. John Arends, Chicago, 1 up.

his saying last year that he was no longer the master mind of the Giants, but merely a benevolent time checker who did not interfere with the mental or mechanical processes of his athletes in action.

Master Mind Just a Legend.

He hadn't given a pitcher a sign all year, he explained at the time, and the legend of the master mind was just one of those popular superstitions like the junior welterweight championship of the world. So, it seems likely that even if Mr. McGraw had accompanied his ball club through the west, the result would have been no more cheery than it was. Taylor would have stolen home, and the Giants would have returned to New York five games behind the Cubs.

But, conceding my point as to this, the loyal Giant Rooters, whoever and how ever many they may be, are asking much when they exhort the citizens to display more loyalty to John McGraw's Giants than John McGraw himself betrays even on his salary of $50,000 a year, if that is the figure.

He did explain, in a way, when the ball club was in Cincinnati, westward bound, and doing well, that he was detained in New York on personal business. But when I was in Saratoga during this time I met a horse trainer, an admirer of John McGraw, who told of having met him there, and it occurred to me that he is often to be met at the horse places when personal business is preventing him from standing by his own ball club.

Aged, High Spirited Boys.

I understand, of course, that Mr. McGraw is keeper of his own business and answerable only to the National Exhibition company, owners and operators of the New York Giants, of which he is a stockholder and vice president. But the National Exhibition company is a turbulent concern, principally composed of three aging but always high spirited boys, who do not get along very well together—McGraw, Charlie Stoneham, and his honor, Francis X. McQuade, a magistrate of the New York City court.

Action is perding now to discipline the learned judge for holding private office while sitting on the bench, but this probably will come to nothing although, considering the current reputation of the magistrates' courts in New York, the ball club might have legitimate grounds for protest. After all, baseball is a reputable institution and the corporate officers of the baseball firms should avoid outside connections which might tend to create scandal contrary to the best interests of the game.

Lineups Subject to Change.

The exact lineup among the three boys, McGraw, Stoneham and McQuade is subject to change without notice, but as a general thing it is safe to assume that McGraw is sore at Stoneham and McQuade; that McQuade is sore at Stoneham and McGraw, and that Stoneham is sore at McGraw and McQuade.

The boys enlivened the offseason with a series of lawsuits and intimations, and here, a short while ago while McGraw was home on personal business and the team was trouping without him, a man named McNally, described as the millionaire king of the bricklayers, bought up a block of stock in the firm, unreliably estimated at 30 per cent of the whole. This included the holdings of William F. Kenny, known to some local fame as a friend of Al Smith, who had bought in a few years back and, for a time, seemed determined to buy out Stoneham's controlling interest.

Reason for Curiosity.

Mr. McGraw's explanation did not explain, and naturally there is considerable curiosity as to what is doing in the ownership of the New York Giants to whom the customers are requested to yield their loyalty in the present emergency. I think that if he had just said he had a sore foot or walked into a door while looking for the mosquito lotion in the dark at his suburban home, his absence from the ball club might have been accepted as just another of those McGrawish mishaps, but when he mentioned business and a big share of stock changing hands, the idea naturally came to mind that perhaps Mr. Stoneham was about to sell out at last and that Mr. McGraw was hanging around to protect himself in the melee.

McGraw owns five per cent of the firm, and if he could sell out profitably he could walk across the Harlem river bridge and hang up his hat in the Yankees' locker room without the loss of a day's work, and at a very high rate of pay.

Why Care if McGraw Doesn't?

Mr. McGraw has a way of his own with the press. The newspapers send men around the country with his ball club year after year, but he treats them rough, tells them nothing and gets away with it. It is unethical, traveling with the Giant team, to ask him why he trades a Hornsby for a leaky water bucket or why he quits the club mysteriously at the critical time of the season, and also it is fruitless because he will not tell the truth.

Fair enough, I call all this. Mystery and scandal sell as many papers as the box scores do and Mr. McGraw has sold a lot of papers both ways. Yet, if I were a customer and some group of Giant Loyal Rooters having no phone book address, exhorted me to loyal ravings for the club, I should be inclined to say "If McGraw doesn't care, why should I?"

Lenz Shoots Net 140 to Win Beverly Revel

Phil G. Lenz was the winner of the annual Beverly "Revel" yesterday, shooting a net score of 140, which was brought back to par, 142. Last year Sergt. Bill Roemisch won with a 142, but this year all he could get was second with 168—24—144.

The sharpshooters of the day were Gus Fetz of Jackson park with 77—80—157 for low gross for guests and Dr. W. D. Mahoney, 79—77—156, for low gross for members.

A field of about 200 played 36 holes and only one came within three strokes of par. Ben Stevenson had a 74 in the morning. After that round 77 each by Gus Fetz, Joe Bour, and Dr. Mahoney was the best score. Scores follow:

STEEL REPORTS A STIMULANT TO CHICAGO STOCKS

Open Buoyantly, but Show Reaction Later.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Stocks were buoyant during the fore part of yesterday's session on the Chicago exchange, but reacted moderately under the wave of selling which came into the market around midday.

Early dealings were carried on under the stimulus of bullish news which enabled stocks to continue the advance which started late Tuesday. The bullish estimate on operations of U. S. Steel, which was released on the previous day, continued a potent influence on the market and the weekly report on freight car loadings, the most favorable in more than a month, was regarded by speculators as particularly significant.

Brokerage house comment on the car loadings report was mixed. In some quarters the increase was regarded as an indication of the expected seasonal pick up while others saw more significance in the report.

Enthusiasm Tones Down.

Iron Age's report on steel operations tended to tone down the enthusiasm of some of the bulls later in the day. The review did refer to operations of U. S. Steel, but showed an increase for the industry as a whole, though less bullish than the Dow, Jones report.

Gains in the closing list outnumbered the losses, but were small in most instances. Motor shares were a weak section in the list and with the exception of Auburn, which advanced 1½, were slightly off from the previous day's level.

Jefferson Electric, which has been selling off for days, turned up yesterday. The announcement made after the close of the market that directors had voted to reduce the annual dividend rate from $3 to $2 had been discounted in the market earlier. The issue finished at 22½, its high for the day, representing a net gain of 2¼ points.

Statement by President.

The announcement of the dividend cut issued by President J. A. Brennan said:

"In view of the present uncertainty in the business outlook directors believe the best interest of the company will be served by reducing the dividend payable Oct. 1 to 50 cents a share. While the volume of the company's business is below last year, it is still above the average for similar electrical industries. It is desirable to keep the company in a strong cash position, especially in view of the new developments, which will require increased facilities."

With the 50 cent dividend to be distributed in October stockholders will have received $3.25 a share for the year.

Utilities in Slight Gain.

Gains of a fraction ruled among the utility shares. Turnover in the group was moderate. Middle West ranged higher early in the day, but finished unchanged. Twin States Natural Gas was easier on light trade. The company announced yesterday that it has acquired over 91 per cent of the common stock of the Midland Natural Gas. The company has issued 55,000 shares of class A stock, which has been listed by the exchange to provide for the acquisition.

Improvement shown by the industrials was slight and in a few instances moderate losses were sustained. Libby-McNeill was one of the issues to sell off.

Chicago Curb Exchange Stocks

Brisk trading in Insull rights and general interest throughout the list pushed sales on the Chicago curb yesterday above the 20,000 share mark. The trend was definitely upward with only a few scattered exceptions. McWilliams common and preferred moved to a new 1930 peak. Fractional advances were marked up in Columbus Foods, Curtiss Flying and United Gas new stock and warrants. On the soft side Harrison's was under pressure and eased momentarily to new bottom prices for the year but recovered slightly.

RESERVE BANK VIEWS MIDWEST CROP SITUATION

Frost, Rainfall May Be Belated Help.

BY O. A. MATHER.

While the middle west will produce a short corn crop this year, the effects of the recent drought may be considerably ameliorated by rainfall and belated frosts. This digest of the agricultural situation is drawn from the monthly review on business conditions made public by the Chicago federal reserve bank last night.

"Farmers in the seventh federal reserve district have harvested substantial crops of small grain this year," it says, "but reports on Aug. 24 from 193 county agricultural agents show that the yields of corn and other late crops have been materially reduced in the last month because of drought and extreme heat.

"Present prospects suggest a corn crop as small in 1930 as the low yields of 1924 and 1927, unless ample rainfall is received during the remainder of the season and the autumn frosts come at a later date than usual. In areas where the damage has been especially heavy, some of the farmers have been using the stalks for feed rather than saving the crop to mature ears. Pastures throughout the district have shown marked deterioration and the second cutting of hay is light.

May Reduce Live Stock.

"It seems probable that in the states of Illinois, Indiana and Michigan, where the drought has been more severe than in other parts of the district, live stock operations may be reduced this winter, owing to a subnormal production of feed.

"Prospects for apples have been further reduced because of underdevelopment of the fruit and premature dropping is reported in some counties."

The midweek steel trade reviews appearing yesterday were less optimistic than the Dow-Jones estimate of a 1% per cent upturn in ingot production issued Tuesday. The Iron Age placed average output for the whole country at 54 per cent of mill capacity, compared with 53 per cent last week. On the other hand, Steel practically confirmed the earlier estimate.

"Business in iron and steel has shown only a slight change for the better," the Iron Age says. "In view of the inconsequential change in actual mill bookings, no general upturn in steel plant operations is yet manifest. But sentiment in the trade, though chastened by the protracted depression, is cautiously more hopeful. The passing of pessimism engendered by the drought and scattered evidences of greater advances in scrap prices are among the factors that are influencing current appraisals of the future.

Seasonal Improvement.

"The industry in its present conservative mood can see little chance of a marked recovery in business this year, but there is growing adherence to the belief that the autumn months will at least bring some measure of seasonal improvement."

"Numerous steel consumers are inquiring from producers for tonnages to be shipped over long periods at present prices, evidently regarded as the bottom," Steel says. "As an indication that effects of the drought will not be as severe as had been feared, tin can makers are taking unusually large tonnages to meet the demand from canners. Last week saw what probably is the largest tonnage in the history of tin plate, and most of it was on rush orders."

Both Field's and Wrigley Deny Buying Gotham Land

Executive offices of both Marshall Field & Co. and the William Wrigley Jr. company yesterday both denied a New York report that they were negotiating for the purchase of a block of property on Broadway in the eastern metropolis. A Field official stated that the report might have originated from the presence of John McKinlay, president of the company, in New York on Tuesday preparatory to sailing for Europe for a six weeks' stay.

Judge Springs Surprise in Steel Trial

Youngstown, O., Aug. 27.—(AP)—Judge David Jenkins today informed counsel in the injunction suit against the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company-Bethlehem Steel corporation merger that he has some important questions to ask S. Livingston Mather and William G. Mather of Cleveland and that he hopes they will be introduced as witnesses. The judge's statement came at adjournment time, with the plaintiffs prepared to rest their case except for a few odds and ends.

The court asked pointedly whether counsel on either side planned to call the Mathers, whose names have been linked in other testimony with Cyrus S. Eaton, Cleveland financier and leading opponent of the merger. After a moment of consternation members of opposing counsel told the judge that the Mathers were not on their list of witnesses. They agreed to convey the court's desire to the Mathers.

S. Livingston Mather is the son and William G. is the half brother of Samuel Mather of Cleveland, their family interest being represented in Pickands, Mather & Co., Cleveland ore firm, and in extensive holdings of Sheet and Tube, Bethlehem, and other steel stocks.

Attitude Is Silent.

The family attitude in regard to the Bethlehem merger has been a silent one. Judge Jenkins did not reveal the nature of the questions he wishes the Mathers to answer.

The day's finale created considerable surprise in the courtroom, particularly at the counsel tables. Ferdinand Eberstadt of New York, a partner with Eaton in Otis & Co., had just finished his testimony as a witness for the plaintiffs.

Eberstadt related details of the meetings at Pickands Mather & Co. offices on March 11, the day preceding ratification of the Bethlehem merger by Youngstown directors when Eaton attempted to postpone action on plea that the terms seemed inadequate and the deal unsound.

Eaton, who closed five days of testimony this morning, with the revelation that he receives a salary of $23,000 a year—$5,000 from Sheet and Tube and the remainder from Otis & Co.—also was present.

Eaton Closes Testimony.

Eberstadt's testimony dealt with the controversial question whether Eaton did or did not refuse to look at the merger audit figures and whether Sheet and Tube directors had refused to postpone their March 12 meeting because Eaton said he was "unalterably opposed" to the merger anyway. Eberstadt said he neither refused to look at figures nor said he was "unalterably opposed."

The financier testified that when the Republic Steel corporation was put together Otis & Co. formed a syndicate to underwrite the consolidation and that commissions were paid in the sum of $1,600,000. He also said Otis & Co. received an option of 200,000 shares of new Republic stock at $75 a share.

Three newspaper copies then were introduced, quoting Eaton as saying: "We have not made a dollar in commission" in either the Trumbull or Republic mergers. The quotation was identified by Eaton as having been given out in March during the proxy fight.

TAKE ACTION IN AMERICAN BOND, MORTGAGE SUIT

Augusta, Me., Aug. 27.—(AP)—The debenture bondholders' protective committee of the American Bond and Mortgage company, with headquarters in Chicago and Boston, were granted a petition of intervention as a hearing in a bill in equity seeking appointment of a receiver for the company opened here today.

The company's demurrer to the complaint of Herbert W. Weeks and others, who ask the receivership, was recently overruled by the court.

In the petition of intervention, Newton C. Farr and other members of the protective committee, alleged no action or receivership was necessary, that the committee had the situation under control, and that company officers whose activities had been questioned had been removed and new officers installed.

NAME RECEIVER FOR NATIONAL GROCER CHAIN

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 27.—The Union Guardian Trust company was appointed temporary receiver today by Judge Allan Campbell in Circuit court for the National Grocer company, on the petition of the Saunders Michigan Stores, Inc., and Matthew B. Whittlessey.

Judge Campbell signed an order to show cause why a permanent receiver should not be appointed, returnable Sept. 10. In his petition Whittlessey says he owns 10 shares of preferred stock in the defendant company. The Saunders Michigan Stores recites that it owns 40,000 shares of common stock, at $10 par value, acquired March 11 from the defendant company in consideration of the transfer to it of the business and property of the Saunders Michigan Stores.

The balance sheet of National Grocer, as of July 31, shows $252,788 cash on hand, and receivable assets of $69,050. The company is indebted on notes payable to various banks, according to the balance sheet, in the sum of $1,462,500, and $419,822 in demand notes to various creditors. Total debts, according to the petitioners, are $1,882,322. An inventory of merchandise, made July 31, was estimated at a value of $1,693,689. The petitioners recite that the company suffered a net loss from Jan. 1 to July 31 of nearly $500,000.

Sugar Trade Dean Favors Relief Plan

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 27.—Sugar producers invited here to receive details of the plan sponsored by Thomas L. Chadbourne to stabilize the industry held informal conferences today with Mr. Chadbourne at the law offices of the latter. The proposals formally laid before them at the Biltmore hotel yesterday by Dr. Viriato Gutierrez, member of the Cuban senate, were discussed. It is expected that another meeting of the producers will be held tomorrow.

A canvass of the sugar trade in New York today disclosed the fact that the largest refining and producing sugar interests in the country are in sympathy with the Chadbourne plan and hope that it will succeed, but realize that much remains to be done before a successful outcome can be expected.

Attitude in Doubt.

The attitude of the refining interests had been thought to be in some doubt because they are buyers of raw sugar and presumably have no desire to see the price of sugar, now lowest in history, advance to higher levels.

The views of both refiner and producer were voiced today by James H. Post, president of the National Sugar Refining company and also chairman of the Cuban-American Sugar company, one of the strongest of the raw sugar products. Mr. Post, recognized as the dean of the sugar trade, said that the Chadbourne plan was constructive and would be helpful to both the refining and the raw sugar producing industries if it could be carried out, but that foreign coöperation with American and Cuban sugar interests was essential to consummation.

Dutch Change Stand.

"Fortunately Dutch sugar producers in Java, who heretofore have steadfastly declined to coöperate with Cuban or other sugar interests in curtailing output and stabilizing the industry, are said to be changing their attitude and giving a more sympathetic hearing to suggestions that they join in a world-wide movement to curtail production," said Mr. Post. "If they participate in the movement and Europen beet sugar growers also can be brought into the fold, a long step will have been taken toward realizing the aims of the Chadbourne committee."

Some comment was caused in sugar circles over the fact that Hawaiian sugar producers were not represented at the conference in the Biltmore hotel yesterday. It was suspected in some quarters that they were indifferent and would not coöperate with the other sugar growers.

REPORT CHICAGO FIRM SEEKS SOAP DEAL IN PARIS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Aug. 27.—A new step in the American invasion of France is being taken by Felix Lowy of Chicago, vice president of the Colgate-Palmolive-Peet company, who has spent ten days in Paris in negotiations to buy interests in the French Cadum Soap company, the biggest soap concern in France, THE TRIBUNE learned today.

It is understood Mr. Lowy has been trying to buy off Cadum, as all efforts to introduce Palmolive in France for the last few years have failed owing to the strong competition from Cadum, which has been known in France for almost a century.

Although the negotiations are now believed to be broken off, Cadum having turned down the offers, Mr. Lowy, who is assisted by a lawyer and a patent attorney, is ready for several conferences scheduled for next week.

WHEAT TRADERS REJECT BULLISH NEWS AND SELL

Grain Prices Ease Off at Close.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Failure of the wheat market to respond to bullish news, including the largest export clearances for any one day so far this season, reports of poor quality of the European crop, and of heavy feeding to live stock, led to selling by tired longs yesterday. As a result prices declined 1½@1¾c from the finish on Tuesday, with stop loss orders uncovered on the way down, the May selling at 97⅞c, a new low for the season. Buying against bids checked the break, but final sales were at net losses of 1¼@1¾c, with September 86⅛@86⅜c; December, 91⅛@91¼c, and May, 98⅛@98¼c.

Winnipeg wheat was weak, with October down to 88¼c, a new low for the season, and at one time was only 1¾c over Chicago September, closing 1⅞@2⅛c lower. Weakness in the Canadian market had considerable influence here at times, and more than offset the persistent strength in the cash market and claims that there was 15,000,000 bu grain at Texas gulf ports awaiting boats for export. Total clearances of domestic wheat and flour for the day aggregated 1,104,000 bu, including 825,000 bu from Galveston.

Russia Presses Wheat.

American interests were reported as selling October wheat in Liverpool, and the market there was also affected by cheaper Russian offerings, more favorable weather for harvesting, and fears of pressure of Canadian grain, and closed ⅞@1¼d lower. Reports of poor quality grain were received from Germany, Belgium, and Sweden, but foreigners showed no signs of taking North American wheat on a liberal scale, much to the discouragement of holders.

Uneasiness regarding the Canadian situation is a factor of no mean importance in the wheat market. Some confusion existed yesterday, as some of the local operators thought that the advance payment of 60c per bu was for all grades of wheat, but this applies only to No. 1 northern delivered at Fort William and Port Arthur. On July 16, when the pool issued a statement that it would advance 70c per bu on No. 1 northern at Fort William, some of the lower grades at 25c freight rate points in Saskatchewan were marked as low as 2c per bu to the producer.

There has been some change in sentiment, however, on the part of some cash handlers and local professionals in the last few days as the result of the radical change which has taken place in the cash position. No. 2 hard winter on track at Chicago sold at 1⅜c over the September delivery, while a year ago, with the trade generally bullish, the same grade was 4@4½c under the future.

Corn Resists Pressure.

Local bulls gave the corn market good support part of the day, and it showed stubborn resistance to pressure until near the last, when wheat broke sharply. The finish was at net losses of ⅛@1½c, with the September showing the least decline, closing at 96¾c. December was 91⅝@91¾c and May 95½@95⅝c at the last.

Some of the local professionals who are operating on the bull side of corn are basing their purchases on the belief that husking returns will show a much lower yield than suggested by conditional figures. Reports on field checks in various parts of the belt confirm claims of an unusually large percentage of barren stalks. Cash corn was in demand, with charters made for 375,000 bu to Georgian bay. Country offerings to arrive were small.

Tired longs and hedgers were on the selling side of oats, while commission houses bought on the way down. Action of other grains had some effect, with the finish 1⅛@1¼c lower. September closed at 39⅝@39⅞c and December 42¾@43c. There was little grain offered to arrive from the country. Barley sold at a new high since the new crop started to move, with 69c paid in the sample market.

Stop loss selling carried rye prices off sharply, and the market failed to show much rallying power, the close being 1¾@3½c lower, with September 57c and December 62½@62⅝c.

Wall Street Stirred by Morgan Deal

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 27.—The joint participation of the National City company and the Chase Securities corporation in an offering of State of New York 4 per cent bonds today aroused considerable comment in Wall street, inasmuch as it was the first time that these two groups have been alone together in an offering syndicate.

A general realignment of bond syndicates had been expected following the affiliation of Harris, Forbes & Co. with the Chase National bank, but the participation of the National City company and Chase Securities in an operation came as a surprise.

The offering itself attracted considerable interest in bond circles, since it consisted of bonds originally purchased from the state by J. P. Morgan & Co. The total issue bought by the Morgan organization in April was $31,550,000, and the price was 102.077, or at an average cost to the state of about 3.79 per cent. It was announced at that time that the bonds would not be offered to the public.

Morgan Profit Small.

The public offering by the Chase Securities and the City company amounted to $20,192,000, leaving about $11,358,000 that have been sold or remaining with J. P. Morgan & Co.

It is believed that the margin of profit for Morgan on the block sold to Chase and the City company was unusually small, inasmuch as the latter are offering the bonds to the public to yield an average of 3.70 per cent. The bonds are due serially from 1940 to 1955, inclusive.

A group headed by Guaranty company of New York and including Lee, Higginson & Co., Harris, Forbes & Co., and Dillon, Read & Co. is offering tomorrow an issue of $36,600,000 refunding mortgage 4½ per cent bonds, series C, due Sept. 1, 1978, of the New York, Chicago and St. Louis railroad company, at 97¾ and accured interest, to yield over 4.60 per cent.

To Use Proceeds for——

The "Nickle Plate" will use the proceeds from the sale of these additional bonds towards the refunding of $9,575,000 refunding mortgage 5½ per cent bonds, series B, due in 1975, $2,188,000 equipment trust of 1917, 5 per cent certificates, due May 1, 1931 [to be called for redemption on Nov. 1, 1930], and $14,309,000 second and improvement mortgage 6 per cent bonds, due May 1, 1931 [of which $2,079,000 are held in the company's treasury, the outstanding $12,230,000 to be called for redemption on Nov. 1, 1930], and the retirement at maturity on May 1, 1931, of $10,000,000 twenty-five year 4 per cent bonds of 1906.

Nickel Plate was the original member of the Van Sweringen group, of which it is now an important member. The Alleghany corporation, a railroad holding company, is the owner of 167,100 common shares, or 49.6 per cent of the voting stock of the railroad company.

C. & E. I. Railway Marks 53d Anniversary Today

Officials and employés of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois Railway company will celebrate the fifty-third anniversary of the railroad today. In connection with the anniversary J. B. Ford, vice president, stated that the low level of depression for the railroads and business generally has passed and that recovery is at hand. "Substantial improvement will make itself manifest throughout the winter months," said Mr. Ford.

CHICAGO FREIGHT SCORES ANOTHER 'ON TIME' RECORD

Another record month for "on time" service was chalked up by the fast freight railroad lines serving Chicago during July, according to the Chicago Association of Commerce. For the seventh month in a row, the delivery service from this city to points all over the United States and Canada surpassed previous records.

Of the 54,782 package cars reported out of the city in July, 52,582 reached destinations according to schedule, for a collective "on time" performance of 95.99 per cent, compared with a showing of 94.41 in July, 1929. Only 1,651 cars, or 3.01 per cent of those checked, were one day late; and only 549, or 1 per cent, were two days late or longer.

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 27.—Sharpshooters from the rival trading camps raised quite a smoke at times on the stock exchange front today but did little real damage anywhere. The bull element got a little better of the fracas in the end.

Pivotal issues were kept right side up for the most part, but the final returns showed most of their gains to be in small fractions with some of them having minus signs to bear for all their early strength. Elsewhere advances of as much as 4 and 5 points were registered in scattered instances. Profit taking was a heavy drag on the market all day.

Trading hit about the liveliest pace witnessed in a fortnight, the turnover amounting to 2,200,190 shares. A small time figure, when compared with standards of the last couple of years, but Wall street is still going through its lean days, market sponsors would have it remembered, and in comparison, today's figures were held to be worth talking about.

News Still Cheerful.

News continued to be a bit more cheerful, with car loadings showing a somewhat better increase over the preceding week than had been anticipated and the weekly steel trade reviews more hopeful in tone.

The market's leaders got away to a promising start at the opening, the performances of U. S. Steel, American Telephone, American Can, Allied Chemical, Foreign Power, Baltimore and Ohio, Case, Consolidated Gas, General Electric, Standard Gas, Worthington Pump and others of that coterie being especially commendable. Short covering undoubtedly was largely responsible for many of early bursts of strength, but some of the buying without a doubt represented the growth of bullish sentiment in high quarters during the last week or so.

The demonstration began to peter out toward the end of the first hour, however, and from then on to the close most of these favorites had their troubles keeping up with the procession. Allied Chemical was about the only one of the entire lot that continued to go ahead. It had run up a net gain of more than 3 points when the final gong sounded.

Vanadium Is Target.

Vanadium was a target for some heavy firing from the bear camp all day and was battered for a net loss of nearly 4 points. Other issues to come in for some rather severe pounding were Celotex, Phelps Dodge, the

WHAT IS A FIXED TRUST?

THE theory underlying fixed trust investment is simple and easy to understand.

It is well known that investors who have in the past bought a diversified selection of the nation's premier common stocks have enjoyed a handsome annual return and a very satisfactory increase in capital.

In order to achieve these results, however, it has been necessary to buy and hold a broad diversification of high-grade stocks—since diversification is one of the first requisites for safety.

The fixed trust plan of investment was created to make the advantages of properly diversified investment in high-grade common stocks available to every investor. A careful selection of the best common stocks is deposited with a well-known trust company, and any investor may purchase shares in this trust.

This plan of investment is embodied in Standard American Trust Shares—a fixed trust of the capital accumulation type. You can purchase shares in the trust if you have about $100, or more, to invest.

It will be worth your while to investigate this plan. Fill in the coupon below—mail it today—and complete information will be sent to you promptly.

Receipts at Chicago today, 8,000 cattle 18,000 hogs, and 21,000 sheep.

Best grades of hogs were scarce and in good demand at 25@35c higher prices yesterday, some of the heaviest weights showing gains of 50c comparing extremes of the two days. There was a quick clearance of all 170@300 lb averages at the upturn, while light lights and pigs closed top heavy and on a "catch as catch can" basis.

The top soared to $11.65, within 25c of the highest mark this year and stands $1.90 above the low spot 19 days ago. The general average gained 30c at $10.25. Eastern demand was good for mid-week, but with some of the local packers remaining out of the market, about 6,000 were left at the close.

September Hogs Advance.

September hogs met good demand at 25@35c higher prices on the futures market yesterday. Light weights for that month's delivery opened at $10.60 and closed at $10.80. Mediums reached $10.85 near the close, while a sale of September heavy at $10.75 established a new high for that class.

December light and mediums sold at $9.00. During the last 10 days contracts for 33 carloads of hogs for December delivery have been sold on the Chicago futures hog market, within the narrow range of $8.85@9.10. On the "to arrive" market, light weights for today's delivery were bid $11.65, mediums $11.30 and heavy grades $10.75. Bidding for feeding lambs for September delivery was steady at $7.00@7.50.

Cattle Prices Advance.

A moderate increase in cattle receipts yesterday failed to halt the advance in prices. Better grades met good demand and established new high marks on the present bulge, which go back to July 2 for a higher level. Top at $12.35 was paid for prime 1416 lb steers. Nearly 150 cattle, averaging 1140@1518 lbs reached $12.25. The bulk sold at $10.00@12.00, against $8.85@10.75 a week ago, indicating the sharp rise in the general market during the last few days.

An optimistic government report reads in part: "Economic conditions in the cattle industry are likely to improve in the next 12 months. Market supplies of cattle in the next five or six months probably will be about the same as a year ago, but supplies of fed cattle during the first half of 1931 are expected to be smaller than in 1930."

Lambs Slump Again.

Again supplies of lambs proved excessive and prices came down 25@50c more, showing 75c to $1.00 loss in two days, and $1.25@1.50 loss since late last week. Top native ewes and wether lambs went to packers and city butchers at $9.25@9.35, while the bulk of the supply of westerns changed hands during the afternoon rounds at $8.00@9.25.

During the first half of the week Chicago has handled a total of 52,700 western rangers, against 33,100 a week ago and 28,500 a year ago. Aged sheep were scarce and unchanged. Yearlings ruled weak at 25c lower. There was a fair country demand for feeders at $7.50@7.75, with top light quoted at $8.00, equal to the highest of the season.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 8,000 cattle, 18,000 hogs, and 21,000 sheep, against 6,824 cattle, 20,391 hogs, and 15,394 sheep, the previous Thursday and 8,111 cattle, 20,010 hogs and 17,516 sheep a year ago.

PACKERS PICK UP LARD

Packers were the principal buyers of September and October lard, while commission houses, representing investors, absorbed the December and January. Trade in all was fair, with a narrow range. There was changing from October to January and September and October closed at the same price, against a spread of 10c the previous day. At the close prices were 5c lower to 5c higher. Liverpool lard was 3d higher. Export clearances from the seaboard were 480,250 lbs. and of bacon 266,000 lbs. Bellies were 7¼c higher. Cash trade in lard and meats was fair. Hog prices were strong to 25c and 50c higher. Receipts were fair but less than a week and a year ago. Prices follow:

Despite reports of curtailment at tire factories, August consumption of crude rubber will total approximately 30,000 tons, or about unchanged from July when consumption was 29,894 tons, according to the Rubber exchange of New York.

CASH GRAIN NEWS

Foreign bids for North American cash wheat were generally out of line, and sales for export were limited. J. G. Smith of Fort Worth, Tex., wired there was 15,000,000 bu wheat at Houston and Galveston for August-September shipment with New York bidding 7¼c over September for first half September loading at Galveston. At Omaha, No. 1 hard winter was quoted at equal to 5½@6c over Chicago September.

Cash wheat at Chicago continues to gain steadily on the September, and while some wheat is being received from Missouri river markets on old contracts there is little being offered to come here at the present time. The basis was steady to ½c higher with No. 1 red 2¼@2½c over; No. 2 red, 1¾@2c over; No. 1 hard, 1¾@2c over; No. 2 hard, 1½@1¾c over; No. 1 northern, 1½@1¾c over and No. 2 northern, ½@1c over September.

The country is offering cash oats to arrive on a very small scale with only 3,000 bu reported as having been booked by local handlers. Shipping sales aggregated 20,000 bu with charter for 200,000 bu to Georgian Bay. The spot basis was steady to ¼c higher with No. 2 white, ½@¾c over and No. 3 white, ¼@¾c under September.

McCORMICK BUILDING

"Electricity has taken the struggle out of parking in the morning, the delay out of getting our cars at night," say many tenants of South Loop buildings.

"We simply drive our cars into the new Quincy Parking Garage, lock them, and leave them. Electricity parks them for us. Electricity brings them to us quickly when we return.

This new $3,000,000 building provides 25 floors of collision-proof electric parking, plus the appointments of a fine hotel.

SMALL CHANGES IN COTTON

Cotton prices advanced early, December reaching a new high level on the present upturn. The lower cables, weakness in grain markets combined with hedging pressure reversed the price movement, with a fair decline and a disappointing close around the lowest of the day. Net changes, however, were limited. Futures in Chicago closed 2 points net higher to 5 points lower, with New York 2 points lower to 3 points higher, and New Orleans unchanged to 4 points lower. Spots lost 5 points in New York to 11.70c, while New Orleans was unchanged at 11.20c, with Galveston and Houston 11.35c. Liverpool closed 5 to 6 points net higher, with sales of 2,000 bales of spots.

The weather map was generally clear but predictions were for showers. The government weather crop report was in the main favorable. Rains in the southwest, it is said, will be a help to the crop, although there has been further deterioration.

A leading Chicago dry goods jobber has announced a sharp reduction in prices of domestics, sheets, pillow cases, and spreads. Trade sentiment is more mixed, with inclination favoring buying on weak spots. Prices follow:

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

Wheat traders are inclined to look for narrow and erratic markets the next two days, with hedging pressure on all bulges and profit taking and evening up for the three holidays, Saturday to Moday, inclusive. The disposition is to wait until hedging pressure from the American and Canadian northwest has spent its force. There is disappointment over the action of the foreigners in not buying wheat more freely. It is said that a number of the local cash handlers are bullish because of the steady undertone in the cash market.

BUTTER AND EGGS

A wave of selling orders sent November butter down 5c on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday with the close at the bottom, 40½c. November eggs lost ½c for the day, finishing at 28½c.

The butter traders for the most part appeared to disregard the statistical news. A combination of heavy liquidation, new short selling, realizing sales, and hedging was too much for the bullish element to withstand. There was a slight halting of the dip at midsession, but another spurt of selling toward the close offset the fractional recovery. The storage report showed 325,000 lbs more removed than a year ago in the four markets, while the Land o' Lakes report on the make showed a fair decrease from a year ago and a week ago. This shrinkage, however, was not as sizable as it has been in recent weeks. Sales: Butter, 262 cars; eggs, 18 cars. Receipts: Butter, 3,794 tubs; eggs, 4,372 cases. Prices follow:

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—(AP)—Cotton goods held steady today with a fair amount of business going forward on gray cloths, Towels, sheets, and pillow cases, and 4-4 bleached cottons have sold better. New lines of printed wash goods will soon be shown for the 1931 spring season. Raw silk was unchanged. Silk crepes and satins were selling moderately to the cutting trades. Burlaps showed little change for the day. More activity was reported in wool goods on repeat orders.

The New York, Chicago and St. Louis Railroad Company

Refunding Mortgage 4½% Gold Bonds, Series C

To Mature September 1, 1978

The outstanding Refunding Mortgage Bonds are Legal Investments for Savings Banks and Trust Funds in the State of New York. In the opinion of counsel these additional Series C Bonds will, when issued, also be legal for such Investments.

Guaranty Trust Company of New York, Trustee

A letter from Mr. W. A. Colston, Vice-President of the Company, copies of which will be furnished upon request, is summarized by him as follows:

The Company, known as the "Nickel Plate," operates 1,691 miles of road, of which 1,668 miles are owned, extending from Buffalo to connections with the principal western and southwestern roads at Chicago, Peoria and St. Louis, and also reaching Indianapolis, Toledo and other important cities in the Middle West. It enters Detroit over The Detroit & Toledo Shore Line Railroad Company owned jointly with the Grand Trunk Western Railway Company. The Company owns trust certificates representing 115,193 shares Prior Lien Stock, 14,800 shares Preferred Stock, and 168,000 shares Common Stock, which constitute a majority of the voting stock of The Wheeling and Lake Erie Railway Company.

Purpose of Issue

The proceeds from the sale of these additional Series C Bonds will be used toward the refunding of $9,575,000 Refunding Mortgage 5½% Bonds, Series B, due July 1, 1975 (to be called for redemption on January 1, 1931), $2,188,000 Equipment Trust of 1917, 5% Certificates, due May 1, 1931 (to be called for redemption on November 1, 1930) and $14,309,000 Second and Improvement Mortgage 6% Bonds, due May 1, 1931 (of which $2,079,000 are held in the Company's treasury, the outstanding $12,230,000 to be called for redemption on November 1, 1930), and the retirement at maturity on May 1, 1931, of $10,000,000 Twenty-Five Year 4% Gold Bonds of 1906. The retirement of the bonds due May 1, 1931, will make the Refunding Mortgage Bonds a direct second mortgage lien on the line between Buffalo and Chicago and, together with the refunding of the Series B bonds and equipment obligations, will result in a net annual saving in interest charges of $122,825.

Security

The Refunding Mortgage Bonds (of which there will be outstanding $85,933,000 including this issue) are secured by direct mortgage lien on all the existing fixed railroad property and railroad equipment of the Company, including the 1,668 miles of road owned, subject, on retirement of the bonds due May 1, 1931, to $34,412,000 outstanding underlying bonds and to equipment obligations. The underlying bonds (issued under mortgages now closed), giving effect to the present refunding, amount to about $20,650 per mile, and the total mortgage indebtedness, including this issue, is approximately $72,150 per mile.

In addition to their direct mortgage lien, the Refunding Mortgage Bonds are secured by pledge of $10,000,000 of a total of $16,500,000 Toledo, St. Louis and Western First Mortgage Bonds (the remaining $6,500,000 being included in the amount of underlying bonds stated above) which are secured by a first mortgage lien on the important line between Toledo and East St. Louis.

The Refunding Mortgage Bonds are also secured by a first mortgage on approximately 700 acres of land acquired at a cost of more than $7,250,000. This land, situated chiefly in Chicago and Cleveland, will be used for terminal development and other purposes.

Equity

There are outstanding $20,000,000 Three-Year 6% Gold Notes, due Oct. 1, 1932, and approximately $36,059,566 Cumulative Preferred Stock and $33,766,164 Common Stock (including $61,570 liability for conversion of stocks of constituent companies still outstanding). Dividends on the Company's common stock have been paid at the rate of 6% or more per annum since the organization of the Company in 1923.

Earnings

Gross income as shown above, for the 5 years ended December 31, 1929, averaged 1.96 times the average fixed charges for that period. Earnings during the current year have been adversely affected by the unfavorable business conditions generally prevailing. For the seven months ended July 31, 1930, gross operating revenues and gross income (excluding dividends received from investment assets no longer owned) amounted to $28,048,874 and $5,157,909, respectively, as compared with $32,767,675 and $7,091,391, respectively, for the corresponding period of last year. Such gross income included $940,743 in the first seven months of 1930 and $134,393 in the first seven months of 1929, received on account of accumulated dividends on The Wheeling and Lake Erie Railway Company Prior Lien Stock (or trust certificates therefor), earnings of The Wheeling and Lake Erie during the first seven months of 1930 applicable to dividends on its prior

The MURDER at the VICARAGE

BY AGATHA CHRISTIE

SYNOPSIS.

Dr. Clement, vicar of a country village in England, at luncheon tells his wife, Griselda, and young nephew Dennis, who lives with them, that any one who murdered Mrs. Protheroe would be doing the world at large a service. The colonel enjoys making himself unpleasant for his daughter Lettice, and his second wife, and fusses about the running of the parish. He suspects that there are defalcations in the church accounts and is going over the next evening to go over them with the vicar. Griselda, nearly twenty years younger than her husband, refuses to take anything, including the parish, seriously. The vicar, returning from parish visits, stops in at the studio on the vicarage grounds, occupied by Lawrence Redding, an artist, for whom Griselda is sitting, and is shocked to discover the artist and Mrs. Protheroe in a passionate embrace. He retreats to his study, followed by Mrs. Protheroe, who tells him of her desperate love for the artist. She begs Lawrence to leave the village.

The next day started out badly for the vicar. At 5:30 he is called to visit a dying parishioner and leaves word for Col. Protheroe, who is expected at 6:15, that he will be back in returning at 7 the vicar meets Lawrence Redding coming out of the house in an excited state and in his study he finds the colonel sprawled across the desk, shot through the head, murdered apparently. Dr. Haydock is sent for and he says Protheroe has been dead an hour and calls the police. A note which the colonel started to write to the vicar was headed 6:20. A clock overturned when the colonel fell forward and stopped at 6:20. It was always kept a quarter of an hour fast.

Lawrence Redding confesses the next morning to the murder of Col. Protheroe. Miss Marple, whose house adjoins the vicarage, calls to discuss the murder.

INSTALLMENT X.

DISSENTING VIEWS.

"But the dear Vicar was not here at the time?" Miss Marple questioned Griselda.

"I explained where I had been.

"Mr. Dennis is not with you this morning?" said Miss Marple shortly enough.

"Dennis," said Griselda, "fancies himself as an amateur detective. He's very excited about a footprint he found in one of the flower beds and Lettice has gone off to tell the police about it."

"Dear, dear," said Miss Marple. "Such a to do, is it not? And Mr. Dennis thinks he knows who committed the crime. Well, I suppose we all think we know."

"You mean it is obvious?" said Griselda.

"No, dear, I didn't mean that at all. I dare say every one thinks it is somebody different. That is why it is so important to have proofs. I, for instance, am quite convinced I know who did it. But I must admit I haven't one shadow of proof. One must, I know, be very careful of what one says at a time like this—criminal libel, don't they call it? I had made up my mind to be most careful with Inspector Slack. He sent word he would come and see me this morning, but now he has just phoned up to say it won't be necessary after all."

"I suppose, since the arrest, it isn't necessary," I said.

"The arrest?" Miss Marple leaned forward, her cheeks pink with excitement. "I didn't know there had been an arrest."

It is so seldom that Miss Marple is less informed than we are that I had taken it for granted that she would know the latest developments.

"He gave himself up, you say?"

"It seems we have been talking at cross purposes," I said. "Yes, there has been an arrest—Lawrence Redding."

"Lawrence Redding?" Miss Marple seemed very surprised. "Now I should not have thought—"

Griselda interrupted vehemently.

"I can't believe it even now. No, not though he has actually confessed."

"Confessed?" said Miss Marple. "You say he has confessed? O! dear, dear! I have been sadly at sea—yes, sadly at sea."

"I can't help feeling it must have been some kind of an accident," said Griselda. "Don't you think so, Len? I mean his coming forward to give himself up looks like that."

Miss Marple leant forward eagerly. "He gave himself up, you say?"

"Yes."

"O!" said Miss Marple, with a deep sigh. "I am so glad—so very glad."

I looked at her in some surprise.

"It shows a true state of remorse, I suppose," I said.

"Remorse?" Miss Marple looked very surprised. "O! but surely dear Mr. Vicar, you don't think that he is guilty?"

It was my turn to stare.

"But since he has confessed—"

"Yes, but that just proves it, doesn't it? I mean that he had nothing to do with it."

"No," I said. "I may be dense, but I can't see that it does. If you have not committed a murder, I cannot see the object of pretending you have."

"O! of course, there's a reason," said Miss Marple. "Naturally. There's always a reason, isn't there? And young men are so hot headed and often cause to believe the worst."

"Tell me," said Miss Marple.

I described my homecoming while she listened attentively.

When I had finished she said:

"I know that I am very often rather foolish and don't take in things as I should, but I really do not see your point."

"It seems to me that if a young man had made up his mind to the great wickedness of taking a fellow creature's life, he would not appear distraught about it afterwards. It would be a premeditated and cold blooded action and though the murderer might be a little flurried and possibly might make some small mistake, I do not think it likely he would fall into a state of agitation such as you describe. It is difficult to put oneself in such a position, but I cannot imagine getting into a state like that myself."

"We don't know the circumstances," I argued. "If there was a quarrel, the shot may have been fired in a sudden gust of passion, and Lawrence might afterwards have been appalled at what he had done. Indeed, I prefer to think that that is what did actually occur."

"I know, dear Mr. Clement, that there are many ways we prefer to look at things. But one must actually take facts as they are, must one not? And it does not seem to me that the facts bear the interpretation you put upon them. Your maid distinctly stated that Mr. Redding was only in the house a couple of minutes, not long enough, surely, for a quarrel such as you describe. And then again, I understand the colonel was shot through the back of the head while he was writing a letter—at least that is what my maid told me."

"Quite true," said Griselda. "He seems to have been writing a note to say he couldn't wait any longer. The note was dated 6:20 and the clock on the table was overturned and had stopped at 6:22, and that's how we know, you know, that that child is half so vague as she pretends to be. She's got a very definite idea in her head and she's acting upon it."

Dawes Spends His Birthday in Cave Study

Receives Bones of Woolly Rhinoceros.

SANTANDER, Spain, Aug. 27.—(AP)—Brig. Gen. Charles G. Dawes, who temporarily has dropped his cares as ambassador to Great Britain to survey the handiwork of the cavemen who roamed this part of Spain thousands of years ago, spent his 65th birthday flat on his back in the historic Altamira caves.

The American statesman was on his back because that was the only way he could take a comfortable look at the paintings on the stone ceiling, done there between 10,000 and 20,000 years ago by men of the paleolithic age.

"What do you wish to see most?" Gen. Dawes was asked as he entered the cave.

Besides thoroughly inspecting the caves, Gen. Dawes visited several museums and between times had interviews with the duke of Alba, Spanish foreign minister, mostly concerning their common hobby of archaeology. The duke said Spain was much pleased with Gen. Dawes' interest in this country's prehistoric treasures.

Dr. George Grant MacCurdy of Yale university, director of the American School for Prehistoric Research and a member of today's party, pointed out that not only was today the ambassador's birthday but that this year marked the 100th anniversary of what scientists considered the beginning of definite knowledge of prehistoric men. It was in 1830 that the Swedish scientist, Thomsen, announced the scientific fact of the existence of a stone age man. Since then much progress has been made in unearthing corroborative evidence. Gen. Dawes and his party left tonight for Madrid.

Two West Point Cadets Picked as Rhodes Scholars

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27.—(AP)—War department special orders today detailed West Point's two Rhodes scholars to Oxford university for a two year tour of duty as students. Second Lieutenants William Whipple Jr. of Baton Rouge, La., and Irvin R. Schimmelphennig of Humphrey, Neb., were ordered to sail for England on the steamship Roosevelt Sept. 10. The assignment carries the privilege of applying for an extension of another year.

'DANCE FOR HEALTH,' LATEST ADVICE OF DANCING TEACHERS

"Many children that were unhealthy improved after dancing awhile," said Miss Freeman. "I know a girl in Omaha who was sickly and weak. Now she is a tennis champion. I haven't been ill a day in the fifteen years I have been teaching."

The old fashioned idea that dancing is a sinful occupation is fast slipping away, Miss Freeman said, with the innovation of the talkies, although in many small towns dancing still is frowned on. She stressed the importance of teaching children dancing while they are small.

"Rhythm, so essential in music, comes in the ears and goes out the toes of these children. In training children for stage work one also trains them for a career in music."

Sends Ship to Take Settlers Off Bleak Isle

GLASGOW, Scotland, Aug. 27.—(AP)—The sloop Hairbell, commissioned to transfer to the mainland the 35 inhabitants of bleak and barren St. Kilda island, to the west coast, will arrive at the island tomorrow. Hundreds of sheep on the island, wild and agile as mountain goats, will have to be left behind. They have taken refuge in the rocky fastnesses.

The Earl of Cassalis, owner of St. Kilda, said he never again would permit settlement of the little island. Eighty years ago St. Kildans numbered more than 100. Today they are 35, consisting of eight ablebodied men, five wives, six widows, two aged men, one old woman, two girls, eight children of school age, and three children of under school age.

St. Kilda is not only without trains and motor cars; it is without trees, without cats, without horses, without rabbits, without rats.

Film Star of Other Days Dies Unknown and Poor

Reporters Hunt Arctic for Ship Bearing Andree

TROMSOE, Norway, Aug. 27.—(AP)—The little vessel Bratvaag, which is hunting seals somewhere in the Arctic ocean, was the object of a search tonight by four other sealers, which have been chartered by news gathering organizations in a dash to obtain the first hand story of the discovery of the bodies of Salomon August Andree and a companion, who perished in a balloon trip over the arctic regions 33 years ago.

The sealer Heimen, carrying an Associated Press representative, left Tromsoe last night, while two other sealing vessels were ready to put to sea with other correspondents tonight. Still another is after the story.

The Bratvaag does not carry a radio transmitter and with the body of Andree and one of his companions aboard since the discovery early this month has been pursuing its job of catching as many seals as possible before heavy winter weather sets in. After long negotiations, however, the owner of the Bratvaag has ordered the vessel to leave the sealing grounds immediately for Tromsoe, and if the Bratvaag has received the message it now is headed for home so that the whole world can hear the story of the ill fated Andree expedition.

Chicago Sees 'Evangeline' on Her Busy Day

Tells Real Story of Poet's Famous Heroine.

For nearly a century and three-quarters the original "Evangeline" of the immortal classic of that name has slept in the old church yard at St. Martinsville, La. But yesterday, to all intents and purposes, she lived and breathed again in Chicago's busy loop, dashing eagerly about with several girl companions, bent on seeing as much as possible of this metropolis before her train left last night for the south.

Henry W. Longfellow himself would have waxed enthusiastic over the impersonation of his most famous heroines by Miss Mildred Dessens of the same St. Martinsville, an actual descendant of "Evangeline's" family. And, though that poet never dreamed of this little Louisiana girl's existence, the lines he penned describe her accurately: "black were her eyes as the berry that grows on the thorn by the wayside; black—yet how softly they gleamed beneath the brown shade of her tresses."

Mildred Dessens' forefathers, including "Evangeline," found their way to Louisiana after the exile of the Acadians by the British from their settlement at Grand Pre, Nova Scotia, in 1755. There they have lived ever since. They have retained the language and many of the French customs of their ancestors. This year, the 175th anniversary of the exile, a party of forty Acadians from towns near St. Martinsville journeyed to Grand Pre for the commemoration of the event. The girls wore the old French costumes of that day. Last night they were starting the last part of the return journey.

"Longfellow exercised poetic license in the poem, you know," Mildred and her friends chattered last night at the station, "but we all love his version best. Evangeline really was Emelina La Biche and Gabriel was Louis Arceneaux. They met in the Quaker city of Philadelphia. Longfellow got their story from one of the Acadian descendants while he was teaching at Harvard and changed it considerably in the writing.

"They did fall in love, and they were separated. But when Emelina had sought Louis for nine years she found him. And, though he still loved her, he hadn't waited for her. He was married and had a family. Because of that he repulsed her love when she tried to win him back. So you see it wasn't at all the ending Longfellow gave—where Evangeline and Gabriel meet at last, just before he died."

Sing Sing Warden's Child Here After Movie Acting

A curly haired, freckle faced little girl, 9 years old, passed through Chicago yesterday on her way from Hollywood to Sing Sing prison. She was Joan Lawes, daughter of Sing Sing's warden, Lewis E. Lawes, and is that prison's latest and only movie heroine. Joan was accompanied by her sisters, Crystal and Kathleen, 20 and 22 years old, and a favorite doll, Patsy. Joan plays the "warden's daughter" in a film on prison life, "Up the River." She declared she liked Hollywood, hopes to grow up to be as pretty as Janet Gaynor, and anticipates playing opposite Charles Farrell some day.

OFFICIAL OF LEGION PRAISES TRIBUNE'S CAMP FOR VETERANS

Commander Edward A. Hayes of the American Legion, Department of Illinois, yesterday placed the stamp of official approval on THE TRIBUNE'S Forty and Eight convalescent camp, in company with William A. Schlupp, superintendent of veterans' relief, Roy A. Cunningham, commander of Edward Hines Jr. Chapter, D. A. V., and others, he inspected the camp, and said:

"The Legion, as a whole, has not had a proper conception of the accomplishments at the camp. After spending several hours there and talking with the patients, I see that here we have results actually obtained, not merely promises of what is going to be done."

Commander Hayes pointed out also that many men from downstate have spent a period of convalescence at the camp and "because of the splendid treatment, have never had to enter a hospital again."

Refuse Danzig Seat in World Labor Assembly

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

THE HAGUE, Aug. 27.—The Free City of Danzig's petition for affirmation of its right to membership in the international labor organization, received a negative vote in the advisory opinion handed down by the world court today in a decision requested by the league of nations.

The question had been referred to the court on Poland's opposition, and was argued on the contention that membership in the league establishes the city's right to become a member of the Labor body.

The court decided by a vote of six to four that, since the foreign affairs of the city had been placed in Poland's hands by the treaty of Versailles, and since Labor negotiations were frequently involved, Danzig had no right to a membership.

700 of G. A. R. March Before U. S. Grant 3d

While 1,000 Others Ride in Automobiles.

Cincinnati, O., Aug. 27.—(AP)—Union veterans of the civil war shook the years from their shoulders today and marched 700 strong in the 65th annual parade of the Grand Army of the Republic.

Their steps were much slower than when they strode down Pennsylvania avenue in Washington before Gen. Grant in 1865. Today the veterans required 90 minutes to traverse the mile long line of march. About 1,000 rode in automobiles.

At the command "eyes right" they looked at the reviewing stand, where stood their commander-in-chief, Edwin J. Foster of Worcester, Mass., and Lieut. Col. Ulysses S. Grant III, of Washington, grandson of the chief of the Union armies.

At their business session late today the veterans decided to meet in Des Moines, Ia., next year. Election of officers will take place tomorrow, and the meeting will then be over except for a visit to Grant's birthplace at Point Pleasant, O., on Friday.

James E. Jewel of Colorado, Harding I. Merrill of Wichita, Kas., and Smith Stimmel of Fargo, N. D., only surviving members of Lincoln's bodyguard of Ohio cavalrymen, are being pushed for the commander's post. Jewel is a native of Montgomery county, O., while Stimmel was picked from Franklin county, O., when the Lincoln bodyguard of 100 horsemen and marksmen was chosen.

Adjt. Gen. Wilfred A. Wetherbee reported today that the membership had declined to 21,080 on last Jan. 1, a decrease of 100,000 in ten years. The number of posts is 2,238, a loss of 311 during 1929. Forty-two hundred members died during 1929.

Commander Foster told the encampment there would be "no reunion of the Blue and the Gray this side of the great divide." For, he said, the confederate veterans had refused to parade without the stars and bars and that the G. A. R. would refuse to parade under that flag.

Discussion of pension legislation occupied most of the reports of Foster and John Reese, chairman of the legislative committee. Foster cited recent legislation increasing pensions of veterans up to $100 a month, but asked help in getting increased pensions for their widows, who now receive $30 a month up to the age of 70 years, and then $40 until they are 85.

Reese said, "We asked congress for bread for these widows, but were given a crumb from a rich man's table, as it were."

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Aug. 27.—The chamber of commerce of Rouen, where Joan of Arc was tried and burned, today opened a war against the myriad pigeons inhabiting the crannies of the city's historic cathedral, one of the most celebrated specimens of Gothic architecture in the whole world. One of its stones is in the Tribune Tower.

The pigeons of Rouen cathedral are almost as famous as those of St. Mark's at Venice, and their fluttering around the gargoyles and lacelike stone work adds a picturesque touch to the church's façade. According to M. Daird, president of the executive committee of the local chamber, the statues of saints which are arranged in niches above the portices are being destroyed by rain because the stone is weakened after pigeons roost there.

The Rouen chamber has appealed to the ministry of fine arts and various associations interested in preserving monuments, without result. Accordingly, M. Daird has issued a call to all civic minded people of Rouen to assemble some evening in the great square in front of the cathedral, just a stone's throw from where Joan was burned, and open fire against the pigeons with shotguns.

Tavern Club Will Be Host to Aviators

BY THALIA

The Tavern's party this evening promises to be the liveliest that has taken place in town for some time. It probably marks the end of the summer's social quiet.

Reservations have been made for 150 and some of the star flyers at the National Air races have been invited. Maj. Reed Landis is in charge of entertaining the aviators, and there is a possibility that the elusive Col. Charles A. Lindbergh may be in attendance.

The new clubrooms on the floor above the Tavern are to be open for the first time, and the women will have their first and last opportunity of seeing the good looking retreat, all done in red leather, that has been arranged for the use henceforth of the masculine members only.

The hors d'oeuvres are to be served in the new quarters which include, besides the aforementioned men's apartments, a private dining room with its walls hung with shiny black, and reception rooms. A buffet supper is to be served downstairs. There will be two orchestras for dancing all evening, and some professional entertainment besides. Among those who are having groups of guests are the Stuart Templetons, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Lewis, William Welsh, Vincent Bendix, and Jerome P. Bowes, who are having a joint party, Charles H. Chadwick, the William C. Boydens, and the John W. Roots.

Announcements were recently received by acquaintances of Samuel D. Rowe, formerly of 46 East Cedar street, and Mrs. Sarah Hickox Lawrence, formerly of Winnetka, of their marriage, which took place quietly in Chicago on Aug. 7. Mr. and Mrs. Rowe departed after their marriage for a honeymoon at Harbor Point, Mich., and are expected to return shortly after Labor day.

Mrs. Tracy C. Drake gave a tea at her Lake Geneva residence yesterday afternoon for her daughters-in-law, Mrs. Francis A. Drake and Mrs. Carlos C. Drake. The Francis Drakes (Virginia Chapin), who have been with Mrs. Drake's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Simeon B. Chapin, in Lake Geneva, since their return from their wedding trip in early July, are to reside in New York. They plan to go east some time after Labor day, and will open their own establishment just as soon as they find a suitable apartment and install their wedding gifts.

Mrs. D. Mark Cummings is giving her annual outing for the disabled veterans at the Great Lakes hospital today. The men will be transported to the gardens of the Cummings' Lake Forest place, Ioka, for the affair which will be featured with entertainment of various kinds, music, and refreshments.

Mrs. Cummings' daughter, Miss Edith Cummings, is on a six weeks' cruising trip to Alaska with Mr. and Mrs. James Gowen and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Evans of Philadelphia, and so will not be on hand to assist at the party.

At several of the fashionable eastern resorts there are little theater groups who give series of plays during the summer season. The society folk in the colonies sponsor their performances, and opening nights are always gala social events. They are also wont to entertain for the players. At Southampton there is a company called the Hampton players, there is another in the Berkshires, and the Surrey players make their headquarters at Bar Harbor. The Bar Harbor club gave a ball last night for the benefit of the Surrey playhouse building fund, and at midnight the players gave some numbers from the current revue, "Life Is So Short." Mr. and Mrs. George Alexander McKinlock and Miss Muriel McCormick are to give a large luncheon for the players tomorrow at the Little Prance cottage at Schooner head, where they are spending the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Jevne Haugan are to give a dinner at the farm they acquired recently six miles west of Barrington. Mr. Haugan plans to build the Ko-Ke-Ma polo field this fall, and also some practice jumps for the training of horses.

Mrs. William C. Niblack of 221 East Walton place will remain at her summer estate at Onteora Park, in the Catskills near Tannersville, N. Y., until late September. Onteora Park is a lovely and little known resort high above the Hudson. It broke into print recently when eastern periodicals published stories and pictures of an elaborate "Pageant of Beauty" given there by Mrs. Ben Ali Hagin.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27.—[Special.]—President and Mrs. Hoover have as guests at the White House Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Robinson of California, and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph R. Nutt of Cleveland, who arrived this morning for a short stay.

Secretary and Mrs. Henry L. Stimson gave a reception this afternoon for the visiting foreign lawyers. Rain upset the plans for a garden fête and at the last moment the house was made ready for an indoor party which overflowed to the porches of lovely old Woodley, the Washington home of the Stimsons. The hosts were assisted by the heads of divisions of the state department and their wives.

Mrs. Dunn, wife of Lieut. Commander Arthur Wallace Dunn, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wallace Dunn of Chicago, is visiting her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Mallan. Mr. Mallan is a great-nephew of the late James G. Blaine.

Sir John and Lady Simon of England, who came here from Chicago with the visiting foreign lawyers, will go tomorrow to Southampton, L. I., to be guests of Dr. and Mrs. Nicholas Murray Butler in their summer home.

Her Engagement Announced

MISS LORETTA KATHRYN HEALY.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Milton Healy of 3300 Sheridan road announce the approaching marriage of their daughter, Loretta Kathryn, to Harold Knox, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Gnox of Crystal Lake, Ill. Miss Healy is a graduate of the Sacred Heart convent of Lake Forest and Columbia School of Expression. Mr. Knox attended Notre Dame university. The wedding will be solemnized on Sept. 20 at Our Lady of Mount Carmel church. The ceremony will be followed by a breakfast at the Drake hotel.

Wife Objects When Husband Wants a Country Vacation

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Suppose you had a husband, 33, and you were about the same age. Your husband loved the water, boats and the country and he could well afford to buy a place on the lake. Would you raise a storm of objections? Or, would say say: "Well, if that's what he wants, he can have it, whether I am crazy about the country or not. At least, it will keep him out of mischief, and he'll be leading a healthier life than if he has to stay in town all the time."

If you were a wise wife, the latter would be your decision. But if an unwise one, you'd act like Bruno's wife and demand the six per cent interest on the $15,000 planned for the country place expenditure. And you'd do without the country yourself, and insist upon your mate going without the recreation he would choose more than any other pleasure in the world.

It's a pretty raw deal a woman hands a man who will be no party to his plans or pleasures. With one more step the rawness of the thing sent into the other person's life comes home to roost, as Mrs. Bruno who saw her husband pack his belongings preparatory to a permanent leave of absence. A small boy of 6 saved the situation for the woman, but the report from Bruno himself is that the small one's intervention did not revive the old feeling the man had for his wife. Nor does he see any possibility of a return of the old love he once bore the woman.

"I worked hard in my days to get where I am," Bruno tells, "and at 33 I am earning $10,000 a year. The country place could be bought for $15,000 without any strain upon us and without any deprivation to Mrs. B., with whom I've always been square about her share of my earnings."

The motive for the country place purchase is read by Mrs. B. as a refuge for her man where he can get away from her and perhaps entertain other women, although to date Bruno insists he never looked at another woman. As the man is in a business of his own and feels his vacations must be brief, a day now and then, a week-end, the country spot seems the logical solution for a needed getaway from business cares.

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, Aug. 27.—[Special.]—Mr. and Mrs. G. Grant Mason Jr. of Havana arrived yesterday at the Barclay, where they are guests of his sister, Mrs. S. Sloan Colt.

Mr. and Mrs. Dudley H. Peabody will introduce to society their daughter, Miss Helen Peabody, at a dinner dance in the ballroom at Sherry's on Nov. 15.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Raymond St. John and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Mackay Froment will present their daughters Miss Mary Caroline St. John and Miss Jeanne Froment, at a dinner dance in the main restaurant at Sherry's on Dec. 23.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur M. Lewis will go tomorrow to Newport to attend the Newport dog show. They will go later to Worcester, Mass., for several days before returning to this city.

Food Talk.

Recently I obtained from a friend who is famous for her waffles an old, old recipe that had been in her family two or three generations. I was proud to come in possession of that formula. And I could hardly wait for an opportunity to try it to see if I could duplicate the results of my friend. The chance came one day when a young university trained woman was present to help me.

As we baked, we tasted and commented. I approved heartily of the product. But my assistant in this task said, "These waffles lack one thing in being perfect—just a little sugar, not more than a tablespoon for this amount of batter would make them perfect. Otherwise, I am highly pleased."

Evidently, she had learned to eat and enjoy waffles that were a little sweet. I had not, and that one little item of sugar caused our opinions to differ. And it is this little bit of sugar that is responsible for a large part of our population rebelling against the commercially made product.

As I see it, there is no reason for to bring a little sugar into waffle batter. Now, I have no sugarphobia, but I do think sugar has its limitations in food preparation and one place where it doesn't belong is in waffles.

Here is that old recipe that was given me. Try it and see if you like waffles without sugar.

2 cups family flour 1½ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons baking powder 1¾ cups buttermilk
1 egg
½ teaspoon soda 4 tablespoons lard

Sift flour before measuring, resift with baking powder, soda and salt. Add the milk which has been combined with the well beaten egg and the cooled, melted lard. Beat hard until you have a smooth conglomeration.

Have iron heated hot. The iron needs to be heated about five minutes. Unless it is used regularly it will need to be brushed lightly with unsalted fat before you begin baking. (No more fat will be needed for the one batch.) An electric iron bakes waffles a golden brown in from two and one-half to three minutes. Between the baking of each waffle it will be necessary to heat the iron for about one minute.

The baking is next in importance to the proper proportion of ingredients. If your waffle iron is in good condition you will find it fun to make waffles.

Massage and Cold Water Preserve Youthful Contours

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

It is upon the firmness of the tissue and muscle under the skin that older women must rely for a prolonged youthfulness of face. Also, the condition of the oil glands upon which the skin's lubrication depends is equally important. But the latter is better provided for than the tissue and muscle firmness in the ordinary course of a day's cold creaming the face.

In the normal, healthy, and youthful skin there is abundant provision for the formation of fat beneath it. This natural padding is what contributes the lovely cheek contour of youth. This fat is extracted from adult cheeks for various reasons—illness, advancing years, or too stringent reducing measures.

With the cushion of fat absorbed for any reason, the skin surface becomes bristle, cracks, loses its resistant quality. Almost every woman who has experienced a quick and heavy loss of fat understands exactly what happens to her face. It falls because there is no fat beneath to hold the structure up.

There must be a good pad of fat there or the youthful contour and firmness are gone. So bear this in mind when you are reducing and do not eliminate all fat making properties from the diet. Take a little longer for the accomplishment of the reformed silhouette. The slower form of reducing will take care of the face fat absorption all right.

The muscles of the face depend for their tone and firmness on massage after a certain period of years have been lived. Not spasmodic attacks, massaging today and neglecting to do it tomorrow. It must be a daily habit to be at all effective. And then we have to refer you again to the cold water gift to faces. The muscles under the skin are so affected by cold water that they contract sharply under its influence and the skin is smoother, firmer, and of more velvety substance for its daily or semi-daily use. The skin itself is made more resistant against the ravages of years that cannot be entirely escaped.

Other astringents may be added, but give the cold water tonic a trial, and if the fat is missing from beneath the skin pad the cheeks out again with fat making foods, for it is better to have a young face and a heavy figure than a girlish silhouette and an old face.

FARM AND GARDEN

BY PAUL POTTER

Hay fever is a joke to some people, but the name of a serious malady to others, according to the reddened eyes and noses of tourists, and especially those who have been traveling through haying country where timothy, Kentucky blue, or June grass, red top, blue joint, and blue stem grasses are maturing.

According to A. L. Stone, who is state weed inspector for Wisconsin, the efforts of tourists to escape the ravages of hay fever is costing that state thousands of dollars annually. He has found one solution for persons who ask if there is any way to escape the irritations caused by the pollen grains of the grass. The blooming time for grasses and thistles comes earlier in southern portions of the state than in the northern counties, which enables sufferers to dodge the worst of the hay fever by traveling.

Elimination of the plants causing the malady is not possible, Mr. Stone reports, for it would mean cutting the hay crops so early that eventually there would be no seed and thenceforth little of the present standard hay crops. Ragweeds, goldenrod, and sun flowers can be curbed with no disastrous effects on agriculture, Mr. Stone says, and he points to these plants for reducing some of the hay fever attacks.

Hostess Gown Is Pale Blue Satin

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—Blue continues to be a prime favorite with Paris élégantes; it is perhaps the only color that has managed to keep up with black and white in popularity this summer. The autumn may banish its paler tones, but they are still much worn for evening and they look cool and beautiful, particularly when worn in "castles by the sea."

Satin in summer must be worn with much discretion. If you're going to spend your vacation in a hotel and you expect to go out or stay in dancing or rollicking every evening, you had best choose your cerulean frock in chiffon, mousseline, organdy or flat crêpé, and, likewise, you will keep its hem short of your ankles. But if you summer in your Normandy château or your Biarritz villa, you will look lovely in a long blue satin gown that trails ever so slightly in the back. It will give you, somehow, the more at home air of the perfect hostess.

Lucien Lelong made the pale blue satin robe sketched above for the Comtesse de Brantes, one of the most elegant women in Paris. The bodice is extremely simple with a moderate round décolleté in the front which encroaches on the back and ties in a bow at the natural waistline. Four godet panels that mount in points on the upper skirt give sweeping fullness to the back. The extra ones incrusted at the top, and hanging free as they near the floor, form the slight train. Two free petal panels lend interest to the front of the skirt.

Lelong likes, for evening, jewels of a deeper tone in the same color as the frock. A necklace of cabochon sapphires and two bracelets of sapphires set in diamonds are a beautiful finishing touch to this graceful gown and the satin slippers match the sapphires in hue.

Painless Dental Work Is Possible for Children

by Mrs. Gladys Huntington Bevans

A play booklet and a toy list will be sent by Mrs. Bevans on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Painless Dentistry. Do you remember the big signs that used to glare from certain types of "dental parlors"? And how the reputable dentist used to say sneeringly, "If it's painless it isn't thorough."

We know now that much dentistry can be painless. Several things make it possible! The skill of the dentist, the humaneness of the dentist, and the sharpness of his instruments—the last factor being a large one, a prominent dentist told me, the other day.

But if you want painless dentistry for your children there is a still more important way of achieving it, which does not rest with the dentist, but with you. And that is to take your children to the dentist before there are any signs that they need to go. Then if any work has to be done it will be so slight that it will not hurt.

It is considered a necessary precaution, now, to take your child on a semi-annual visit to the dentist—and incidentally, to choose a dentist who has a quiet, friendly way with children. If you begin taking your small son or daughter before any work has to be done, the dentist and his chair will have no unpleasant associations. Then, when filling or straightening has to be done, you save the child and yourself and the dentist a great deal of trouble. You avoid, for instance, a difficulty like the following:

"Dear Mrs. Bevans: I have a little girl, 7 years old, a nervous child. She has a second molar that needs filling. I have taken her to several dentists, but none of them can handle her. She is brave enough to sit down in the dentist's chair, but as soon as she sees the instruments she begins to tremble. Can you give me any advice?"

My suggestion in this case would be to find a patient dentist who is used to children. Go with the little girl and allow her to stand by and watch while you have your teeth cleaned, but tell her she'll have nothing done that day. The next day go and have her teeth cleaned—then she will have the experience of sitting in the chair without pain. Then the next day go again and ask the dentist to work only a few minutes on the cavity.

After that I think she can be helped to be brave enough to allow the finishing. But be careful about telling her it will not hurt—she must not lose faith in you.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

What was the most embarrassing moment of your life? If you care to have it published, address Embarrassing Moments, Chicago Tribune. Please write on one side of the paper. No manuscripts returned.

Pinching Bug.

One day last summer we were enjoying a family picnic in a forest preserve where there were other tables nearby with occupants similarly engaged. My uncle had been amusing himself by pinching me so I determined to get even. I was sitting at the end of the table and out of the corner of my eye I noted a familiar pair of trousers passing temptingly near. Slyly I reached out and pinched the trouser leg with a vengeance. I was expecting some sort of vocal remonstrance but certainly not the ferocious bellow that ensued. Instantly every other sound ceased and I with a delighted grin glanced up only to have that grin freeze to somewhat sickly proportions as I gazed into the face of an entire stranger!

Home, James.

We had lived in the country about six months and were making a return call on one of our neighbors. Just as we arrived their little boy completed his practice hour. Our call turned into a visit. We were enjoying ourselves and stayed and stayed. At the end of the afternoon we asked the boy to play a piece for us. He did, and it was "Home, Sweet Home." We took the hint.

BUSINESS WORLD HONORS WETMORE AT RITES TODAY

Services Will Be Held at Wheaton Home.

Funeral services for Frank O. Wetmore, co-chairman of the First National bank, who died suddenly Tuesday evening, will be held this morning at 11 o'clock at the Wetmore home the "Seven Gables," in Wheaton. The city's business and civic leaders will join with financial leaders throughout the country in paying tribute to Mr. Wetmore's memory.

All leading organizations of the city will be represented at the services. The services will be conducted by the Rev. George H. Thomas, pastor of St. Paul's Episcopal church and a lifelong friend of the family. They are to be followed by a private burial in the Gary cemetery at Wheaton.

Pallbearers Are Selected.

Active pallbearers will be neighbors of Mr. Wetmore in Wheaton and his golf companions at the Chicago Golf club. These are John J. Abbott, Irving Allen, Leonard A. Busby, Edward N. Hurley, C. K. Knickerbocker, and John P. Oleson. All represent organizations with which Mr. Wetmore was associated.

Hundreds of messages of condolence were received at the Wetmore home yesterday and in his office at the bank from prominent men throughout the country as well as leaders in Chicago. Among these was one from Judge John Barton Payne, chairman of the central committee of the American Red Cross, with which Mr. Wetmore was associated for 14 years. Flags of the Red Cross were ordered placed at half staff.

List of Honorary Pallbearers.

The honorary pallbearers, who are officers of the bank, associates of Mr. Wetmore, and friends, are:

The Wetmore home may be reached from the loop by automobile by going west on Washington boulevard to Route No. 5, on this route to Elmhurst, then west on Route No. 64 to Wheaton road and south to Wheaton. From the north side North avenue can be followed west to Elmhurst and thence to Wheaton over Route No. 64 and the Wheaton road.

Chicagoans in all walks of life visited the First National bank to express sympathy. A picture of Mr. Wetmore, surrounded by palms, was placed on the banking floor of the institution which he had served for 44 years. Melvin A. Traylor, president of the bank, who has been out of the city as a member of the Hoover drought commission, sent word that he will return for the services today.

Death Is Unexpected.

Mr. Wetmore's death on Tuesday came as a shock to his friends. Although he had been troubled with a heart ailment for several years, it had not been considered serious. He arose in the morning with the complaint he was not feeling well. A physician advised him to return to bed. In the afternoon he lapsed into unconsciousness and died.

Mr. Wetmore was born in Kalamazoo, Mich., Nov. 12, 1867. He came to Chicago in 1886 and began work in the bank as a messenger and continued through various stages of his career until at the death of James B Forgan in 1924 he became chairman of the bank. His career was contemporary with those of a number of the city's most prominent financiers.

YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Goats and Bottles

Deaths of a Day

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—W. B. Lewis, assistant director of the national parks, died at his home in Chevy Chase. Mr. Lewis was for 11 years superintendent of Yosemite National Park in California. Prior to that he was a member of the U. S. Geological survey and did work both in Alaska and South America.

ST. PAUL, Minn.—(AP)—Dr. Samuel F. Kerfoot, president emeritus of Hamline university and of Dakota Wesleyan at Mitchell, S. D., died. He was 65 years old.

WICHITA, Kan.—(AP)—Frank D. Stevens, active for many years in the milling industry in the middle west, died.

PASADENA, Cal.—(AP)—Frank S. Allen, 70, widely known architect and Egyptologist, died after a brief illness.

Started as Teamster; Family Gets Estate.

Clarion, Pa., Aug. 27.—(AP)—The will of a former teamster was revealed today as leaving a fortune of between $75,000,000 and $100,000,000 to five members of his family.

The will was that of Thomas B. Slick, whose independent operations in Illinois and the southwest led to his being known as the wealthiest independenet oil operator in the world. Those the paper named were his widow and three children, and his mother. Slick died in a Baltimore hospital Aug. 16.

Mother Left Annuity of $5,000.

No mention of the size of the estate was made in the document filed for probate here today. Estimates, however, were made by attorneys and relatives of the dead man.

To his mother, Mrs. Mary Slick of Clarion, the oil man left an annuity of $5,000. To the widow, Mrs. Berenice Slick, he left a third of the remainder of the estate and their home in Oklahoma City.

Provides for Children.

The three children are Thomas B. Jr., Beatty and Earl. Under the will the daughter will receive $5,000 a year from her 18th to her 30th birthdays, while the sons will receive $10,000 yearly between the ages of 21 and 30. At the age of 30 each child will receive a third of the share of the estate due, another third at the age of 45, and the final portion at the age of 55.

CLEWS MEAGER TO SLAYERS OF CALIFORNIA PAIR

San Diego, Cal., Aug. 27.—(AP)—Other clews failing to throw any light on the mysterious slayings of Francis Conlon, Monrovia, Cal., and Lois Marion Kentle, University of California co-ed, Mexican and United States officials sought an unidentified man, reported seen with the couple before they were found stabbed to death.

The bodies of the victims, who were to have been married next month, were found yesterday on the beach near Ensenada, Lower California. Identity of the pair was established through a book found near the bodies. The book's title is "The End of Her Honeymoon."

Miss Kentle was prominent in the younger social set at the southern branch of the University of California.

NURSE, BROODING OVER OLD INJURY, TAKES OWN LIFE

Brooding over an injury, which had troubled her for two years, Miss Elizabeth Graham, 30 years old, a nurse on the staff of Henrotin hospital, swallowed poison last night in her apartment, 1117 North Dearborn street, and died in the presence of two physicians.

About 9 p. m. Miss Graham in a faint voice telephoned the lobby clerk to summon a doctor. Within a few minutes Dr. John T. Hart, 1200 North State street, arrived, and was followed by Dr. H. G. Reid, 1032 North Dearborn street, an acquaintance of the nurse's. They could do nothing to neutralize the poison.

Miss Veronica Miller, superintendent of the Henrotin hospital nurses, said Miss Graham had finished a postgraduate course there in 1921 and continued on the staff ever since. About two years ago, the superintendent said, Miss Graham suffered a skull fracture when an electric iron fell upon her from a shelf.

Hunt Motive as Bomb Wrecks Front of Cafe

Police last night were investigating the motive for the hurling of a black powder bomb at the O. G. Grill and Sandwich mart, 359 North Wells street, a lunchroom operated by James Coopman. The bomb demolished the front of the place, hurling glass to the middle of the street. Coopman and his wife, Grace, who live on the third floor of the building, had closed their restaurant when the bomb was thrown at 8:30 p. m., and had gone to a movie. Coopman told police he had no enemies and could offer no clue to the bombers.

ESTATE IS LEFT TO FAMILY BY BANKER MACLEOD

The will of Murray MacLeod, president of three northwest side banks, who died Aug. 9 as a result of injuries received in an automobile accident, was filed for probate yesterday with Probate Court Clerk Mitchell C. Robin. The will leaves the entire estate, mostly bank stocks, to his widow, Mrs. Vera Devore MacLeod of 235 Warwick road, Kenilworth, and two children, Murray Jr., and Anne Belle. Attorneys who filed the document declined to estimate the value of the estate. The will was drawn on March 30 at Avalon, Cal., and was witnessed by Charley Root and Charles "Gabby" Hartnett of the Cubs, who were in training at Catalina.

Sally Taking 100 to Marx Bros. Talkie at McVicker's Today

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

One hundred boys and girls will accompany me to McVicker's theater this afternoon to see and hear the four Marx brothers in their talkie comedy, "Animal Crackers." Today also marks the last party of a successful and happy summer, but we're not going to let this bit of grief mar the good time we expect to have. Indeed, Harpo, Groucho, Chico, and Zeppo will make sure that we spend most of the afternoon in paroxyms of laughter, for that's the state you usually find yourself in when watching this funny quartet.

The young people who are fortunate enough to have been included in this lovely party should have received their invitations by this time. They contain information and details for meeting, so that you'll have no difficulty in finding us. If you are not able to attend, please let me know by telephone. I hope, though, that nothing deters you, because I know it's a great picture and we'll have a glorious time.

So get ready, boys and girls, for this farewell frolic and—I'll be seeing you!

ADD HUNDREDS OF DOLLARS

To Your Bank Balance

BY BUYING A USED CAR FROM STUDEBAKER

No matter what you figured on paying for a used car, take one-fourth of that amount, put it in the bank, and then visit Studebaker. You will find our prices are so much lower than competitors' that you can actually make a substantial saving, no matter what you buy from us.

STUDEBAKER 8 ROADSTER. This low slung car is in exceptional fine condition. Rumble seat 4 whl. brakes, shock absorbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. $345.

PAIGE SEDAN. It's a remarkable buy at our special low price. The finish, upholstery and tires are in dandy condition. 4 whl. brakes, snubbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. $245.

PIERCE-ARROW ROADSTER. This car was just renewed in our shops and now it's a beauty. The finish is a sparkling two tone tan and brown. Spacious rumble seat, equipped with 4 whl. brakes, shock absorbers, driving light, two spare tires, bumpers, etc. $485.

PEERLESS SEDAN. A demonstration and will convince you it's in excellent condition throughout. 4 whl. brakes, driving light, snubbers, spare tire, etc. $285.

STUDEBAKER VICTORIA. Spec. 6. From the standpoint of performance and appearance this car will satisfy you in every respect. The tires, finish and upholstery are in splendid condition. $95.

DIANA 4 SEDAN. Here is a distinguished looking car that still has years of satisfactory performance in it. Painted an attractive two tone green. Many extras. $395.

CHRYSLER CABRIOLET. Late conv. model with a spacious rumble seat, and a wealth of extras. Has an attractive paint job and the upholstery appears unworn. New tires. $485.

STUDEBAKER COMMANDER SEDAN. Late model that's absolutely 100% throughout. Equipped with shock absorbers, driving light, bumpers, spare tire, etc. This is a splendid car and will last long at our special price of $395.

OAKLAND COACH. A school teacher owned this car and she gave it very good attention. We checked over the motor, adjusted the car with new tires, and motor is naturally low for quick sale. 4 whl. brakes and many extras. $250.

PACKARD SEDAN. Here is an expensive car at an inexpensive price. Was chauffeur driven and is in splendid condition throughout. Has a wealth of extra equipment. $195.

NASH COUPE. Std. 6 that is finished in maroon. The owner of this car only used it in the golf course and is very fond of it. Consequently it's in splendid condition today. 4 whl. brakes and many extras. $145.

HUDSON BROUGHAM. This is the last word for quick performance and attractive appearance. Has every essential extra. $165.

DODGE SEDAN. This car must be seen to be appreciated. The motor runs smoothly, the body, upholstery, tires and finish are okay. $175.

STUDEBAKER BROUGHAM. 1930 Commander 8 that was only driven a few thousand miles. It's finished a smart canary yellow with black trimming. It's in such good condition that it carries a new car guarantee. Has wire wheels, fender wells, and every essential extra. Offered at a very low price.

BUICK SEDAN. 1929 Mast. 6 that is an exceptional bargain if there ever was one. Only driven a few thousand miles and your neighbors could not tell it from a brand new Buick car. Has sidemounts, and natural wood wheels. $845.

AUBURN 8 SEDAN. 1929 that was owned by a wealthy family in conjunction with three other cars. This Auburn was driven very little so it's in new car condition today. $795.
